The Fortress Monroe correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, under date of the 12th, states that for 48 hours transports had been bringing McClellan's troops down the James river, and taking them up another Virginia river. On the 11th the great body of the army had orders to leave Harrison's Landing with six days' rations. The same correspondent says the pontoon bridges sent up the river, accompanied by a very large force of engineers, sappers and miners, are designed for the Chickahominy.

The Times' Washington correspondent says the important army movements foreshadowed for the past week or two, are being carried out. Gen. Halleck's plans are being elaborated admirably, and thus far have met with entire success.

A portion of Morgan's guerrilla band was surprised at Gallatin, Tenn., on Tuesday, by our troops and six of them killed, including three officers, among whom was a son of Dr. Robert J. Breckinridge.

COL. CORCORAN.—A young officer of the Signal Corps, who was confined in the same cell with Col. Corcoran, but has been released, explains the reason why the rebels so persistently refuse to release Col. C. He had conversed with the Colonel, and he speaks not only of his own convictions, but the opinion of Corcoran as expressed in his own words. The rebels refuse to exchange him, said the officer, because they feared the story he could tell of the outrages inflicted upon him, and the sufferings he had endured in consequence of his loyalty, would bring every Irishman in the Union States down to Richmond, to avenge the barbarous treatment he has so long received, and is now enduring at the hands of such a horde of villains.

We do not believe that any citizen, native or adopted, needs this motive to urge him to the performance of any duty he owes his country. Still, here is a fact which stands out in bold relief and ought never to be forgotten, and like thousands of others of a similar character, goes to show how cruel and wicked is the system of Southern warfare.

☞ Hon. Stephen S. Harding, the new Governor of Utah, arrived in Salt Lake City on the 7th day of July, relieving Hon. Frank Fuller of the responsibilities and duties of the Executive department of the Territory, which he had discharged with entire success for a period of ten months.—The last official act of Gov. Fuller was the appointment of Albert R. Hatch, Esq., of this city, to the office of Commissioner of New Hampshire for the Territory of Utah.

☞ In making up the quota of a town or city, credit is to be given,—for all residents of the town who may have been or are now in the service, except those who served in the 1st Regt.; all residents in the navy; all persons enlisting in the town, who do not belong to any other town in this State; all persons belonging to the town, who have or may enlist, wherever they may enlist.

☞ The total number of rebel prisoners in our hands at the present time is stated 20,500, an aggregate which vastly exceeds the number of our men held by the Southern authorities.

If a Hindoo were to hug a Methodist girl, would he thereby embrace Christianity?

It is beauty's privilege to kill time, and time's privilege to kill beauty.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Manchester Common Council have authorized the Mayor not to pay bounties to volunteers who have been in the service and resigned on account of sickness, or have deserted.

—— Capt. Allen leaves on Thursday for Port Royal, in charge of about one hundred recruits for the Third Regiment.

—— The American says it is proposed to erect a State hospital for the benefit of the lame, ruptured, weak-backed, sparined, strained, bilious, deaf, blind, toeless, and unfingered scallawags, who have besieged surgeons for certificates in various localities during the past ten days.

—— The N. H. Cavalry were engaged in the fight at Culpepper on Saturday, under Col. Duffee.

—— Messrs. C. H. Bell and J. C. Hillard are getting quite a number of recruits in Exeter for the gallant Second Regiment.

—— North Hampton and New Market offer $200 bounty. Deerfield pays $300, and the recruiting officers there are having great success. Sanbornton and Hampstead also pay $300. The Ballot states that at a town meeting in Stratham on Tuesday afternoon, it was voted to pay a bounty of $500 for volunteers for three years, and $400 for nine months men!

—— The Ballot states that on Tuesday of last week the family of Mr. Samuel Colcord of Kingston, consisting of a wife, two daughters and a son, were all in good health and went out berrying. On Wednesday one of the daughters, on Thursday the mother, and on Friday the other daughter were taken sick with diptheria. On Saturday, Sunday and Monday the three were buried, and the boy is now sick.

—— Mr. Henry T. Nichols, of Manchester, who has suffered most intensely for years from rheumatism, on Wednesday last was thrown from his wagon by the breaking of the transion bolt. The shock gave his debilitated and diseased limbs the most intense pain, which could only be relieved by large doses of ether.

☞ Our Epping Correspondent writes us that Horace Bacon, Esq., of Epping, the only lawyer in that town, formerly partner with Hon. John S. Wells, and also once Colonel N. H. M., has, with Mr. Geo. N. Sheppard, the Representative to the Legislature from Epping, recruited a full company of 101 men there, about twenty coming from South Newmarket, and others from various towns around. Mr. Bacon will probably command the company; with Mr. Sheppard for Lieutenant, and Mr. Gilman B. Johnson, a young and prosperous trader of Epping, who has just relinquished business, for 2d Lieutenant. Our correspondent closes:

"Let the prominent men of other towns lead off, and there will be no lack of men. Let the word be, 'come!'"

A FIGHT BETWEEN OLD FOLKS.—The other day, a couple of old gentlemen, one aged 72 and the other 87, hitherto mutual friends, residing at Garbettsville, in the town of Wheatland, got into a dispute about the process of drafting, and words were followed by blows. Mr. Seventy-two broke a pitcher over the head of Mr. Eighty-two, but did not kill him by any means. Eighty-two had life enough left to go to Scottsville and get a warrant for his junior. Subsequently the trial took place, and resulted in the conviction of Seventy-two, who was required to pay a fine of $20. This was a bad example to set before the boys.

AT THE OTTAWA.—By courteous invitation of the Messrs. Jenness, the gentlemanly and attentive landlords of the "Ottawa House," Cushing's Island, Portland harbor, the editorial staff of the Portland press, made a visit to that delightful locality, Monday afternoon. The weather was all that could be desired. The Ottawa is a fine hotel of brick, three stories high, surmounted by a large cupola, and finished in the most approved, modern style. The Advertiser says, already it is thronged with the elite of the city.

☞ A letter from Algesiras, Spain, to the New York Tribune, dated July 18th, states that on the Sunday previous, while the crew of the Kearsarge were taking their customary bath, a huge ground-shark appeared among them, and attacking one named Edward H. Tibbetts, caught him immediately under the armpit on one side and dragged him to the bottom. It is the only instance of the kind known in that vicinity.

☞ Governor Andrew, in his proclamation, strongly recommends towns not to offer any bounty for nine months' men.—Those who volunteer for nine months will receive the State aid for their families. If any should be drafted to fill up the quota, they will not receive it.

Well, we don't agree with Gov. Andrew. We say, give the nine months' men some bounty, but of course not more than half so much as the three years' men.

☞ The will of the late Hon. David C. Broderick, by which the testator left the whole of his landed estate to Geo. Wilkes, has been finally and absolutely confirmed by the Supreme Court of California.

THE GOLDEN GATE.—Manzanilla, off which it appears the steamer was when the fire broke out, is in the bay of Limion, Isthmus of Panama. The steamers from San Francisco call there to ship treasure brought from the mines of Colomia, in Mexico. It is about three hundred miles south of Acapulco, and about fifteen hundred south of San Francisco.

☞ The Trustees of Andover Theological Seminary have elected Prof. J. H. Seelye, now of Amherst College, to fill the Brown Professorship of Sacred Literature at Andover Seminary, which was recently filled by Prof. Shedd.

NAVAL.—The U. S. frigate Santee, which has been on the blockading service off Galveston for more than a year, is coming North, supposed to Boston, with all hands on board sick with scurvy. The crew have not been on shore since the Santee has been in this service.

THE COMET is now plainly visible at 8 1-2 o'clock P. M. (and afterwards) to the naked eye as a star of the third magnitude, situated about 7 degrees below and to the N. N. W. of the pole star. Its coma or tail is evidently increasing in length and brightness.

☞ Schroeder's print works in East Greenwich, R. I., consisting of machinery and nearly 20 buildings, valued at $60,000, and containing 30,000 pieces of print cloths valued at $100,000, were destroyed by fire Wednesday morning. The goods were insured.

☞ A old army officer thinks that a soldier who has been discharged for sickness or wounds, should receive his pay to the end of his term of enlistment, at least.—And so do we—else, instead of a premium for bravery or exposure, there is really an additional penalty or warning against it.

☞ A gentleman recently from Mobile states that there is not a single carpet to be found in any house in that city, every one having been given up last winter to be used as blankets by the rebel army.

☞ A Key West paper of the 2d inst. denies any yellow fever there, but Col. Morgan has taken sanitary measures looking to a prevention of the spreading of any infectious disease.

☞ Among the other virtues of a Mr. Taft of Mendon, who recently died at the age of 72, it is said that he "never told a lie, never was in a city, never rode in a railroad car, and never cheated a man out of a cent."

Lord Uptosnuff sold Brown a horse. B. meeting the peer some after said: "Why your lordship told me that your horse had no fault, and he is blind of an eye." "All right," says my lord, "blindness is no fault; it is only a misfortune."

LIEUT. WORDEN.—Mr. Henry Hoyt, of Boston, the Treasurer of the fund for Lieut. Worden, states that less than $2000 have been received towards the $5000 which it was proposed to raise. A very small contribution from each one who admires his gallant conduct would give him the sum required.

THE ASSESSORS of Newburyport have commenced the enrollment of all able-bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45, preparatory to the draft. Gov. Andrew has ordered blacks as well as whites to be enrolled, notwithstanding the national and State laws require military men to be white male citizens. We shall see, when they are mustered into the service, whether Gov. Andrew's order or the laws are to prevail; and whether Gov. Andrew, who says the slaves shall be soldiers, will prevail against President Lincoln, who says they shall not be.—Newburyport Herald.

☞ In the 2d page of a newspaper lying open before us, we see the statement that negroes could not be induced to work by Gen. McClellan—and in the 3d page of the same paper, a complaint that "a car load of contrabands passed through Lincoln, Illinois, on Monday last, who were willing to work for ten cents per day and board."

☞ Aaron Beebe, of the Tenth Conn. Volunteers, advertises in the New London Chronicle that—

"Whereas, Mr. Andrew Peabody has taken my wife, Calista M. Beebe, since I came for a soldier, I respectfully request him or some one else to take care of her, as I forbid any one trusting or harboring her on my account after this date."

☞ Government stocks are going up, and the price of gold is going down. Money was never more abundant than now, both in Europe and the United States.

Some of the Boston papers publish a statement that a vessel sailed from Newburyport with forty passengers, skedaddling the draft. Their informant has drawn upon his imagination. The vessel in question had but four passengers, and they went for health, two of them being scarcely able to walk. Nobody here flies, and nobody thinks a draft will be necessary.—Herald.

By order of the Mayor and Aldermen.

CALL ALL HANDS!—Let everybody be at the War Meeting at Jefferson Hall, to-night—and do or say something for the cause.

☞ We learn that the request of the Mayor and Aldermen meets the approval of the business men of this city, who will close their stores this evening at 6 o'clock, also each evening when War meetings are to be held, in order to allow employees and clerks to aid in the promotion of enlistments. Arrangements are now being made for meetings on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week, and other measures are in progress to help along the enthusiasm of the people in their efforts to raise the quotas from this city.

A MERCHANT.

FOURTH OF JULY.—A meeting of the Committee of Arrangements for the late celebration of the 4th of July, 1862, was held on Wednesday evening. J. H. Head was chosen Chairman, and Alfred Stavers Secretary. The Committee on Finance reported that by the liberality of the citizens, and the appropriation of the city, sufficient funds had been raised to pay all approved bills.

A vote of thanks was passed to all persons who had contributed money towards the celebration. To Rev. A. J. Patterson; Rev. I. F. Waterhouse; Hon. Marcellus Bufford; Albert Laighton, Esq., and Mr. E. A. Tilton, for the part they took in the exercises of the day. To the U. S. Marines, Lieut. C. A. Stillman; U. S. Artillery, Captain James Davidson; U. S. Artillery, Lt. Sylvester Boothby; Goodwin Guards, Captain Wm. O. Sides; Portsmouth Light Guard, Capt. Geo. W. Towle; Granite State Ex 1's, Capt. A. K. P. Deering, and to the School Children and all who helped to carry out the celebration.

The committee would express particular gratitude to the ladies, who rendered valuable assistance at Jefferson Hall and elsewhere, in the decoration of the Floral Procession. Also to Rear Admiral G. F. Pearson, for the loan of flags and sails from the Navy Yard, and to those friends from the neighboring towns who contributed to the celebration. ALFRED STAVERS, Sec.

Portsmouth, August 14, 1862.

☞ We are glad to see that the Fourth of July committee have at last drummed up funds enough to pay off, or rather 'buy off,' their bills—for the Committee, hard as they worked, and efficient as they were beyond all question, yet were not the only ones who strained a vein and contributed in various ways to the success of the celebration. Almost everybody, except the printers, is specially thanked in the Committee's card this morning; (for which $5 insertion, by the way, among much other such work, we charge nothing;) yet we are sure there could have been no celebration but for those same printers, and equally sure that, excepting the indefatigable Mr. Head himself, no agency was so potent in promoting and securing its success, as this same Chronicle. Our contribution for the cause was at least $25 in work; and there is never any public celebration here that does not receive our aid to that amount or vastly more.—We do not wish to be understood as boasting, or finding any fault with the Committee, for all of them have treated us most "handsomely"; but some ignorant people seem to consider that printers do not always render the quid pro quo, while the profession don't see it in that light at all.—Concerning the Celebration itself—for our part, in the name of all patriotic citizens, we also thank the Committee for the fine and appropriate display they produced, and the full day's enjoyment they furnished the public.

☞ We are glad to see signs that Portsmouth is being waked up on the war. We hope every man in the city will feel that from this hour his country has a claim upon him which ought to override all other claims. The appointment of Messrs. Betton, Folsom and Goss as recruiting officers has given great satisfaction, and men are coming forward and enlisting. Seven men were obtained on Friday, and the prospect is that to-day quite a number will be added. *

THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN, on Thursday evening, voted to close the City Rooms at 6 o'clock on each evening on which war meetings are held.

☞ A small wooden barn, carriage-house and blacksmith's shop, owned by Messrs. Curtis & Edgerly, and situated immediately in the rear of their soap factory on Islington street, near the Creek, were burnt on Thursday evening about ten o'clock. About three-quarters of a ton of hay, which the barn contained, was burnt; a horse, some swine and several wagons, also in the barn, were saved. The loss was between $300 and $400, a very small portion of which is covered by insurance. We were informed that there had been no fire in the blacksmith's shop during the day.

☞ We are told that there is already considerable call for tickets for the Excursion to the Lakes, next Wednesday; and all who intend to go, will be sure of it if they secure tickets at once—not otherwise. The managers request us to state this, as more tickets will undoubtedly be called for than can be had, as was the case before; and while they desire that all who were disappointed in being unable to procure tickets for the first trip, may be accommodated now, they wish all to remember that the number is actually limited, and all effort will be made that none but ticket-holders get aboard the trains. And of course, "first come, first served" with the tickets.

☞ Our readers have no doubt all "seen a woman in another column, picking Sambuci grapes for Speer's Wine." Well, on Wednesday morning, as our workmen were printing the outside of Thursday's paper, she jumped from her place and landed across a column-rule, the cut of a hotel, and various types, demolishing all in her course, as a full-blown lady now-a-days sweeps a sidewalk. The effects of her raid were to be seen in about half of our Thursday's edition, near the now vacant spot on the fourth page, which that "fair maiden" has long occupied. We can forgive almost anything in a lady, but we must say that was rather a hard "cut" for a dam-sel.—Let us drink her memory in a glass of Sambuci.

☞ We publish under the obituary head this morning, the announcement of the death of Mr. Nathaniel F. Palmer, a member of Co. K, 2d N. H. Regiment,—the first member of the company who has died in camp since the regiment entered the United States service. The body was removed to Harrison's Landing and embalmed, preparatory to its being forwarded to his friends in this city. Should the remains reach this city in season, they will be buried with military honors by the Goodwin Guards, on Sunday next,—the funeral services to take place at the Methodist Church.

☞ Capt. Towle's company of volunteers, which went to Concord on Monday to join the 9th Regiment, returned to this city on Thursday evening, the regiment being full. There were in Concord a surplus of nearly, if not quite, 200 volunteers. Capt. Towle's company will go to Fort Constitution, where they will await further orders.

EXCURSION FROM PORTSMOUTH.—About five hundred of the citizens of Portsmouth passed through Manchester, Tuesday, for a day of pleasure at the Lake. They had a merry time About fifty of the excursionists came down from the Lake to Manchester at four o'clock, and spent several hours in looking about town and visiting their friends.—Manchester American.

☞ Work on the C. & P. Railroad Wharf, at the North End, is progressing favorably; and when completed, it will be one of the most substantial and convenient wharves ever built in Portsmouth.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse.
[From the Home Journal.]
"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

A Tale of English Life.
BY MRS. MARTHA REMION,

Morning Chronicle.

"TALES OF THE DAY," for August, is published, the number being the first of a new volume. The success of the work has been equal to the publishers' reasonable expectations, if not their hopes, yet during the ensuing year, in consequence of the war, they propose to lessen the number of pages so as to make but one volume, at $1.25, instead of two volumes at $2.50, as heretofore.

One of the speakers at a recent war meeting in Providence apostrophized his audience thus:—"Is any one here afraid to die? Are you afraid to get hurt? The future heroes will be one armed, and the most dignified and honorable method of locomotion during the next generation will be on crutches."

"Joseph! Joseph!" bawled a group of idle Parisians before a hack stand. "Here! Here! Here!" shouted twenty voices, running up to catch the "fare." "Are you Joseph?" "Yes, sir, 'tis me!—'tis me!"—"Did your brothers sell you into Egypt?" "Oh no, sir." "Then you ain't the Joseph we want."

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston on all disease of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest stings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, Confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

April 7—1y Saw.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new physiological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of the valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

HAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

NEW HAMPSHIRE
MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR.
NOTICE TO THE
Citizens of the State of New Hampshire.

There is to be a MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR, for the encouragement of the Mechanic Arts, holden

IN PORTSMOUTH,

To commence on the 15th of September,

AND CONTINUE FIVE DAYS.

The proceeds, over and above the expenses, to be expended to aid our volunteers.

There will be competent and impartial Committees chosen to decide on the merits of the various articles on exhibition, and liberal PREMIUMS will be awarded in the various departments.

As this is the first Exhibition of the kind ever held in this State, we are determined it shall be successful. There is no possible reason why New Hampshire may not get up as good a show as any other State. We have as GOOD MATERIAL, INTELLECT and ENERGY as the BEST. As this is to be a STATE instead of a County Fair, we would like to have EVERY PART OF THE STATE represented by some specimens of the industry and ingenuity of her sons and daughters.

The most liberal arrangements will be made with the Railroads, for the transportation of articles for exhibition and visitors on the occasion.

N. B.—The best of care will be taken of all Articles sent in.

To the Ladies.

We ask for specimens of Needle Work, such as Embroidery, Worsted Work, Quilts, &c. Also specimens of Weaving, Spinning, Knitting, Crochet Work, Hair Work, Drawings, Paintings, Shell work, Cone and Leather Frames, and all kinds of Fancy Work.

N. B.—All articles should be sent in three or four days previous to the exhibition. All articles must be directed to HENRY M. CARTER, Corresponding Secretary, Portsmouth, N. H.

For further information apply to the same.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1862.

LAWS ON DRAFT.—The following item from the Newburyport Herald will apply as well to New Hampshire as to Massachusetts:

"Gov. Andrew announces that the payment of $75 will be no excuse for service in the army under the draft. Perhaps he is right; but we take it that the money must be paid either under a national law or under the statutes of Massachusetts. If under a national law, nobody will be exempted—not the Judges of our Superior Court, unless they are named as exempts,—and there was no necessity for his referring to a provision of the State law; but if the draft is to be made under the statutes, then it will be as the statutes say, and not as Mr. Andrew says.

We do not know what the course of procedure in obtaining men under a national draft may be, but this would seem the natural course:—1st, the President to call for a given number of men; and 2d, the Governor to draft them under the statutes, from the enrollment made by the assessors according to the laws provided for such an emergency."

☞ Gov. Stanley's efforts at conciliation, in North Carolina, do not seem to prosper much. North Carolina has sent 60 regiments against us,—and 20 more are said to be raised.—A letter from Newbern says:

"In view of the firing on sentinels in Newburn, it has been thought best to search suspicious houses and take away arms from the citizens. Col. Kurtz, the Provost Marshal, on Monday, collected over one hundred and twenty-five firearms of different kinds, mostly loaded, from different parties. What do loyal citizens, whose persons and property are amply protected by thousands of bayonets, want of these loaded pieces?"

Those folks were really rebels, who had these guns to assassinate our soldiers.

THE REBELLION.

Special dispatches from Washington state that as fast as the new regiments arrive, they will be sent to a camp of instruction across the Potomac, under the command of Gen. Casey.

A Washington dispatch says that "those who ought best to know, deny that there has been a change of Gen. McClellan's army from the Peninsula, and assert that he is at his headquarters at Harrison's Landing with his command."

An order by the President directs that the bounty and advance pay shall not be paid to volunteers for new regiments after the 15th inst. Volunteers for regiments now organizing are to receive the bounty and advance pay until the 22d, when incomplete regiments will be consolidated, and superfluous officers mustered out. Volunteers for old regiments will receive the bounty and advance pay until Sept. 1.—The draft for 300,000 men is to be made on the first of Sept., and if the old regiments are not then filled up, a special draft will be ordered for the deficiency.

Gen. Pope's official report of the battle of Cedar Mountain says the slaughter was severe on both sides—most of the fighting being hand to hand. The dead bodies of both armies were found mingled together in masses over the whole ground of the conflict. Our loss was about 1500 killed, wounded and missing, of whom 290 were taken prisoners. A very large proportion were killed. The enemy's loss in killed, wounded and prisoners, he was satisfied, was much in excess of our own.

Advices from Port Royal state that the negro brigade has proved a failure and has been disbanded. A fugitive contraband reports that there were only 2000 rebel troops at Savannah; also that the steam ram was a mere floating battery of little power, with eight guns, and the officers were afraid to take it out of Savannah river. The rebels are in strong force on James and Dawfuskie Islands.

A special dispatch from Cedar Mountain says: "There was no collision the enemy on Wednesday or Thursday. They have broken up their camp at Godonsville, and have retired to some point not yet reached by our scouts. The reports of rebel forces at Madison and on the Culpepper road are without foundation. Gen. Pope's army holds the approaches to the Rapidan, and occupies both its banks, and is advancing."

Gen. Halleck, on Thursday, sent the following dispatch to Gen. Pope:—

"Your telegram of last evening is most satisfactory, and I congratulate you and your army, and particularly Gen. Banks and his corps, on your hard-earned, but brilliant success against vastly superior numbers. Your troops have covered themselves with glory, and Cedar Mountain will be known in history as one of the great battle-fields of the war."

The Cumberland Gap correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, under date of the 7th, states that there had been three days' skirmishing with a large force of rebels, but our artillery prevented their advance. We occupy the hills north, and the rebels those south of Tazewell.

☞ It is announced that the delivery of Treasury Notes of the denomination of one and two dollars will be commenced on Tuesday next, though in small quantities.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

Maj. Bedell, of the 3d N. H. Regiment, writes a letter to the Patriot, correcting a statement in one of the papers in relation to the battle of James Island. The Major says the honor bestowed by the Charleston Mercury upon the N. Y. 79th, belongs to the N. H. 3d. The Mercury in praising the Confederate troops, speaks in the highest terms of the bravery of a Yankee Regiment, which was opposed at that battle by the Charleston Battalion and the Eutaw Regiment. It was our New Hampshire boys who gave them such a warm reception.

—— The American states that it is now unofficially announced that every town in the State has furnished its proportion of men, and that the full number of 4500, required under the call for three years has been raised.

—— At a meeting of legal voters in Londonderry, held on Wednesday, a vote passed to give each volunteer $300; and each drafted man $250.

—— A member of the N. H. Battery was carried back from Concord on Wednesday, in handcuffs as a deserter. He had out-stayed his furlough.

——The volunteers from Rindge for the 9th Regiment, met at the Eagle Hotel in Keene on the 11th inst., and adopted the following preamble and by-laws for their government while in the service of the United States:

"Whereas, we may be exposed to great temptations in the army, we, volunteers from Rindge, deeming it advisable to take some measures to secure our happiness and preserve our morals, do hereby consent to be governed by the following by-laws:

1st—No one of the undersigned shall use any profane language, under a penalty of one dollar for each offence. 2d—The persons and property of every loyal citizen shall be respected. 3d—Each shall abstain from all intoxicating drinks as a beverage. 4th—No one shall play any game of chance for money. 5th—All shall read a chapter in the Scriptures daily. 6th—All money received from the above fines is to be appropriated for the benefit of the signers."

——The actual debt of Hillsboro' county is about $29,000.

—— Eleven young men left North Weare on Wednesday, to enlist in the navy. Weare has voted to give $200 to her three years' volunteers in the army, and $100 each to those who enlist in the navy.

——A meeting of grantees of the Mt. Washington Telegraph Co. was held at Concord on Tuesday. The design of the company is to build a line of telegraph from Gorham to the summit of Mt. Washington and thence to the Crawford House. S. C. Eastman was chosen President of the Board of Directors; and C. H. V. Cavis, late engineer of the Mt. Washington Carriage Road Co., Superintendent. It is the design of the company to have the line ready for the next summer travel.

☞ A collision occurred on the Potomac river on Wednesday night, off Ragged Point, between the steamers Peabody and West Point, involving the loss of 73 lives. The West Point was bound to Aquia Creek from Newport News with convalescent troops of Gen. Burnside's army. She had on board 297 persons. She sank in ten minutes in four fathoms of water. Among the lost were the wife and child of Major Dort, 6th N. H.; wife of Lieut. Col. Scott, 6th N. H.; wife of Capt. Cummings, Co. C, 6th N. H. The captains of the two steamers have been put in charge of the Provost Marshal, and an investigation is now being held as to the parties to whom blame is to be attached.

☞ A lady walking in Washington street, Boston, on Thursday, accidentally got one of her feet entangled in her skirt, by which she was thrown down, receiving a severe bruise over her eye, and breaking an arm.

☞ Workmen are engaged in taking down the old building opposite the Old South Church, Boston, 200 years old. The frame of the building is still strong, and would doubtless have lasted another two centuries.

DROWNED.—Mr. Levi Gilson, of Biddeford, was drowned in Saco river on Saturday evening last, by falling from a boat which he was endeavoring to move. He leaves a wife and one child.

☞ "The price of liberty is eternal vigilance." Aristocracy in one shape or another,—slavery, black or white,—is perpetually on the alert to crowd the mass down, and raise itself on their shoulders.—Up and at them.

☞ The correspondent of the Congregationalist states that there are only five installed Congregational pastors in the State of California, for a population of 400,000 people.

☞ Mr. J. S. Hay, the editor of the St. Croix (N. B.) Herald, whose office was destroyed a short time since by a mob of rebel sympathisers, is in Boston. A movement is on foot to re-establish the paper.

☞ The Lenox Glass Works are entirely consumed by fire. The loss will probably exceed $30,000, on which there was no insurance. The works have been stopped for several months, but were to be started the present week.

NOTES OF FORMER DAYS.

The Union of 1641—Norfolk County.—The settlements on Piscataqua river and its branches were formed into distinct governments, so that there were existing at the commencement of the year 1641 four separate republics, independent of each other, namely: Portsmouth, Kittery, Dover, and Exeter. It had been long in agitation among the principal persons in these towns to unite with Massachusetts, and put themselves under their protection. The government of Massachusetts, desirous of extending their jurisdiction over a territory which they thought was included in their charter, were willing to receive them. A negotiation took place between that colony and the towns of Portsmouth and Dove. On the fourteenth of April, 1641, the terms of union were agreed on, and the contract was "subscribed in the presence of the General Court by George Willys, Robert Saltonstall, William Whiting, Edward Holyoke, and Thomas Makepeace, in behalf of themselves and the other partners of the two patents." By this contract, Massachusetts was to have "jurisdiction of government of said people, dwelling or abiding within the limits of both the said patents, to be ruled and ordered in all cases, criminal and civil, as inhabitants dwelling within Massachusetts' government, and to be subject to pay in church and commonwealth, as the said inhabitants of Massachusetts' Bay do, and no other: and the freemen of the said two patents to enjoy the like liberties as other freemen do within the said Massachusetts' government; and that there shall be a court of justice kept within one of the two patents, which shall have the same power that the courts at Salem and Ipswich have." They were to send two deputies to the General Court. Exeter was not included in this contract, but was admitted into the union in September, the year following.—Commissioners were sent to Piscataqua, "who appointed Francis Williams, Thomas Warnerton, and Ambross Gibbins of Portsmouth, and Edward Hilton, Thomas Wiggin, and William Waldron of Dover, as magistrates, which appointments were confirmed by the General Court."

By a law of Massachusetts, no freeman was allowed to vote in town-meeting, nor sit as a deputy in the General Court, unless he were a church member. On the eighth of September, 1642, the law was dispensed with, as to the towns in New Hampshire. As there had not been any minister settled, nor any church formed in this place after Mr. Gibson's departure, it is not probable that many of the inhabitants were members of any church. This qualification therefore was not required in the management of their town affairs, or for their deputies to obtain a seat in the General Court.

In the month of December, the town invited Mr. James Parker of Weymouth, "a godly man and a scholar," to be their minister. He consulted with several magistrates and elders of the churches in Massachusetts, and by their advice accepted the call. He came and taught among them through the winter, but was not ordained nor settled here. He afterwards removed to Barbadoes.

A new county was formed in 1643, which comprehended all the towns between Merrimack and Piscataqua rivers, namely: Salisbury, Hampton, Haverhill, Exeter, Dover, and Strawberry Bank, and was called Norfolk. Salisbury was made the shire town. But Dover and Portsmouth, although belonging to the new county, had a separate jurisdiction; and a court, composed of one or more magistrates or assistants of these towns, and commissioners, chosen by the General Court from the principal persons of each town, was held once or twice a year for the trial of causes, regulating their decisions by the laws of Massachusetts.—This was called the court of associates, and their jurisdiction extended to causes where the matter in dispute did not exceed twenty pounds. An appeal lay from their decisions to the board of assistants. An Inferior Court, consisting of three persons, was established in each town, with jurisdiction over all causes of twenty shillings value, or under.

MURDER BY REBELS.—Dr. J. H. Jennings, of New Bedford, has received intelligence from Virginia of the murder of his brother, Dr. Samuel K. Jennings, who for several years had been a practicing physician at Charleston, Western Virginia. He was found with his head fractured and his throat cut. Dr. Jennings had not heard from his brother for a long time, and he feared that he had joined the rebels, but it turns out that he was a strong Union man, and probably letters sent North by him were intercepted. Two of his neighbors, farmers, are suspected of the murder, and one of them has been arrested.

☞ A fire broke out on Tuesday morning in Horseheads, Chemung Co., N. Y., and before the flames could be stayed, every building in the central part of the town, with the exception of three stores, were destroyed. Two hotels and the Town Hall are among the buildings burned. The loss is estimated as high as $100,000.

☞ Can anybody tell us why a Quaker or a Shaker, should by law be exempt from draft, for anti-war conscience sake, any more than a Mormon or any other man?—Rev. Miles Grant, very pertinently, "in candor asks why all consciences and religious principles should not be regarded alike in a free country?" Sure enough; and why shouldn't all alike be made to bear the burdens of their own government? Away with so many exemptions.

☞ The first of the series of war meetings in this city, which was held, under the direction of the City Government, on Friday evening, was eminently successful. There was a large attendance of enthusiastic and patriotic hearers, who by their applause frequently manifested their endorsement of the principles and views presented by the speakers. The speeches were straight-forward and frank, eloquent and inspiring, and we doubt not will be found productive of good results.

Mayor Simes presided over the meeting, and in a felicitous manner introduced the several speakers. The meeting being held in the open air, in front of Jefferson Hall, very many more were enabled to be present and to hear, than would have been possible had it been in the hall. The assembly included a large number of ladies. The speakers were Israel Kimball, Esq., of this city, Hon. Samuel Upton, of Manchester, Lieut. Col. Coughlin, of the 10th regiment, Rev. A. J. Patterson, Mr. Rugg, a native of Portsmouth but now a resident of Illinois, and by a member of the Maine 17th regiment.

Music was furnished by the Portsmouth Cornet Band, which played finely of course, and was quite a pleasing feature of the occasion. Indeed, it would be hard work to make such a meeting entirely successful without the assistance of a good band.

The meeting adjourned about 10 o'clock, and after its close hearty cheers were given by those who remained, for three patriots who promptly enlisted at the recruiting tent of Messrs. Betton, Folsom and Goss, on Market Square.

It will be seen that the second meeting of the series will be held on Tuesday evening next, and will be addressed by Hon. David Cross, of Manchester, Prof. Patterson, of Dartmouth College, Col. Donahoe, of the 10th Regiment, and others.

☞ We are greatly indebted to Mrs. Lowell Jenness, of Anthony street, for a couple of splendid Bouquets. One is very large, composed chiefly of the most perfect dahlias, of all colors,—the shades and sizes very tastefully arranged; and we always admire a bunch of these rich flowers, though they do remind us how fast Autumn is coming. The other bouquet is large, and certainly one of the most beautiful we ever saw. It contains a great many varieties of garden and house flowers—superb asters, fuschias, geraniums, jillies, roses, verbenas, and many other kinds,—in variety and perfection we have rarely seen excelled outside of the largest green-houses—the whole most artistically arranged, in a manner which would take the palm at many a horticultural show, and intermingled with green, and surmounted and crowned with a regal calla. It is rare to find in any common garden, so fine a collection of flowering plants; and rarer yet, anywhere, the exquisite skill and taste to combine them so charmingly.—How sad that such sweet flowers must fade! But how much the happier must be a life, which can appreciate and enjoy their beauties to such perfection.

☞ A few days ago, wishing to take a sail down river for a few hours, with a small party of friends, we were looking about Water street for a boat. Mr. Walden's yacht "Florence," which is advertised in these columns, we supposed was too large and heavy for our purpose,—as the afternoon was far gone, and movements must be quick; but on our inquiring of him, he soon satisfied us she was just the craft we wanted, and very politely placed her at our service. So we speedily got aboard, to the number of eight or ten ladies and gents, under direction of Capt. Leach, and "had a delightful time" in the harbor till sunset,—sailing, fishing and eating, (and O, how folks, even delicate ladies, will eat, when down river,)—our skipper landing us at the wharf just in the nick of time, tide and wind. We could but agree with the unanimous decision of the ladies, that Mr. Leach was a most accomplished and agreeable captain—"the right man in the right place;" that the Florence was the best, most steady and comfortable boat of her size they were ever in; and that her gentlemanly owner, Mr. Augustus Walden, "deserves well" of the sailing public. The ladies thought that it must be that he was more than usually affable and accommodating just at this time,—he having been initiated into the holy order of benedicts the evening previous, by Rev. Mr. P., (assisted by one of the fair sex, of course.) But we assured them that he would always be found thus attentive and obliging in his business; and they voted to call on him and Skipper Leach again.

Speaking of Boating, it will be seen that Capt. Preble advertises the large and staunch new schooner Onward, for parties; and Messrs. Deering & Yeaton have a fleet of small craft, as usual; not to mention again the Florence, which is a capital schooner boat, for twenty-five persons or less.

☞ The funeral of Mr. Nathaniel F. Palmer, of Co. K, 2d N. H. Regiment, will take place at the State Street Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon at 2 1-2 o'clock. The funeral will be attended by the military and Engine companies of this city.

Mr. Palmer was a member of Engine Company No. 3, and the members and past members of this company and the Fire Department generally are invited to meet at their Engine House on Court street, on Sunday afternoon at one o'clock, for the purpose of attending the funeral.

☞ Mr. Hoyt's Stage is now the only one running on the Portsmouth and Kittery Point line—Capt. Amee having retired from the course, several weeks since. T. O. Hoyt, Esq., with his well-conducted, twice-daily stage, and daily express wagon, is fully competent to do all the business of the road,—including carrying the mail again, for which he gets a tolerable price, the same as before he was underbid. If we recollect aright, Government pays $150 per year for carrying the mail once daily each way between Portsmouth and Kittery. The stage must run over two long bridges; and the tolls are no small items—fully $250 per year, for stage, express, and extras.—Mr. Hoyt always runs a good team, and keeps everything up in shape. He deserves the public confidence and patronage, and gets it. We found a ride down, very pleasant, the other day; and were minded, of our own free will, to jot down this item about Kittery stage.

☞ Portsmouth's most famous and long noted pedestrian, has taken much to horseback riding again, of late; and some of the boys complain, has monopolized one of the best livery horses—as indeed he must, to get a mare with shanks as good as his own. We would as soon undertake to outrun Bull Run itself—the most wonderful heat on record.

☞ The regular railroad and steamboat fares to Lake Winnipiseogee, amount to about six dollars—and yet the Excursion tickets are only put at a single dollar! No wonder this calls out the people, as no excursion here ever did before. See advertisement.

☞ The down train on the P. S. & P. railroad, and the train on the Grand Trunk, had a narrow escape from a collision on Commercial street, Portland, on Thursday. They were stopped only a few feet apart.

☞ Acting Assistant Paymaster, George Clifford Boardman, U. S. N., of this city, has been ordered to the steamer Norwich.

☞ Frank C. Sweetser, of this city, Orderly Sergeant of a company in the 5th N. H. Regiment, Col. Cross, will leave Concord on Wednesday, with several absentees belonging to the regiment.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse.

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A Crundall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by its use. I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe pleuring pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since.
CAROLINE B. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.
SIMEON SWETT.
Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1851.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. About seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure, as I have had no sign of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.
HANNAH ROWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1852.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of those complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1838. Dr Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. P. RAVITT.

From ELDER I CRESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and this propriety to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CRESLEY

EXCURSIONS TO THE LAKE AND CONCORD.

There was a great rush for tickets to the excursion last Tuesday. The number of tickets limited to 500, were all sold on Monday evening, and 200 more were at the depot desirous to go, and were only pacified by the assurance that another excursion would specdily follow. The company reached the lake between 10 and 11 o'clock, and took the steamer for Bear Island, where they remained until about 3 o'clock, when the steamer took them up the lake to the vicinity of Centre Harbor, and then took them to the Weirs.—They then took the cars for home, where they all arrived safe and in good order at 1-4 before 10 o'clock. Some of the company were passed down to Concord by an earlier train, without extra expense, and enjoyed a three hours range at the capital. There was never before offered to our citizens so much riding and sailing for a dollar, as was given that day—and all seemed to enjoy it.

VIOLENT RAIN.—On Saturday afternoon last, Aug. 9, about 5 o'clock, the clouds gathered wildly over this vicinity, from the north-east.—In the course of half an hour, the sharpest lightning and the most violent thunder of the season were seen and heard. The rain poured down in streams literally, for it was too rapid to discern distinct drops. This shower was less than half an hour's duration, but in that short time one and a quarter of inches of rain fell. When it is considered that an inch an hour is a very violent shower,—so large a quantity in so short a time is a very remarkable fall—we never witnessed the like before. Our streets were flooded with water; from the front of the Franklin House on Congress street, up Vaughan to Hanover street, was one pond of water nearly as wide as the streets. In Puddle dock the water flowed in so fast, that the water was raised to considerable height above the river. The lightning rolled in balls through the Eastern Depot on the railroad track. Several of the Telegraph posts near the Depot on the west bear marks of the lightning. Three daughters of Mr. Bradbury, near the eastern end of Portsmouth Bridge, who were sitting on the stairs in the entry of his house with the outer door open, were struck senseless. They were restored after sometime by drenching with cold water.

CAUTION TO FRUIT PILFERERS.—On Monday last, Wm. Spinney, aged about 15, was brought before Justice Hoyt, charged with stealing pears from the garden of Mr. E. G. Peirce, at the Gardner place. He was found guilty, and sentenced to the Reform School during his minority. This should prove a caution to boys generally.

RECRUITS.—We are pleased to learn that Capt. Matthew Thornton Betton, from the old stock of Revolutionary heroes, is doing a good business in raising recruits in this city, and is likely to get up a full company shortly. He has been located at the old Post Office building, but is about removing to the Tent on Market Square. With such a man to take command, those who enlist will feel assured of a good company, and will be ready for efficient action.

GUSTAVUS V. ROWE, of this city, is appointed sutler of the 9th regiment, Mr. N. F. Mathes having given up the position on account of the death of his business partner. Mr. Rowe has disposed of his grocery establishment to Mr. Sherburne Somerby, who drops the "ribbons" to take a position behind the counter.

DARNEY, THE SCOUT OF THE RAPPAHANNOCK.—A correspondent of the Evening Post, who is with Gen. Pope's army, has the following notice of a negro scout, illustrative of the idea many military men hold that the negro will fight well and faithfully:

"One man—the guide in the two exploits of our cavalry—deserves brief mention. He is certainly a marked man—loyal, true and brave to a fault. Virginia may well be proud of him, and the rebels of this vicinity have testified their appreciation by subscribing and offering a reward for his head of fifteen hundred dollars. His skin is somewhat darker than ours; but the front rank of our brave soldiers has willingly given him place, and his services as scout and guide have been invaluable. He was a slave two months ago, and now, at seventy-five cents a day, he is worth to the Government a dozen of the best of us."

SOLDIERS' FARE.—The following is the quality and quantity of rations for 63 men for five days, as given by a volunteer:—

175 lbs. Salt Beef, 54 lbs. Pork, 34 lbs. Coffee, 52 lbs. Sugar, 46 lbs. Beans, 36 lbs. Rice, 142 lbs. Potatoes, 40 lbs. Onions, 44 lbs. Dessicated Vegetables, 2 lbs. Tea, 12 lbs. Dried Apples, 2 galls. Vinegar, 15 lbs. Soap, 4½ lbs. Candles, 5 qts. Pickles.

The New Orleans Delta says:—"Every day's experience in this city displays to our mind the fact that the Creole population is worthy of all praise for their attachment to the Union. It is among the Northern men, the Englishmen, and Anglo-Southern men, that we find the most unreasonable secessionists—and, now that we think of it, we do not know a Creole citizen, eminent for wealth or social position, who has in any way been demonstrative against the Union.

MISS HALL, in Franklin Co., Mo., was shot dead while ministering at the sick bed of her father. She is supposed to have been shot by her brother, Legrand Hall, because her father had willed her $500 more than he had to him. He was lodged in jail, but was taken therefrom by a mob and hung.

MAJOR SHERBURNE,—We are pleased to notice in the list of confirmations by the Senate, just prior to adjournment, the name of Major John P. Sherburne, promoted from a captaincy in the Nineteenth United States Infantry, to the position of assistant adjutant general with the rank of major. All who know Major Sherburne will be gratified with his promotion, and feel that he justly deserved it. Major S. is now attached to the staff of our Military Governor, General Wadsworth.—Washington Republican.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, D.C. for the Act of 1837.
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street.
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continued under the Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials bel ow given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the ensuing year, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcerations of the throat, in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of diseases, soon become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Pains in the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, selfdistrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotte, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.
April 7—1y 3taw.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon enjoys a perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superiors in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated Dr. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the best in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the best generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

MATHEWS'
VENETIAN LIQUID
HAIR DYE.

☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1845; since that time it has been used by THOUSANDS, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.

THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes NO annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL softness of the hair,—it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenint, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

A LADY'S METHOD OF CULTIVATING STRAWBERRIES.—Mrs. Baker, of Manchester, N. H., gives her method of cultivating strawberries, in a recent number of the New Hampshire Journal of Agriculture, as follows:—

"Late in the fall after all the harvesting is done, I dig up my old vines and throw them into the hog pen. Then I spade the ground six or eight inches deep. Then make beds three feet wide, and two feet alleys, set the most thrifty young plants across the bed, ten plants in a row, and rows about six inches apart. Then cover them with leaves from the forest, and the work is done until spring. In the spring I sprinkle ashes over them, not disturbing them at all. As soon as the crowns begin to show themselves above the leaves, I water them every morning for a while. Then again in bloom, and at graining of the fruit. I picked eighty quarts of big strawberries from a small patch of about one rod and a quarter."

LIBERALITY.—At a recent Strawberry Festival, to raise money for a Ladies Soldiers' Aid Society, a member of the legal profession received back as change, on paying for some strawberries he had eaten, a 5 and a 3 cent piece. He was apparently lost in thought for a moment, and then, slipping the 5 cent piece into his pocket, he held out the 3 cent piece to the lady, and magnanimously contributed it to the fund, with the remark—"there, you may keep that."

☞ Godey's Lady's Book for September, has a fine frontispiece, "Contrition," which illustrates an equally fine tale with the same title.

☞ From the present appearances, Pennsylvania will have 15 regiments in the field within a week. Others are rapidly forming.

☞ Why was the closing action of the 4th of July committee, like the rebels' movements? A.

NEW HAMPSHIRE
MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR.
NOTICE TO THE
Citizens of the State of New Hampshire.
There is to be a MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR, for the encouragement of the Mechanic Arts, holden
IN PORTSMOUTH,
To commence on the 15th of September,
AND CONTINUE FIVE DAYS.
The proceeds, over and above the expenses, to be expended to aid our volunteers.
There will be confident and impartial Committees chosen to decide on the merits of the various articles on exhibition, and liberal PREMIUMS will be awarded in the various departments.
As this is the first Exhibition of the kind ever held in this State, we are determined it shall be successful. There is no possible reason why New Hampshire may not get up a fair, and show as any other State. We have as GOOD MATERIAL, INTELLECT and ENERGY as the best. As this is to be a STATE instead of a County Fair, we would like to have EVERY PART OF THE STATE represented by some specimens of the industry and ingenuity of her sons and daughters.
The most liberal arrangements will be made with the Railroads, for the transportation of articles for exhibition and visitors on the occasion.
N. B.—The best of care will be taken of all Articles sent in.
To the Ladies.
We ask for specimens of Needle Work, such as Embroidery, Worsted Work, Quilts, &c. Also specimens of Weaving, Spinning, Knitting, Crochet Work, Hair Work, Drawings, Paintings, Shell work, Comb and Leather Frames, and all kinds of Fancy Work.
N. B.—All articles should be sent in three or four days previous to the commencement. All articles must be directed to HENRY M. CARTER, Corresponding Secretary, Portsmouth, N. H.
For further information apply to the same.

MONDAY, AUGUST 18, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

A dispatch from Culpepper, Va., 15th, states that it was thought that Jackson's rear line was about four miles back of the Rapidan, his main point of defence being Gordonsville; and that large forces of the enemy now occupy the line of the Central Railroad from Louisa to Charlottsville, which makes it probable that they have formed a new line of defence, and intend to fight a decisive battle at or near Gordonsville.

Rebel reports state that Gen. Beauregard is at Chattanooga, cooperating with Gen. Bragg, and that their combined forces cannot be less than 70,000 men. The rebel General Caswell was killed near his residence in Knoxville on the 7th inst.

Gen. Burnside's army arrived at Culpepper Court House, from Fredericksburg, on Thursday night, after a severe march of 35 miles.

The Richmond Dispatch, 9th, says official advices have been received by the rebel Navy Department, confirming the report of the destruction of the ram Arkansas.

A Union officer from Cumberland Gap declares that excepting a fight on the 9th, at Tazewell, there has been no engagement whatever in East Tennessee up to the 13th. In that engagement we lost 3 killed, 15 wounded and 57 prisoners; while the rebel officers admit a loss of 250 killed and wounded. We took 113 wagon loads of forage and 70 horses; we lost the knapsacks of two regiments.

The N. Y. Herald has a letter from Hilton Head, 10th, which states that J. Pembroke Jones, the captain of the rebel ram at Savannah, is one of the prisoners captured on board the steamer Gen. Lee, and that the boat came down from Savannah chiefly for the purpose of bringing him to spy out the channel.

The rebel papers reiterate the report of the capture of Baton Rouge. Our own accounts are up to the day on which the capture is said to have been made.

UNIONISTS IN NEW ORLEANS.—The New Orleans Delta remarks that every day's experience in that city displays the fact that the Creole population is worthy of all praise for their attachment to the Union. It says: "It is among the Northern men, the Englishmen, and the Anglo-Southern men that we find the most unreasonable secessionists—and, now that we think of it we do not know a Creole citizen, eminent for wealth or social position, who has in any way been demonstrative against the Union."

☞ The first British daily paper was The Daily Courant, commenced on the 11th of March, 1702, by E. Mallet. His office was near the spot now occupied by The Times. The paper was a single page of two columns, and professed solely to give foreign news, the editor or publisher further assuring his readers that he would not take upon himself to give any comments of his own, "supposing other people to have sense enough to make reflections for themselves." The Courant was, in 1735, absorbed in The Daily Gazetteer.

☞ The statement that the new Confederate steamer No. 290, from Liverpool, had put into Holyhead, proves to be unfounded. She was last seen on the 1st inst., off the Giant's Causeway, going at the rate of 14 miles an hour. The Tuscarora had been in search of her in the Irish Channel, but returned to Queenstown, which port she again left on the 17th, destination unknown. The movements of the Tuscarora had given rise to some animadversions in shipping circles.

☞ In New York, on Thursday morning, a barrel which had contained benzine was rolled out on the sidewalk and exposed to the full heat of the sun. Michael Travers, an Irishman, in passing along Centre street, struck a match across the head of the barrel, when the barrel instantly exploded with a sharp report. Travers' hand was badly lacerated, but he was otherwise uninjured. The head of the barrel is said to have been blown over the tops of the adjoining houses.

☞ Garibaldi has issued a proclamation, urging the young men to arms in spirited terms. Victor Emmanuel has issued a counter proclamation, denouncing revolutionary schemes, and threatening the rigor of the law on those who disobeyed. He declares that he himself will move in the matter of Rome at the fitting time. These events attracted great attention. The English journals generally regret Garibaldi's course.

☞ The Shoe and Leather Reporter thinks there will be a strike among the employers soon, wages are so high in the shoe trade.

☞ Gen. Benham has not been stricken from the rolls as stated, but is ordered to report to the Chief of Corps of Engineers, of which he is a Major.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Capt. Tileston A. Barker, who was appointed Lieut. Col. of the 11th Regiment, has received the appointment of Col. of the Twelfth Regiment. Capt. J. F. Littlefield, of the 2d, is appointed in the place of Capt. Barker as Lieut. Col. of the 11th.

—— Edward Dunlap, of Beford, was arrested at Essex Junction, Vt., on Wednesday, by the U. S. Marshal, on the ground that he was fleeing to escape draft. He gave bonds for $1000, to answer the draft if one should be made, and was liberated.—He said he was going to Canada to buy horses.

—— Candia gives $300 bounty.

—— Lieut. Darius K. Scruton, of the 3d N.H., wounded at James Island, died last week at Salmon Falls. He was wounded in his arm, but refusing amputation till too late, he consequently lost his life. He was buried under Masonic honors.

—— The Nashua Gazette says that one of the Sergeants of the N. H. 5th, skedaddled in one of the fights before Richmond, and didn't bring up till he arrived almost home. He has been arrested, and at the last accounts, was on his way back a prisoner. It is said he will be court martialed and shot.

—— The American states that it is proposed to raise a regiment in Belknap county, men enough to form a full regiment having already signified their readiness to enlist.

—— St Thomas' Church, of Dover, whose Rector has recently been appointed Chaplain of the 9th Regiment, has supplied for the war, two Chaplains, two Captains, two Lieutenants and nine Privates.

—— George H. Chandler, Esq., of Concord, late Deputy Sec. of State, has been appointed Adjutant of the Ninth.

STATE OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Concord, Aug. 14, 1862.

General Order No. 13.—No arrangements can be made for the enlistment of volunteers for the period of nine months, at present.

If it can be done at all, it will not be done till after the enrollment is made and returned, and not until the quota of the State for the three years' men is fully made up.

If the State furnishes more than its quota for three years, the surplus will be credited as part of its quota for nine months' men.

Drafted men may furnish substitutes, but can not be released by the payment of a fine of $75. NATHANIEL S. BERRY.

HAMPTON, Aug. 16, 1862.

At a meeting of the citizens of Hampton, it was voted to pay a bounty of $250, for volunteers for three years. Hampton has furnished forty-five men for the war.—A legal town meeting will be held the 25th inst., when a suitable bounty will be offered for nine months men.

More people have visited Hampton Beach this season than for many years past. The Hotels are full. "Camping out" seems to be the order of the day with the people from the back settlements, one hundred and fifty being in camp from Haverhill, Mass., with three clergymen to look after their spiritual wants. Religious services are held on the Sabbath in camp. There are also camps from Plaistow, Exeter, Kingston, Amesbury, Salisbury, Newburyport, and other places. All seem to enjoy themselves. Among the visitors in camp last week were Col. Coleman and wife, of Newburyport, with fourteen grand-children. Col. and wife have lived together fifty-four years, and look hale and hearty. L.

☞ The Democratic Convention which met at Portland on Thursday, nominated Hon. Bion Bradbury for Governor. Resolutions were passed declaring the party for the Union as it was, the Constitution as it is, declaring that the Constitution formed the spirit of concession and compromise, and must be preserved by the same means, and not by military power alone.

BOUNTIES.—The towns of Amesbury and Salisbury, Mass., have offered $300 for three years' volunteers and $150 for the nine months men. The first quota of Salisbury is now full, and one of the Selectmen heads the list for the Second.

☞ Brig. Gen. Albert Pike has resigned his commission in "the provisional army of the Confederate States." His resignation is "unconditional and absolute." He assigns as reasons for this step, the ruin of his private affairs, the helpless condition of his family and his own unfitness for active service on horseback.

☞ The death of the Archbishop of Armagh, and Primate of all Ireland, Dr. J. G. Bernsford, has placed in the hands of the Premier a rich piece of ecclesiastical patronage. The See of Armagh is of the annual value of £14,500, and the occupant holds the patronage of fifty-six livings.—The late Archbishop was eighty-eight years of age, and had held the See of Armagh forty years.

☞ A Mr. Fels, in Belgium, is exciting general admiration by the excellence of his technical powers, as shown in some of his works now at the exhibition of the Brussels Academy. He was born without arms, and paints with his feet.

CHARGES AT WATERLOO.

From his own memory of Waterloo, as one who was in the fight, Captain Gronow, of the British Royal Guards, thus describes the charge of the French cavalry upon the British square:

About four p. m. the enemy's artillery in front of us ceased firing all of a sudden, and we saw large masses of cavalry advance; not a man present who survived could have forgotten in after life the awful grandeur of that charge. You discovered at a distance what appeared to be an overwhelming, long moving line, which, ever advancing, glittered like a stormy wave of the sea when it catches the sunlight. On they came until they got near enough, whilst the very earth seemed to vibrate beneath the thundering tramp of the mounted host. One might suppose that nothing could have resisted the shock of this terrible moving mass. They were the famous cuirassiers, almost all old soldiers, who had distinguished themselves on most of the battle-fields of Europe. In an almost incredibly short period they were within twenty yards of us, shouting "Vive l'Empereur!" The word of command, "Prepare to receive cavalry," had been given, every man in the front ranks knelt, and a wall bristling with steel, held together by steady hands, presented itself to the infuriated cuirassiers.

I should observe that just before this charge the Duke entered by one of the angles of the square, accompanied only by one aide-de-camp, all the rest of his staff being either killed or wounded. Our commander-in chief, as far as I could judge, appeared perfectly composed; but looked very thoughtful and pale. He was dressed in a grey great-coat with a cape, white cravat, leather pantaloons, Hessian boots, and a large cocked hat a la Russe.

The charge of the French cavalry was gallantly executed; but our well-directed fire brought men and horses down, and ere long the utmost confusion arose in their ranks. The officers were exceedingly brave, and by their gestures and fearless bearing did all in their power to encourage their men to form again and renew the attack. The Duke sat unmoved, mounted on his favorite charger. I recollect his asking the Hon. Lieut. Colonel Stanhope what o'clock it was, upon which Stanhope took out his watch, and said it was twenty minutes past four. The Duke replied, "The battle is mine; and if the Prussians arrive soon there will be an end of the war."

The Duke's famous, "Guards, up and at them," is restored, or almost restored, by Captain Gronow's recollection of the incidents of the last charge at Waterloo:

It was about five o'clock on that memorable day, that we suddenly received orders to retire behind an elevation in our rear.—The enemy's artillery had come up en masse within a hundred yards of us. By the time they began to discharge their guns, however, we were lying down behind the rising ground, and protected by the ridge before referred to. The enemy's cavalry was in the rear of their artillery, in order to be ready to protect it if attacked; but no attempt was made on our part to do so. After they had pounded away at us for about half an hour they deployed, and up came the whole mass of the infantry of the Imperial Guard, led on by the Emperor in person. We had now before us probably about 20,000 of the best soldiers in France, the heroes of many memorable victories.—We saw the bear-skin caps rise higher and higher as they ascended the ridge of ground which separated us, and advanced nearer and nearer to our lines. It was at this moment the Duke of Wellington gave his famous order for our bayonet charge, as he rode along the line; these are the precise words he made use of—"Guards, get up and charge!"

We were instantly on our legs, and after so many hours of inaction and irritation at maintaining a purely defensive attitude—all the time suffering the loss of comrades and friends—the spirit which animated officers and men may be easily imagined. After firing a volley as soon as the enemy were within shot, we rushed on with fixed bayonets and that hearty hurrah peculiar to the British soldier.

It appeared that our men, deliberately and with calculation, singled out their victims; for as they came upon the Imperial Guard our line broke, and the fighting became irregular. The impetuosity of our men seemed almost to paralyze their enemies. I witnessed several of the Imperial Guard who were run through the body, apparently without any resistance on their part. I observed a big Welshman of the name of Hughes, who was six feet seven inches in height, run through with his bayonet and knock down with his firelock, I should think, at least a dozen of his opponents. This terrible contest did not last more than ten minutes, for the Imperial Guard was soon in full retreat, leaving all their guns and many prisoners in our hands.

POLTROONS SNUBBED.—About fifty of the fugitives from the draft, who left Detroit, applied at a foundery in London, C. W., for work, with the following result as described by the Detroit Free Press:

"The proprietor asked them if they were from the other side; they said, 'Yes.'—'Why did you leave?' 'Because we did not want to be drafted.' 'Have you not enjoyed all the benefits and had all the privileges of citizens?' 'Yes.' 'Well, I will tell you what I think of you. I consider you worse than thieves, and a mean contemptible pack of knaves, and unfit for an honest man to trust. I should be afraid if I should employ you, that you would steal. And now, boys, (turning to his own hands) I will give you fifty dollars to rotten egg all the traitors to their own government that ever come here again.' The men hurrahed and the traitors skedaddled."

☞ A letter from Saratoga says the three great hotels there will clear full $20,000 each this season. The landlords are all very smiling. The great ball at the United States House the other night was a brilliant diamonded affair. The ladies were numerous, and the toilets gorgeous and tasteful.

☞ A number of Union officers from Gen. Pope's army have arrived in Richmond as prisoners of war. The papers of that city announce that these officers were put in "solitary confinement, in conformity with instructions, and the rule, as enforced, will not be departed from under any consideration whatever." Among the prisoners were Gen. Prince and thirty-three other commissioned officers.

☞ The Journal de St. Petersburg denies the rumors that Russia has joined France in propositions to England for a recognition of the Southern Confederacy and also for mediation.

☞ Waterville College, Maine, has conferred the honorary degree of LL. D. upon Gen. Benjamin F. Butler. Gen. B. is a graduate of Waterville.

WAR MEETINGS.

The 2d of the series of War Meetings will be held AT JEFFERSON HALL,

TUESDAY Eve'g, Aug. 19, at 7 1-2 o'cl'k.

Speaking by

HON. DAVID CROSS, of Manchester; PROF. PATTERSON, of Dartmouth College; COL. DONAHOE, of the 10th N. H. Regiment, And REV. MR. HUMPHRISS.

MUSIC BY THE PORTSMOUTH CORNET BAND.

It is requested that all places of business shall be closed at 6 o'clock that all may attend these meetings.

By order of the Mayor and Aldermen.

☞ The funeral services of Nathaniel F. Palmer, of Company K, 2d N. H. Regiment, who died of typhoid fever in the hospital near Harrison's Landing, Va., on Saturday, Aug. 9th, at the age of 19 years, were held at the State street Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday afternoon.—The church was densely crowded by the large number of friends and citizens, who desired to manifest by their presence their sympathy for the bereaved friends of the deceased, and their respect for the memory of a patriot soldier.

The funeral procession was long and imposing. The Portsmouth Cornet Band volunteered their services and with muffled drums beat the funeral march to the grave. The procession consisted of the Goodwin Guards in full uniform, Capt. W. O. Sides; Volunteers for the war; Company C, Governor's Horse Guards, also in full uniform, Lieut. F. W. Miller; the members of the Fire Department, all wearing crape upon the left arm; the Common Council and Board of Aldermen; the City Clerk and Treasurer; Mayor Simes, Ex-Gov. Goodwin, and others. The coffin was most appropriately draped in the American Flag, in defence of which the soldier had lain down his life, and was borne on the shoulders of six of his brother firemen.

The exercises at the church were solemn and impressive. They consisted of singing by the choir, prayer and the reading of appropriate selections from the Scriptures, by Rev. R. W. Humphriss, pastor of the church, and an address, founded on the 5th and 6th verses of the 137th Psalm, in which the speaker most forcibly and beautifully presented the claims of Patriotism—one of the cardinal virtues of our humanity, next only to Religion,—and showed how worthy the deceased was of respect and remembrance now that he had freely offered himself as a sacrifice in the defence of his country.

Prayer was again offered at the grave, and the body was lowered to its final resting place. Three volleys were fired over the grave by the Goodwin Guards, and the sad rites were completed.

The flags throughout the city were displayed at half-mast during the day.

☞ Mr. Nath'l J. Coffin informs us that he enlisted in Rye on Thursday, ten men, not one of whom is less than five feet six and a half inches in height, and all are able-bodied men. Not a bad day's work. They, with other volunteers from Rye, will probably be in Portsmouth this week, to drill with the other recruits of Messrs. Hill and Coffin.

☞ Lieut. Wentworth, of the regular U. S. service, has opened a recruiting office, for volunteers for any old or new regiment from this State, at the City Marshal's office.

☞ "I meant to have had some of those Excursion tickets, but thought there would be plenty of them left, and that I could get them at the Depot that morning." Such was the lament of many who "couldn't come in" to the train when it started for Concord and the Lakes. "If I get caught once, it may be somebody's else fault; if a second time, it is surely my own."

☞ The Second Universalist Society of Manchester, purpose making an excursion to this city on Thursday of the present week. Fare down and back $1.

☞ Capt. Towle on Friday evening, during the continuance of the war meeting, enlisted four men.

LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,

PASSED JUNE SESSION, 1862.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

1. That the vigor displayed by the Administration in raising, organizing and bringing into active service our immense army, and in providing our powerful navy; the wisdom and prudence manifested in the general conduct of the war, and in the exercise of the civil functions of the government in the perilous times upon which we have fallen, command our hearty approbation, and commend it to our unwavering confidence and support.

2. That those great measures of national beneficence, the Homestead Act and Pacific Railroad Act, binding together the widely extended material interests of a great nation, and thereby developing the national resources, and promoting the national happiness, meet our hearty approval.

3. That we heartily indorse the action of Congress in abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia, in prohibiting its existence in all territory now or hereafter in the possession of the United States, and the message of the President and the action of the national legislature relative to emancipation upon compensation, in the slave States of the Union.

4. That Congress has the power, under the Constitution, to confiscate the property of traitors and rebels, and that such power should be resorted to, whenever and to the extent which the safety of the country, the Government and the Constitution may demand; that while we approve of the past policy of the National Government, we fully believe that forbearance towards wilful traitors should cease, and that the President, as Commander-in-Chief of the army, will be justified in exercising the power of emancipating the slaves of those now in armed and persistent rebellion against the Government, as a military necessity, and that Congress will be justified in providing at lawful and constitutional means for the same purpose, to the end that this fearful waste of life and property may cease—that some indemnity for past losses may be obtained, and security be given to the Union and the cause of civil freedom for the future.

5. That slavery can but be recognized as the source of the present rebellion; and while we are unprepared to determine what may be the results it is bringing upon itself, we shall not be chargeable with wrongfully interfering with the domestic institutions of any State, if the war, which slavery has originated and is now waging against the life of the republic, shall result, as we desire it may, in destroying its political influence, and even removing it from our midst.

6. That New Hampshire will respond with alacrity to the call of the government for all the troops necessary to suppress this most iniquitous rebellion, and maintain, at all hazards, the integrity of the Union and the Constitution.

7. That the immense army and invincible navy which have sprung into existence during the present struggle, are the palpable evidences of the strength of the Republic; and that they have exhibited the efficiency and unsurpassed prowess of the citizen soldiery of a free people; have sustained the honor and added lustre to the history of the country, by their heroic fortitude and victorious achievements; and that every good citizen owes to each member of either arm of the service, a debt of respect and gratitude which calls for unfaltering sympathy and support.

8. That the great trials and difficulties which the present administration has been called to encounter, have served to enhance our confidence in the wisdom and integrity of Abraham Lincoln, whom Providence seems to have raised to the Chief Magistracy for a time like this; and that hereafter, as in times passed, he shall have our sympathy and support in the discharge of his high and responsible duties.

9. That the Secretary of State be directed to send copies of these resolutions to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of Congress, the Governors of the several States, and each Senator and Representative of this State in Congress.

RESOLUTION of thanks to the Third Regiment New Hampshire Volunteers.

Resolved, &c.: That the thanks of this Legislature are hereby tendered to the officers and soldiers of the Third Regiment, Lieut. Col. John H. Jackson commanding, for their bravery and soldierly bearing at the late severe encounter on James Island, near Charleston, S. C., where, amid all the perils and uncertainties of the conflict, they maintained the honor of the State, and won for themselves enduring praise; and that while the State appreciates their bravery and devotion, it shares in the sorrows of the friends of those who have fallen for their State and country.

Resolved, That these Resolutions, duly attested, be forwarded to the field and other officers of the Regiment, and that they be read at the head of the command. App'd, July 9, 1862.

AN ACT to provide for taking the depositions of persons in the military service of the United States.

Be it enacted, &c. Section 1. The colonel, lieutenant colonel and major of any regiment raised in this state, engaged in the regular or volunteer service of the United States, may administer oaths, take depositions, affidavits, or the acknowledgment of deeds or other instruments to be used or recorded in this State, of any person without this State, who, for the time being, shall serve in or be connected with such regiment, in the same manner, as a justice of the peace, or commissioner for this State, might do.

Sec. 2. Any oath administered by either of the officers named in the preceding section, and any deposition, affidavit, or acknowledgment certified by him, if otherwise in accordance with law, shall be as effectual for all purposes as if administered, taken or certified by any justice of the peace or commissioner of this State.

Sec. 3. Such officer, before he shall perform any of the duties assigned him by the provisions of this act, except of administering oaths, shall cause take and subscribe an oath or affirmation that he will well and faithfully perform all the duties as commissioner for the purposes aforesaid, which oath shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State within three months after the taking of the same, and a duplicate thereof annexed to all depositions or other instruments executed before him till the same is filed as aforesaid.

Sec. 4. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed.

Sec. 5. This act shall take effect from and after its passage, and remain in force until the second Wednesday of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three.

Sec. 6. Depositions may be taken by virtue of a commission issued by any court before which such deposition is to be used, either in term time or in vacation, upon interrogatories and cross interrogatories filed in the office of the clerk of said court; and the Supreme Judicial Court shall prescribe proper rules for filing said questions and taking such depositions, and shall direct the form of such commission

Steel Spring Saddle Horse,

(From the Home Journal)

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

EYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have noted as my sole agent. JOSIAH JENNES.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may20

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe pleuring pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most malignant character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Dr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by using a medicine which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no return from it since.

CAROLINE B. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.

SIMEON SWETT.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea and Humor Wash effected a radical cure, as I have had no sign of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.

HANNAH ROWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dizziness at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr Swett—Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

W. F. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 21, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and had previously your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without the natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but consumed grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." JEREL CHESLEY

THE STONE BLOCKADE.—In none of our operations against the rebellion have we been so unsuccessful as in our stone blockade. Even while John Bull was howling over the cruelty which he himself had practiced in Savannah river, our sunken ships were shifting their position in Charleston harbor, and the channel gradually deepening. The harbor of Charleston is now apparently as free of access as if no stone fleet had ever been sunk there.—The cause of this is the nature of the bottom, being almost a quicksand.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and dullness in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease are made to become as harmless as the simplest sillings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Emaciation, Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capsules, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

April 7—1y 3aw.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and specifics relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the sufferer soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston for a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The fire or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 20 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,

MATHEWS'

VENETIAN LIQUID

HAIR DYE.

☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1845; since that time it has been USED BY THOUSANDS, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.

THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one that will not fade, crock nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL SOFTNESS OF THE HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever made.

AN ANGELIC "SLAVE CATCHER."—The Chicago Times in support of its favorite idea of slave catching, quotes from Genesis, 46th chapter and 5th verse, as follows:

"And the angel of the Lord said—Return to thy mistress and submit to her bonds."

The Nashville, Tenn., Union, a paper published in a slave State, the writers for which understand the condition of society among which they live, thus retorts upon its Chicago contemporary. It says:

Ah, yes, Abraham, Hagar's master, was a loyal man, and believed in the "enforcement of the laws." The book of Exodus, the other hand, tells us that Moses, the servant of the Lord, abducted near 3,000,000 slaves from an obdurate and stiff-necked old rebel named Pharaoh, after he had polluted him with frogs, bit him with vermin, stung him with flies, covered him with boils, and pelted him with hail-stones; and when the old secessionist tried to chase them, the Lord opened the Red Sea and told them to skedaddle.

THE RIGHT MAN IN THE RIGHT PLACE.—A tall noble specimen of the down east farmer lad, from Somerset County, popped into the composing room of our office at 5 o'clock, yesterday morning, and with an air of concentrated amazement and curiosity, surveyed the action of the steam power press, as it threw off its accustomed burden of "light and intelligence."

There was something so peculiar in his appearance, that we ventured to enter into conversation.

"You're a stranger, perhaps, in this place," said we.

"Ray-thur," returned our friend, "I belong to the town of Solon, in this State. I heard the noise of this printing consarn, and I thought I'd come up and see it. You'd jest as leives as not, had'nt yer?"

"Certainly," said we, "but how long have you been in town?"

"Come last night, about two o'clock in the mornin."

"By what conveyance?" asked we.

"Shoes," answered he—"I footed it all the way clean from Solon."

"Somewhat tired?" we asked.

"More hungry than tired. I forget what grub looks like."

Having assured him of the certainty of a breakfast that morning, he became more loquacious.

"Well; I'll tell yer what I came for. I can't stand still and be drafted; so I thought I would list. There's a 'cruiting office, about here, ain't they?"

We gave him the necessary information, and the noble lad's eyes brightened up as he looked forward to the future, and he said, "I'll see some of them fellers," meaning the rebels. "I shot crows once, and I guess I can shoot other carrion."

The last time we saw him, he was trying to effect an entrance into a furniture shop in his search for some "grub."—Portland Press.

NEW HAMPSHIRE
MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR.
NOTICE TO THE
Citizens of the State of New Hampshire.
There is to be a MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR, for the encouragement of the Mechanic Arts, to be held
IN PORTSMOUTH,
To commence on the 15th of September,
AND CONTINUE FIVE DAYS.
The proceeds, over and above the expenses, to be expended to aid our volunteers.
There will be competent and impartial Committees chosen to decide on the merits of the various articles on exhibition, and all Premiums and Diplomas will be awarded in the various departments.
As this is the first Exhibition of the kind ever held in this State, we are determined it shall be successful. There is no possible reason why New Hampshire may not get up as good a show as any other State. We have as good MATERIAL, INTELLECT and ENERGY as the best. As this is to be a STATE instead of a County Fair, we would like to have our PLACE or PLACES represented by some specimens of the industry and ingenuity of her sons and daughters.
The most liberal arrangements will be made with the Railroads, for the transportation of articles for exhibition and visitors on the occasion.
N. B.—The best of care will be taken of all Articles sent in.
To the Ladies.
We ask for specimens of Needle Work, such as Embroidery, Worsted Work, Quilts, &c. Also specimens of Weaving, Spinning, Knitting, Crochet Work, Hair Work, Drawings, Paintings, Shell work, Cone and Leather Frames, and all kinds of Fancy Work.
N. B.—All articles should be sent in three or four days previous to the exhibition. All articles must be directed to HENRY H. CARTER,
Corresponding Secretary,
Portsmouth, N. H.
For further information apply to the same.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Col. Corcoran has at last been released and has arrived at Washington. He addressed a regiment there on Sunday afternoon, urging a vigorous prosecution of the war. Col. Wilcox, Lieut. Col. Bowman and Maj. Vodges were released with him.

The Santiago de Cuba captured the British steamer Columbia, about 75 miles from Abaco, after a chase of six hours.—She had left Nassau the day previous, ostensibly bound for St. Johns, under British colors, but having no register whatever.—She had a cargo of 40 Armstrong guns, several thousand Enfield rifles, army blankets and other articles. The Columbia is a new iron propeller of 400 tons, and her cargo cost $200,000.

The rebels at Gordonsville are reported to be further reinforced. Our troops on Saturday captured over 200 bags of flour, marked "Confederate States," probably amounting to 12,000 pounds. There was a general advance of our forces towards the Rapidan on Sunday morning.

A party of Jeff. Thompson's cavalry surprised a company of the 3d Missouri Regiment, 11 miles east of Helena, Arkansas, on the 11th. Our forces soon rallied and poured such a destructive fire into the enemy that they retired in confusion. Several of them were taken prisoners.

Poindexter's gang of guerrillas were attacked by Col. Guitar and scattered in utter confusion in Chariton county, Mo., on Thursday. It is said that not less than 200 or 300 were killed or wounded. Guitar's men fought the rebels 18 miles running.

Harrison's Landing was entirely evacuated by the Union troops on Saturday morning, and at about the same time Gen. McClellan's advance arrived at Williamsburg.

One hundred rebel cavalry drove in the Union pickets at Suffolk on Friday night. Some excitement prevails there.

The steamer Trade Wind, from New Orleans 6th, arrived at New York on Sunday night. Her passengers report that the rebels, under Breckinridge, attacked Baton Rouge on the 5th, but were repulsed. Gen. Williams had his head shot off by a cannon ball. The steamers North Star and Roanoke, from New Orleans 10th, bring the particulars. The fight took place on the edge of the town, Gen. Williams being unwilling to expose helpless women and children. We captured a large number of prisoners, including Capt. Blunt, Breckinridge's Aid. A letter states that the fight between the Essex and Arkansas was a fair stand-up fight. Porter lay three hundred yards distant, pouring solid nine-inch shot into the Arkansas until a breach was made, when an incendiary shell was exploded in the breach, setting her on fire. The rebel crew then left her, and she soon exploded. Gen. Butler has issued a congratulatory order, in which he says: "The enemy lost three Brigadier Generals (killed, wounded and prisoners, and many colonels and field officers. He has more than one thousand killed and wounded. You have captured three pieces of artillery, six caissons, two stand of colors, and a large number of prisoners." The official report of Col. Cahill, commanding the post after the death of Gen. Williams, states that "the rebel force was about ten regiments. After a fight of four hours of great severity, the enemy were repulsed. Gen. Williams was killed by a rifle ball through the chest. Our force engaged numbered less than 2500. The enemy had at least 5000, with 12 or 14 field pieces and some cavalry. The ram Arkansas approached with the intention of engaging our gunboats, but grounded at a distance of six miles, and to day (the 6th inst.) was engaged by the Essex and destroyed.—Brig. Gen. Clark and his aid, Lieut. Tergery, delivered themselves to us as prisoners of war. I have also 70 wounded prisoners and about 30 captured."

Gen. Hovey's division had a fight on Monday near Clarendon, Ark. Our force consisted of 6 regiments of infantry, and the rebel force of 8 regiments of cavalry and a part of Hindman's brigade. The battle raged fiercely for some time, with destructive effects on both sides, but resulted in the defeat of the rebels and the capture of 700 prisoners.

A Washington dispatch says Cassius M. Clay is to be assigned to a very important command west of the Mississippi.

☞ Some shrewd individual in Philadelphia took advantage of the turbid state of the public mind in reference to drafting, and advertised to let them into the secret of escaping the conscription, for a consideration. As might be supposed, he was flooded with "applicants," with the required number of postage stamps, for which he returned a slip of paper, on which was written the word "enlist."

☞ The Nicargua route to California is re-opened and a line of steamers established. Travellers will now have the choice of two routes, and the benefit of a healthy competition.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Statesman says that Rev. Henry E. Parker, chaplain of the 2d Regiment, is expected to resume his pulpit labors in Concord at the close of the present month.

—— Belknap and Carroll Counties received authority, on Tuesday last, to raise a regiment and elect their own officers, if they could do it in ten days. The first three days 600 enlisted for it. The American states that the friends of the regiment propose the name of Col. T. J. Whipple, late of the 4th, for Colonel, and George W. Stevens for Lieut. Colonel.

—— The citizens of Sanbornton, who have voted to give a bounty of $300 to volunteers for three years, and $200 to those for nine months, held another meeting on Thursday. Stirring speeches were made by Col. Thomas J. Whipple and others, after which fifty young men enlisted for three years. Others came forward on Friday to enlist, if the town would receive them.

—— Should the order from the War Department, that no officers now in the field can be taken under any circumstances for new regiments, be strictly carried out, it will prevent Capt. Barker from being Col. of the Twelfth, Maj. Stevens Lieut. Col. of the Ninth, and Capt. Littlefield Lieut. Col. of the Eleventh.

—— The Mirror pertinently asks:

"Why should not part of the regiments be quartered near where they are enlisted? Why not one at Laconia? One at Portsmouth? One at Dover? Why Concord be reaping a harvest out of the whole? If it is objected that these places are not centrally located, let us have half the regiments at Manchester."

—— The Tenth Regiment is full, and commenced going into camp at Manchester, on Monday. About forty of their tents arrived on Friday, the last on hand at the Quartermaster's Department at Boston.—The succeeding regiments have been notified that they will have to make temporary barracks.

ITALY.—Affairs in regard to Garibaldi's movements remain unchanged. Garibaldi received the King's proclamation from the hands of a deputation in the midst of his friends, and repelled the entreaties of the deputation to regard it.

The Times' correspondent at Turin says Garibaldi had gathered together at Naples, about five hundred adventurers from the main-land. Altogether his force does not certainly exceed eight hundred and fifty men and boys. They were at first unarmed, but were afterwards supplied by stratagem with a few hundred muskets.

Garibaldi was in no lack of money, more than three million francs having been sent him from the Mazzinian and Garibaldian Committees in England.

U. S. BOUNTIES.—It should be borne in mind, by all who have any idea of volunteering, that bounties will be paid by the United States for all who enlist in the new regiments now organized, up to Friday next, the 22d inst.—but no longer.

Bounties and advance pay will go to those who volunteer to fill up old regiments till the first of September and no longer.—If they are not then filled, a special draft will be ordered. If the regiments now organizing are not filled by the 22d inst., they will be consolidated, and superfluous officers mustered out of service. So says the Secretary of War.

SAD.—John Luch, of Milwaukee, enlisted some months ago. His wife was almost broken hearted at his departure for the war, but as she began to recover her spirits, their little boy was drowned. The father hearing of this, obtained a short furlough to visit his wife, but arrived the day she had been carried bereft of reason to the almshouse.—Learning that there was little if any hope of her recovery, he reported at headquarters and very soon afterward committed suicide with a pistol.

☞ Another reform of considerable importance has been begun in the navy. The era of iron-clads and steamers having rendered obsolete the old sailing vessels, the latter will probably not be used in this country again in any active capacity worth speaking of, and certain descriptions of transports, school-ships, receiving ships, and "guardors," are henceforward to be exclusively sailing craft, the steamers being required for quick movements. Fifteen months ago we had forty sail, above and excluding the rank of corvettes, on the Naval Register, all propelled by canvass. The following are now the only sailing vessels of the regular navy employed cruising:

	Guns.	Tonnage.	Where.
Frigate St. Lawrence	50	1,726	Blockade.
Frigate Santee	50	1,726	Galveston
Corvette Constellation	24	1,452	Mediter'n.
Corvette Portsmouth	22	1,037	Blockade.
Corvette St. Mary's	22	958	Pacific.
Saratoga	20	882	EastIndies.
Vincennes	14	700	.....
Vandalia	24	.....	.....
St. Louis	18	726	Mediter'n.
Cyane	18	722	Pacific.

These and the three old storeships are all now cruising, of the thirty sea-going sailing ships which constituted more than one-half of our entire naval forces on the 1st of January, 1861.

☞ The Boston quota of 2370 for three years' service now lacks about 350 of being complete.

SALISBURY BEACH.—By invitation of Messrs. Kimball & Co., proprietors of the Atlantic House, Salisbury Beach, Mass., a number of editors and other "important" and influential gentlemen, spent a day in company, at the Atlantic, last week. Those who went by rail were taken in Mr. Kimball's carriages at the depot, (over three miles of mostly sandy road, like the approach to Boar's Head,) to the hotel, and were returned to the depot in the evening, "in good order and well conditioned." We rejoice to have been of that party—which was as small as it was select, and as large as it was jovial. There were Huse and Colby of the Newburyport Herald, who as old acquaintances with the premises, did the honors of the house and the occasion, in the name of the host, in good style;—and Peabody was there, and others of those writers who help to make the Herald about the best of the small Dailies; Elder Carter of the Christian Herald; the genial Maj. Ben. "Perley" Poore, of the Boston Journal; Draper, of Andover Advertiser; Mayor Jackman, and a majority of the Aldermen, and several Councilmen, of Newburyport; and other accompanying guests; besides a houseful of other company.

After a capital dinner, and a half-hour of social table-talk, a game of ten-pins was in order—which pins, however, His Honor knocked out of order as fast as they were set up. He proved a perfect ten-striker, and led the party in bowling, as far as he stood above them in personal and political elevation.

As for "Perley," who has his tent pitched on the bank at the Beach, and is "camping" for a couple of months with his family—he looks and appears so like our friend Niles of Boston advertising celebrity, and Br. Clarke of the Manchester Mirror, that we could but feel at home with him at once. Colby of the Herald, with his family, are also camping in a tent here; and there are other tents, to the number of a score or so, —forming quite a village—from all parts. And gay time the occupants have, too, (except when thunder squalls blow down their cloth houses about their ears, occasionally.) The mornings and evenings are especially lovely; and Salisbury Beach is one of the very best for bathing.

And of all places we ever visited, where people "throw off the restraints of society," this beats all—these camps. Why, not "restraint" alone, but almost everything else was thrown off; and not only children, but most estimable young ladies, and grave and decorous matrons, after "going in wading," ran about the sands in leggings of the true "buff,"—limbs as guiltless of covering as a crane's, and as well stripped for deep-water wading, too. We have always thought, since the day it occurred, that whoever was at the last State Fair in Dover, saw there, in that clear and strong northwest wind, the richest exhibition of "twin calves" and embroideries, that a life-time would disclose to mortal man's delighted vision; but we were mistaken, and the picture at Salisbury takes the palm, in closeness to nature, at least. Something depends on the taste of the fortunate spectator, however,—whether he prefers nature's beauties au naturel, or whether he considers charms heightened by draperies which "cover but not conceal."—Ye who are tired of "the conventionalities," go to Salisbury Beach.

Salisbury Beach, we think, is the finest we ever visited. For five continuous miles the sands are hard, and smooth as a floor—a yellowish sand, much like Wallin's Sands, with not a rock or stone—not so much as a pebble, that we saw, to throw at a dog, if you had occasion to, which, by the way, we didn't. The sea view is very broad and beautiful — Newburyport and the Merrimack river a mile or two to the right, and Seabrook, Boar's Head and Agamenticus at the far left; in front, "the dark blue sea," studded with a fleet of white-winged small craft. The Shoals are not in front to break the wide "open sea" view, and apparently hem you in, as at Rye, and somewhat at Hampton. The ocean view at Salisbury is the most satisfying of any place that we know. For bathing, there is a great reach of shoal water, and at proper times, little or no under-tow. The breakers roll in here delightfully; it appeared to us, more charmingly than we ever beheld elsewhere. One reason of this is the very long, smooth beach, with not a single point, reef or rock to break the endless continuity of "combers," which chased each other in on the sands, as far as the eye could reach, the deep blue waves beautifully contrasting with their white crests, to the number of half a dozen sections or rank—the spray breaking from each precisely as light snow curls over the drift the winter wind is piling up. That was indeed a lovely scene, and an enjoyable day.

These campers-out did another queer thing, too. We saw tables-full of them eating dinner from tables spread outside their tents,—with heads uncovered, and nothing whatever between them and the hot sun of a clear summer noon. We should about as soon think of getting into Nebuchadnezzar's furnace, to sleep.

We decided Salisbury Beach to be a nice place to visit—though the approach to it by land is somewhat sandy, and there is little shade except in the house itself—which is new and nice, and though not large, is very comfortable, quiet and well kept. Messrs. Kimball & Co., with their assistants, down or up to the sociable and good-natured drivers, spare no pains to make all visitors feel at home—and if any could fail of that there, they had better stay at home. For our part, it will be long before we forget our day there; but we hope not so long before we try it over again.

THE SUMMONS.

My ear is full of summer sounds,
With summer sights my languid eye;
Beyond the dusty village bounds,
I listen for my daily rounds,
And in the noontime shadows lie.

The wild bee winds his drowsy horn.
The bird swings on the ripened wheat,
The long green lances of the corn
Are rifling in the warm noonmorn,
The locust shrills his song of heat.

Another sound my spirit hears,
A deeper sound that drowns them all,—
A voice of pleading echoed with tears,
The call of human hopes and fears,
The Macedonian cry to Paul!

The storm-bell rings, the trumpet blows;
I know the word and countersign;
Wherever freedom's outguard goes,
Where stand or fall her friends or foes,
I know the place that should be mine.

Shamed be the hands that idly fold,
And lips that woo the reed's accord,
When laggard time the hour has tolled
For true with false and new with old
To fight the battles of the Lord!

O brothers! blest by partial Fate
With power to match the will and deed,
To him your summons come too late,
Who sinks beneath his armor's weight,
And has no answer but God-speed!

—JOHN G. Whittier.

Speaking by

MUSIC BY THE PORTSMOUTH CORNET BAND.

It is requested that all places of business shall be closed at 6 o'clock that all may attend these meetings.

By order of the Mayor and Aldermen.

For the Chronicle.

OUR VOLUNTEERS.—We are glad to see a new state of things at our recruiting stations. Some of the best young men of our city are now coming forward, and enrolling their names for their country's service. There are found among the volunteers worthy companions of any young man who has the noble heart to leave all that is dear at home, in obedience to his country's call. Our quota is fast coming in. The bounties and wages which are now offered are admitted, by those who think of enlisting, to be liberal enough.

One thing alone is wanting to fill our quota with such men as we may be proud to send. That is,—our brave volunteers must be made to feel that they have the earnest sympathy and the heartfelt gratitude of the citizens for whom, and in whose place they go forth to the strife. They must know that we realize that they are fighting for us and all we hold dear. We must not withhold the meed of praise from our brothers, as they go forth to the strong support of our hopes; and when they return with victory perched upon their banners, we must welcome them home with the highest honors a grateful people can show.

Can we not make some public demonstration in honor of these brave men, the recollection of which may remind them when far away on the tented field, or in the hour of battle, that they have friends at home, who are ever watchful for their honor and welfare. Why not illuminate our dwellings, escort them through our streets with a tremendous turn-out of torch lights, with music and fire-works, and furnish them with the best collation that can be provided? Such a demonstration would afford all an opportunity to do something for the cause, and to show that our hearts and hands are in this work. SELMA.

MENDELSSOHN CLUB.—The musical public will be glad to learn that this always-popular Quintet Band, are to give one of their excellent instrumental concerts in Portsmouth, Wednesday evening, Sept. 3d. The Club have a new vocal assistant, a lady singer who has been winning great favor with their audiences for several months.—Concerning her a Manchester print says:

"Miss D. P. Pearson has a voice of much compass, strength and ease of execution, and gives great promise. Her freedom from art, her apparent timidity, pleases, in spite of a wish that she could look more complacently upon her audience. She strives to please her audience by singing and not by winning ways, and she gains her point.—She was so vociferously encored by her last set piece that she had to re appear, and sung the "Flag of our Union forever" with thrilling effect. She then, for the first time, seemed to break the bars between her and the audience, and to be at home, and delighted to be present. Now she would be an immense favorite here. The Club will do well here at any time."

☞ Paymaster Wm. H. Thompson, U. S. N., of this city, has been ordered to report to Rear Admiral Paulding, at New York, for a passage in the U. S. steamer Connecticut, to report to Rear Admiral Farragut for duty on board the U. S. steam frigate Susquehanna, now in the Gulf.

☞ Niagara Engine Co., No. 2, Capt. John Legbourn, of Lawrence, Mass., rather took our firemen by surprise on Monday evening. They had been on an excursion from Newburyport to the Shoals, in the schooner Prioress, Capt. Thurlow, accompanied by the Lawrence Brass Band, and concluded to come up to this city to pass Monday night. They number about 40 men, and the house of No. 6 was thrown open for their accommodation, the members, as usual, being found ready to do all in their power to make the stay of the company agreeable. They will leave this morning in the Prioress on their return home.

☞ At a special meeting of the City Council, held on Monday evening, the two Boards passed in concurrence an ordinance granting the bounty of $200 to all who enlist to fill up the city's quota, previous to the 1st of September. By the provisions of the previous ordinance the time was limited to the 19th of August.

☞ A FIRST RATE NOTICE.—We are permitted to publish the following commendation from one of our intimate personal friends, to another—from one brave soldier at the seat of war, to another who wants to go,—and whom we hope this strong endorsement will help get there.

HEADQUARTERS 3D REGT. N. H. V.
N. J. COFFIN:—Sir:—I am glad to hear that you have returned from California safe. You have come just in time to take a part in this war. You are just the kind of man we want. * * Enclosed you will find a letter of recommendation, which I hope will assist you in your affairs with the State. * * * I hope you may succeed in getting your commission.

Very respectfully yours,
JOHN H. JACKSON, Lt. Col. Com'g.

☞ We would state for the information of those interested—and who is not interested in our Volunteers?—that Mr. N. F. Palmer, whose funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, was the eldest son of a worthy widow lady residing at the west end. He is represented to have been a moral, capable young man, and, to have done everything in his power to add to the comfort and happiness of his mother and younger brothers. During his connection with the Second Regiment he has frequently written to them, and insisted upon their accepting the full amount of his monthly pay for their own use. We are informed that three of his brothers have died from the same disease,—typhoid fever.

The body was embalmed and forwarded by Company K, at their own expense, and it was their special request that he should be buried under arms.

☞ The managers of that Excursion to the Lakes, (the Railroad and Steamboat Companies,) desire us to state that the tickets will probably nearly all be disposed of to-day, so that few if any can be had at the depot. It is the cheapest riding we ever heard of; and most of it through lovely scenery, too. Indeed, so much travel is there for your money, that it would appear to some that it might be tiresome; but Conductor Langley says the only ones who complained before, were those who couldn't get into the train! See advertisement.

☞ The salute at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, on Monday morning, was fired in honor of Rear Admiral Storer, and that in the afternoon, in honor of Asst. Secretary of War Fox.

Morning Chronicle.

—— Col. Marston, of the 2d Regiment, it is reported, says that the vacancies in his regiment must be filled with men from the ranks, who are entitled to this reward for their service.

—— The Mirror tells the following:

A woman was in Concord a day or two since, inquiring the way to the jail. She said her son had been arrested and put in irons, she understood, for fleeing to Canada. The one who told her the way, informed her that if he was arrested, it was because he was a coward. She said: "I can't help that; I'd rather he'd be killed outright here than go out South and be cut up into junks!" and the tears rolled down her cheeks lustily as she spoke. He told her it was of no use to go about spending her money to look after her son. "Money! money!" she replied; "there ain't no money! you give a dollar bill and get postage stamps, and they ain't good for nothing;"—and her tears fled, she laughed and turned on her heel, as happy as if she had won a victory.

A Yorkshire boy went into a public house, where a gentleman was eating eggs. The boy looked extremely hard at him for some time, and then said, "Will you be good enough to give me a little salt, sir?" "Ay, certainly, boy; but why do you want salt?" "Perhaps, sir, you will invite me to eat an egg, presently, and I should like to be ready." "What country are you from, my lad?" "Yorkshire, sir." "I thought so—there take an egg." "I thank you, sir," said the boy. "Well," added the gentleman, "they are all great horse-stealers in your country, are they not?" "Yes," rejoined the boy; "my father, though an honest man, would mind no more stealing a horse than I would drinking your glass of ale—your health, sir," added he, and drank it up. "That will do," said the gentleman, "I see you're Yorkshire."

The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office are the fees and are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The fire or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

The Chronicle.

THE UNFORTUNATE LOVER.—Mr. Bradshaw, M. P. for Canterbury, who "fell in love" with Marie Tree, having heard that the songstress had taken a place in the Birmingham mail, booked the rest for himself, in the name of Tomkins, and resolved to make the most of the opportunity afforded him. Unfortunately, his luggage and the songstress went by one mail, while he, through a mistake, travelled by another.—The story is thus told by Capt. Gronow:—

"On arriving at Birmingham, early in the morning, he left the coach and stepped into the hotel, determined to remain there, and go to the theatre on the following evening. He went to bed and slept late the following day; and on waking, he remembered that his trunk, with all his money, had gone to Manchester, and that he was without the means of paying his way.

Seeing the Bank of Birmingham opposite the hotel, he went over and explained his position to one of the partners, giving his own banker's address in London, and showing letters addressed to him as Mr. Bradshaw. Upon this, he was told that with such credentials he might have a loan; and the banker said he would write the necessary letter and check and send the money over to him at the hotel. Mr. Bradshaw, pleased with this kind attention, sat himself down comfortably to breakfast in the coffee room. According to promise, the cashier made his appearance at the hotel, and asked the waiter for Mr. Bradshaw. 'No such gentleman here,' was the reply. 'O yes, he came by the London mail.' 'No, sir; no one came but Mr. Tomkins, who was booked as inside passenger to Manchester.' The cashier was dissatisfied; but the waiter added—'Sir, you can look through the window of the coffee room door, and see the gentleman yourself.' On doing so, he beheld the Mr. Tomkins, alias Mr. Bradshaw, and immediately returned to the bank, telling what he had seen and heard.

The banker went over to the hotel, had a consultation with the landlord, and it was determined that a watch should be placed upon the suspicious person who had two names and no luggage, and who was booked to Manchester, but had stopped at Birmingham. The landlord summoned Boots,—a little lame fellow, of most ludicrous appearance,—and pointing to the gentleman in the coffee-room, told him his duty for the day was to follow him wherever he went, and never to lose sight of him; but above all to take care that he did not get away. Boots nodded assent, and immediately mounted guard.

Mr. Bradshaw having taken his breakfast and read the papers, looked at his watch, and sallied forth to see something of the goodly town of Birmingham. He was much surprised at observing a little odd-looking man surveying him most attentively, and watching his every movement; stopping whenever he stopped, and evidently taking a deep interest in all he did. At last, observing that he was the object of this incessant espionnage, and finding that he had a shilling left in his pocket, he hailed one of the coaches that ran short distances in those days when omnibuses were not. This, however, did not suit little Boots, who went up to him and insisted that he must not leave the town.

Mr. Bradshaw's indignation was naturally excessive, and he immediately returned to the hotel, where he found a constable ready to take him before the Mayor as an imposter and swindler. He was compelled to appear before his worship, and had the mortification of being told that unless he could give some explanation, he must be content with a night's lodging in a house of detention. Mr. Bradshaw had no alternative but to send to the fair charmer of his heart to identify him; which she most readily did, as soon as rehearsal was over. Explanations were then entered into; but he was forced to give the reason of his being in Birmingham, which, of course, made a deep impression on the lady's heart, and led to that happy result of their interview, —a marriage, which resulted in the enjoyment of mutual happiness for many years."

NEW HAMPSHIRE
MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR.
NOTICE TO THE
Citizens of the State of New Hampshire.

There is to be a MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR, for the encouragement of the Mechanic Arts, holden

IN PORTSMOUTH,

To commence on the 15th of September,

AND CONTINUE FIVE DAYS.

The proceeds, over and above the expenses, to be expended to aid our volunteers.

There will be competent and impartial Committees chosen to decide on the merits of the various articles on exhibition, and liberal PREMIUMS will be awarded in the various departments.

As this is the first Exhibition of the kind ever held in this state, we are determined it shall be successful. There is no possible reason why New Hampshire may not get up as good a show as any other State. We have as GOOD MATERIAL, INTELLECT and ENERGY as the best. As this is to be a STATE instead of a County Fair, we would like to have EVERY PART OF THE STATE represented by some specimens of the industry and ingenuity of her sons and daughters.

The most liberal arrangements will be made with the Railroads, for the transportation of articles for exhibition and visitors on the occasion.

N. B.—The best of care will be taken of all Articles sent in.

To the Ladies.

We ask for specimens of Needle Work, such as Embroidery, Worsted Work, Quilts, &c. Also specimens of Weaving, Spinning, Knitting, Crochet Work, Hair Work, Drawings, Paintings, Shell work, Cone and Leather Frames, and all kinds of Fancy Work.

N. B.—All articles should be sent in three or four days previous to the exhibition. All articles must be directed to HENRY M. CARTER,
Corresponding Secretary,
Portsmouth, N. H.
For further information apply to the same.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

From an official report made by John S. Clark, Aid de-camp to Gen. N. P. Banks, it appears that the total force of the rebels engaged in the recent battle near Cedar Mountain was 24,913, divided as follows:—Infantry, 21, 613; cavalry, 2300; artillery, 1000.

A dispatch from our camp near Cedar Run, Aug. 18, states that scouts report no heavy force of rebels within ten miles of that point. It was believed that Jackson had gone in some other direction, and may appear where he is least expected.

The citizens of Kansas City, Mo., are all ordered to be enrolled and armed against a threatened attack by the rebels.

The Federal troops lately composing the Indian expedition, with the exception of three Indian regiments, are supposed to be at Fort Scott, or marching thence.

Three thousand rebel cavalry are at Richmond, Ky., twenty-five miles south of Lexington. They are supposed to be the advance guard of a large body.

The N.Y. Tribune's letter from Harrison's Landing, 16th, gives the particulars of the evacuation. On the Monday night previous Gen. McCall's division was taken away in steamers to Aquia Creek. Next an order was issued that no more vessels with supplies should proceed further than Fortress Monroe, and on Wednesday ten days' rations were served to the army. On Thursday the army commenced evacuating in earnest. All the siege guns were removed from the front, and safely embarked. On Thursday night fifty sail of vessels left different wharves, loaded with stores, and on Friday the remainder of the stores were placed in boats and steamers by contrabands. All the cavalry that remained acted as pickets, and a strong rear guard of infantry and artillery was placed to protect the baggage trains. The sick and wounded were placed on regular steamboats belonging to the Sanitary Commission, and were among the first to move into the stream. The contrabands were shipped in schooners, barges and pontoon boats. Gen. McClellan and most of his staff went by land.

The army of the Potomac was crossing the Chickahominy on Saturday by a pontoon bridge 2000 feet in length, formed of upward of 100 boats. By noon all the reserve artillery of Gen. Porter's army had crossed, and others were rapidly following. Our entire fleet of transports had arrived at Fortress Monroe, on Sunday.

ELECTION IN NORTH CAROLINA.—The Newbern, N. C., Progress, of the 12th inst., in speaking of the election in that State, which was held on the 7th inst., says:—

"The final result indicates the defeat of Johnson, the Secession candidate for Governor, by the unparalleled majority of 40,000. The glad tidings come to hand just as we go to press, of the complete overthrow of secession in every department of this State. The Union opposition party have elected nearly every member in both branches of the Legislature by still greater majorities. Every candidate who advocated a continuance of the war and a separation from the Union has been defeated in every instance. It has been a fair and square issue, strictly of a political nature, with no side or local issues of any kind. Gov. Stanley regards this vote as an emphatic decision in favor of the Union."

☞ The election of Col. Vance as Governor of North Carolina by 40,000 majority over Johnson, the outright secession candidate, is looked upon as a conservative Union triumph. Hon. John R. Haskin, late member of Congress, says:—

Mr. Vance was in Congress when I was there, and I know him well. I always found him voting in favor of the Union, and opposing the Southern fire-eaters, who for the last thirty years have been inflaming the minds of the Southern people against the people of the North, making them believe that they were all abolitionists; and now he has been elected Governor of his State by over 40,000 majority over an out-and-out Secessionist who ran against him. It is a good omen, and shows that the people of the South are reconsidering their course.

☞ The Baltimore people—those who are really for the Union—have no fear of harting the rebels, and in a great Union rally have resolved in favor of confiscation and emancipation of the property and slaves of rebels, as essential means of crippling the power of those now in arms against the Government, and they heartily "approve the policy of confiscating the property of the leaders of the rebellion, and declaring the slaves of every rebel free from all obligation to obey those who refuse to obey the laws of the land."

TEMPLETON, Mass., is a town of 2500 inhabitants. Before the last calls, it had sent over 100 men to the war. Its quota, 30, of the late call is full and running over. The call for nine months' men will be readily answered; and petitions are in circulation asking Gov. Andrew to call out a reserve militia to be ready for any emergency.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Seventeen of the Manchester printers, who were at work when the war commenced, have enlisted and gone to the war or are in camp waiting orders to move.—The usual quota of hands in the printing offices of that city is twenty-two.

—— The regiments of this State are all to be filled to the maximum number, 101 to a company, instead of the minimum, as at first proposed.

—— A letter from Sanbornton to the Mirror says "the farmers have much to encourage them. The hay and grain crops are nearly gathered, and have been bountiful in the extreme, and overflowing barns and bursting granaries gladden the hearts of the husbandmen. Corn, potatoes and the later crops are looking finely, and the fruit crop promises to be abundant." And the Journal of Agriculture "learns from good authority that the prospects for a fine crop of corn, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather in the first part of the season, were never better throughout the State."

—— Bridget Kelliher, a servant girl who has been in the family of Mr. Judd, of New Haven, Conn., was arrested in Manchester on Saturday, for stealing from her employer $200 or $300 worth of property—silver ware, women's wearing apparel, bedclothing, a pair of pants with $7 in the pocket, and other articles—sufficient to fill two large trunks. She was traced to Manchester, but it was found difficult to decide in which one of five or six hundred boarding houses she had taken up her abode.—One of the officers, however, set his wife to work hunting Bridget up, and of course the thing was done.

—— The R. W. Grand Encampment of Odd Fellows of this State held their annual meeting at Franklin on Monday. The R. W. Grand Lodge met at the same place on Tuesday.

—— One of "the returned fishermen of the yacht Onward," (the party from Manchester who were stopped at Fort McClary, charged with endeavoring to escape the draft,) publishes an account of their trip in the American. They seem to appreciate the joke of their detention highly, and even smile at the exploit of him "whose dimmed vision one night saw dangerous rocks on the lee bow, and frantically called to a mate for explanation, saying that he could not tell what it was, as he had left his glasses in the basement."

—— In Lebanon on Monday, the 11th inst., a little daughter of Mr. Andrew Heath, four years old, while playing with matches, set fire to her clothes, and before help could reach her was so severely burned that she lived but a short time.

—— The Methodist Society in Seabrook are improving their church by an addition of twelve feet to one end, and the erection of a bell tower.

—— Gen. N. Julian, of Exeter, late from Gen. Butler's army, has been appointed captain of Co. B, 11th Regt. N. H. V.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

EPPING, AUG. 19.—Messrs Editors:—Did you ever sail up the Piscataqua river, to Exeter, or Newmarket? if not, lose no opportunity to do so; it will richly repay you. Or, if any of your citizens cannot go on the "Grand Excursion" to the lake, they will find a trip is one of the regular packets across Great Bay, equally interesting. The constantly changing scenery is no where excelled.

This afternoon, our Epping town meeting unanimously voted $200 to each of our volunteers, after the sudden ejection from the town house of the "Epping secessionist," by a young and spirited recruit.

Our usually quiet town is daily excited by the constant drill of Company A, 11th Regt., N. H. V., Capt. H. C. Bacon, composed of as good material as can be found; young men generally from among the oldest and most respectable families in this and the neighboring towns. EPPING.

BOSTON RACES.—The Fall Meeting of running blood horses, over the Franklin Park Course, takes place Sept. 18th, 20th, 23d and 25th, under direction of Mr. John L. Cassady, and Messrs. D. Robbins & Co., proprietors of the track, as before. The stakes and prizes are liberal, and amount to a large sum, and will draw out many of the best high-mettled racers in America and Canada. Look out for rare sport next month.

☞ The Jews of Chicago held a meeting on the 12th inst., and resolved to raise an Israelite company for the war. Those present subscribed $3000 to help along enlistments.

☞ The first volunteer from Maine, under the President's call for 75,000 men, was an Irishman in Lewiston, holding a position in Col. Corcoran's regiment.

☞ Hon. Albert Currier, of Newburyport, gave $1000 for the benefit of the families of volunteers from that city.

☞ Archbishop Hughes says that 600,000 is not a man too many, and that the people should insist on being drafted.

"Those who give up essential liberty to purchase temporary safety, deserve neither liberty nor safety."

CONCERNING THE WAR, enlistments, &c.,—let every man and woman ask themselves, if they have done and are doing all they can for their country and their State?—and not look over their own duty, to hunt up or show up the short-comings of any other man or woman.

We have hardly supposed that drafting would need to be resorted to in New Hampshire, or in New England; but it must be, unless the ranks are filled up speedily.—Let us all pull together, and not be sparing of the encouragements to enlist, nor of the provision for the families of "the brave Volunteers."

If ever there were good grounds to form a vote-yourself-a-farm party, the Volunteers will have it at the close of the war. And they ought not to be limited to new farms either. Some radical patriots go in for giving the Union army the lands and cities of the rebels; and it would seem that not only will they be entitled to all they conquer of the South, but that if they succeed in preserving the East and West from destruction, that their claims to these sections too, are better than anybody's else. Honor to whom honor!

☞ By Cunard steamship Europa, we have two days' later news from Europe. It is said that the rebel ambassadors had demanded the recognition of the Southern confederacy, and that England had refused while France had not given answer.

U. S. steamer Tuscarora arrived at Kingston on the 9th. The Confederate steamers Merrimac and No. 290 have both succeeded in escaping from the Tuscarora.

It is stated that Garibaldi refuses to obey Victor Emanuel's proclamation. It is also stated that he held a council of war on the 14th, at which it was determined to march on Rome, notwithstanding the remonstrance from Turin. The enthusiasm for Garibaldi is tremendous in Sicily, and it is reported that he will soon be at the head of 50,000 men.

☞ If our Vallandigham conservatives, says an exchange, had lived at the time of the first murder, they would have put it into a platform about as follows:

Resolved, That we are equally opposed to the pretended piety and evident fanaticism of Abel, and the unauthorized violence of the high toned and chivalrous Cain.

Resolved, That the 'Ultras' who are clamoring for the hanging of Cain, which would only exasperate him, desire to destroy the domestic happiness and peace of the family, and have no other purpose in view.

Resolved, That we are in favor of punishing both parties, and invite all conservative men to unite with us in frowning down this whole business.

Resolved, That nobody has a right to provoke murder, and if Abel had exhibited less fanaticism this one would never have occurred.

☞ The men employed in the Carpenters' Department of the Brooklyn Navy Yard held a meeting on Saturday, at which they adopted resolutions agreeing to give the wife of any man who may go to the war from that department the sum of $5 per week, and $1 extra per week for each child; also, agreeing to pay the parents of any unmarried man, who may be depending on him for support, the sum of $6 per week—if one only, $4 per week. Any unmarried man who has no one depending on him for support is guaranteed $10 bounty in addition to all other bounties.

AUGUST.

Thrice happy he, who on the sunless side
Of a romantic mountain, forest-crowned,
Beneath the whole collected shade reclines;
Or in the pelid grove, woodbine wrought,
And fresh bedewed with ever-spouting streams,
Sits coolly calm, while all the world without,
Unstitched and sick, toils in noon-tide.—
Emblem instructive of a virtuous man,
Who keeps his tempered mind serene and pure,
And every passion aptly harmonized,
Amid a jarring world with vice inflamed.
—Thomson's Seasons.

☞ Judge J. Thompson Mason, formerly Collector of the port of Baltimore, Joseph Stonebreaker, Sol. Keller, Joseph Williams, Dennis Prettiman and Samuel Price were taken to Baltimore on Monday evening, from Hagarstown, under arrest for refusing to take the oath of allegiance.

That old menagerie is getting itself advertised again in the Western papers.—This time the anaconda is said to have grabbed the keeper's hand in his mouth and thrown three coils around his body, but an assistant of "Herculean strength" uncoiled the monster, and the keeper was saved.—Post.

☞ Col. Michael Corcoran has received the appointment of Brigadier General, to date from the day on which he was captured. The enthusiasm at his reception in Washington was unbounded. The Colonel made a short impressive speech.

☞ The "U. S. Army Substitute Association" advertise in New York that they will forward substitutes for persons who may be drafted.

☞ There were five military funerals in Boston and vicinity on Sunday—three of them of captains in the Mass. 2d Regt.

THE SINKING OF THE CUMBERLAND.

BY RUTH HALL.

When the Epic becomes history,
We're now enacting fore the world,
And the mists of passion's clearest away
With the smoke from cannons curled,
Then, will the Poets sing,
And the world will ring
With the story
Ablaze with glory,
Of the good ship Cumberland.
Will tell of the Captain's battle cry,
Waving his shredded stump on high:
"We will fight her till we die,
Fight till the decks are crimsoned o'er,
Fight till the port holes stream with gore,
Fight till the cannon are blazing red,
Fight while living, fight o'er the dead,
And never—give up the Ship.
She has stove, she will sink us, stand to your gun,
Pick off the officers, one by one;
Load, take aim, fire, faster, faster,
We not alone shall rue this disaster.
Be cool, boys, be cool, our shot rip and tear her,
No mercy no quarter, we've no cause to spare her,
No need nail our colors, they'll float from the mast,
Till our livre dearly sold, they sink with us at last.
No orders on board from this how to the wheel,
From Captain to powder boy, all true as steel.
One shot more, I am dying, one more let me fling,
Then the Star-spangled Banner together, we'll sing.
We'll go down with the Cumberland, if it must be,
But living or dying, we still shall be free.
The beaten, and shattered, and sinking, we'll fight,
And descend to our graves, crying 'God speed the right!'" —Wilkes' Spirit.

WAR MEETINGS.

The 3d of the series of War Meetings will be held AT JEFFERSON HALL,

FRIDAY Eve'g, Aug. 22, at 7 1-2 o'clk.

Speaking by

HON. MOSES T. BROWN, of Ohio;
JOSEPH KIDDER, Esq., of Manchester.

MUSIC BY THE PORTSMOUTH CORNET BAND.

It is requested that all places of business shall be closed at 6 o'clock that all may attend these meetings.

By order of the Mayor and Aldermen.

WAR MEETING.—In accordance with the request of the City Government, the stores were closed at 6 o'clock, and the people assembled in front of Jefferson Hall, on Tuesday evening, to stimulate enlistments and to confer together in regard to the war.—The Portsmouth Cornet Band played several stirring pieces, and enlivened the intervals between the speeches by their admirable performances.

The attendance was very large, and the meeting was quite spirited. The addresses were excellent and effective, abounding in patriotism and inspiring in their enthusiasm. Mayor Simes called the meeting to order, and presented the following list of officers for the meeting, which was accepted:—Leonard Akerman, Esq., President:—Messrs. Peter Jenness, M. T. Betton, J. H. Thacher, C. C. Jackson, Vice Presidents; J. C. Brown, J. F. Shorey, Jr., Secretaries.

The speakers were Rev. Mr. Humphrey, of this city, Prof. Patterson, of Dartmouth College, Judge Cross, of Manchester, Hon. Mr. Johnson, of New Jersey, and Maj. Angell, of the 10th regiment. Our space will not permit us to give even the merest abstract of their eloquent and patriotic addresses. It was a great disappointment to the large assembly that Col. Donahoe was unable to be present, there being a general desire to see and hear the brave young officer.

After the meeting was adjourned, Chas. Robinson, Esq., made some remarks in regard to an increase of the bounty of $200, which were received with cheers.

☞ "Why don't Portsmouth have one of the new Regiments quartered here?"—Well, we will tell you—because that is everybody's business is nobody's; and it is necessary that some of our prominent business men should go to Concord, to secure the result. Nothing would so much stimulate enlistments here, as the camping of a regiment at the barracks of the 2d Regiment—which are still standing, and in most complete order for use, while temporary barracks must needs be built elsewhere.—Forty or fifty of the leading men of Manchester, went to Concord to urge the claims of their city, to State consideration; and three regiments have since been quartered in Manchester, as the result of their visit.—Is it not desirable, in a military and pecuniary point of view, that at least one of the new Regiments should be quartered here? And are not all our business men ready to make a trip to Concord? and will not some of them actually attend to it, forthwith?

For the Chronicle.

HOW MUCH A SOLDIER RECEIVES.—The summing up of a soldier's pay for one year's service, on the supposition that he will not be called upon for a longer time, is as follows:

City bounty,	$200
State bounty,	50
Government bounty,	100
One year's pay,	156
Board, clothing, &c., about	150
Total,	$656

With these inducements, and the chances of promotion, together with the promptings of conscientious duty,—who will refuse to respond now to the call of his country? *

For the Chronicle.

ARE WE ALL AT WORK?—Has every citizen in this city come to a full appreciation of the duty which he owes just now to his country? Are the "rich" men among us doing all they can to forward the work of recruiting? Are the young men all going who can? The best efforts of every man are asked and required now, and we trust no one will think that Portsmouth can send her quotas of men without personal sacrifice and effort.

☞ We are continually publishing communications complaining of this class or that, as not doing enough for the war, &c. We rarely refuse a well-written communication, insertion in our columns; but we do not wish to be understood as endorsing or approving all that is said by correspondents, now or at any other time. Why, the very fact that any signature is appended to an article or item, takes it out from under the editorial sanction at once. But we believe in a free press, and that the public voice should have full expression.

"SOLD AGAIN."—Great call was there on Tuesday morning, for tickets for the second Excursion to the Lakes on Wednesday. But already bad placards been issued to save the ticket-sellers trouble: "Excursion Tickets all sold!" We learn that all the tickets, some five hundred or more, were sold in Portsmouth this time, except a very few in Greenland; and that the train will not take passengers without tickets at any price. There were hundreds of persons in the city, and along the road, disappointed in not obtaining tickets; and we are desired to state that there will probably be another similar Excursion on Wednesday of next week, Aug. 27th, if arrangements can be made.

What think those croakers now, who said that not more than a couple of cars-full could be got out of Portsmouth for an Excursion? We told the managers, when they asked us about the matter—that they could get out eight hundred for such a dollar trip—and the probability is that they will have to accommodate more than twice that number in all.

☞ Capt. A. J. Stimson, of Co. K, 17th regiment, has been presented, at Camp King, Portland, with a regulation sword, belt and sash, by the members of Independent Artillery Co. A, of Kittery, of which company Capt. S. was formerly a member. At the same time and place six elegant bowie knives were also given to different members of Co. K, from the same source. The presentations were made by Mr. A. A. Hayes, of Kittery, with remarks appropriate to the occasion.

☞ A patriotic young man in this city, who is liable to be drafted, writes us that four of the skedaddlers from Portsmouth, have been heard from, at Prince Edward's Island—where they may be out of the way of draft; but, wherever known, they can never escape the shafts of ridicule and scorn which will henceforth be directed at them from all true patriots. Skedaddlers will be written down in history, with the blue light tories.

☞ Mr. Robert C. Peirce, of Greenland, has been appointed Acting Assistant Paymaster in the United States Navy.

☞ See Capt. Hart's advertisement of the new pleasure schooner Onward—which will be found a good vessel for the purpose.

☞ The New York Times says that Col. Charles P. Stone, U. S. A., and Brig. General of Volunteers, who has been for many months confined in Fort Lafayette, is at liberty and stopping with his family in that city.

☞ D. Plumb, of the Mercantile Agency of Plumb & Co., New York, is under arrest for treasonable sentiments and discouraging enlistments. He is a noted abolitionist.

☞ Morgan captured $150,000 in U. S. treasury notes, in Lebanon, Ky.

NEW GOODS

JUST RECEIVED FROM NEW YORK.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse,

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no one combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wears out of it. This latest of fashion novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it covered her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. Swett's PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, all witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it did not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may30ly

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prospered, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since. CAROLINE B. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.
SIMEON SWETT.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors, salt rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side, and in spite of cities of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure; as I have had no signs of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.
HANNAH ROWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dizziness at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to afford relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted, I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. F. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow worse till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries; Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the patents. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, on account of the peculiarity of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.
R. H. EDDY.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 8 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and Impure Blood, Impotency, Gleet, Strictura, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Consumption, Problems Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new and original principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

F. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the cool, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendam,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

Also on hand, the celebrated and unequalled

THE KING'S HEART'S-EASE.

A FABLE.

There was once a king, who had a very beautiful garden, with grounds arranged with taste, to please the eye, to afford refreshing shade, retired walks, commanding views, and, besides, all the delightful fruits that could be procured. There was one superb old oak, so high and grand that it could be seen for miles around. There were roses and lilies, and flowering shrubs of every kind; in short, nothing was wanting to make it a most perfect spot. One day the king's head gardener came and exclaimed:

"O, king, pray come and see what is the matter with your garden—everything is wilting, drooping and dying!"

While he spoke the other gardeners came running in, and all had the same story to tell. So the king went out, and there found all as they had said. He went up first to the grand old oak tree, his pride and admiration, and said:

"Why, oak, what is the matter with you, that you are wilting and dying away?"

"Oh, said the oak, 'I don't think I'm of any use, I'm so large and cumbersome; I bear no fruit or flowers, and I take up so much room; and, besides, my branches spread so wide and thick, that it is all dark and shadowy under them, and no flowers or fruit can grow there. Now, if I were a rose-bush, it would be worth while, for I should bear sweet flowers; or if I were a peach or a pear tree, or even like the grapevine, I could bear you fruit.'

The king next went to his favorite rose-bush, and said:

"Well, rose-bush, what is the matter with you?—why are you so drooping?"

"Why, said the rose-bush, 'I am of no use; I can bear no fruit—I have nothing but flowers. If I were an oak, like that in the middle of the grounds, I should be of some use; for then I could shelter you. I could be seen for miles around, and be an honor to your garden; but a it is, I might just as well die."

The king then went to the grape-vine, no longer clinging to the trellis and trees, but trailing sadly on the ground. He stopped and said:

"Grape vine, what is the matter with you? Why are you lying so dolefully on the ground?"

"Ah," said the vine, 'you see what a poor, weak creature I am; I don't even hold up my own weight, but must cling to a tree or post, and what can I do? I neither give shade like the oak, nor bear flowers like the shrubs; I always must depend for support upon something else, and surely I am of no use."

On went the king, quite in despair to see his place going to destruction; and it grieved him to think that for all the kind care and attention he had lavished upon his garden, he was to be repaid by murmuring and repining. But he suddenly spied a little heart's-ease (a small flower) low down on the ground, with its face turned up to him, looking as bright and smiling as possible.

He stopped and said:

"You dear little heart's-ease! what makes you look so bright and blooming, when everything around you is withering away?"

"Why," said the heart's-ease, 'I thought you wanted me here; if you had wanted an oak, you would have planted an acorn; if you had wanted roses, you would have set out a rose-bush; if you had wanted grapes, you would have put in a grape-vine. But I know what you wanted of me was to be a heart's-ease; so I thought I would try to be the very best little heart's-ease that ever I could.'

KNOW THYSELF.—"But whatever stand of mental excellence you thus form in your study of the Excellent; never, if you wish to be wise, let your standard make you intolerant to any other defects but your own. The surest sign of wisdom is charity; and the best charity is that which never ostentatiously parades itself as charity. For your idea of man as he ought to be always look upward; but to judge aright man as he is, never affect to stoop. Look your fellow-man straight in the face. Learn all you possibly can; and when you have learned that all, I request it, you will not converse with any man of sound brain who does not know something worth knowing more than yourself."

NEW HAMPSHIRE
MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR.
NOTICE TO THE
Citizens of the State of New Hampshire.
There is to be a MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR, for the encouragement of the Mechanic Arts, holden
IN PORTSMOUTH,
To commence on the 15th of September,
AND CONTINUE FIVE DAYS.
The proceeds, over and above the expenses, to be expended to aid our volunteers.
There will be competent and impartial Committees chosen to decide on the merits of the various articles on exhibition, and liberal PREMIUMS will be awarded in the various departments.
At this is the first Exhibition of the kind ever held in this State, we are determined it shall be successful. There is no possible reason why New Hampshire may not get up as good a show as any other State. We have as GOOD MATERIAL, INTELLECT AND ENERGY as the best. As this is to be a STATE instead of a County Fair, we would like to have EVERY PART OF THE STATE represented by some specimens of the industry and ingenuity of her sons and daughters.
The most liberal arrangements will be made with the Railroads, for the transportation of articles for exhibition and visitors on the occasion.
N. B.—The best of care will be taken of all Articles sent in.
N. B.—All articles should be sent in three or four days previous to the exhibition. All articles must be directed to HENRY M. CARTER, Corresponding Secretary, Portsmouth, N. H.
For further information apply to the same.

REWARDING THE ARMY.

The Continental Monthly for August, contains an article on Rewarding the Army with Southern Lands,—and the reconstruction of society in the rebel States, by the settlement of emigrant soldiers there.

The army of the United States at the present day contains within itself the best part of such free labor and intellect as is needed to reform the South. That dashing and daring energy which gladly enters on new fields, and loves bold enterprises, has streamed by scores of thousands from the farm and factory toward the camp and the battle-field. There it is doing brave service for God and for freedom. Every day sees martyrs for the holy cause drawn from the ranks of these good and noble volunteers. They die noble—ay, holy deaths, and as they die new aspirants for honor step forward to fill their places. When the war shall be over, it is to the army that we should look to revive the wasted South, to farm its exhausted plantations and employ its blacks. Is there no significance in the numerous anecdotes which reach us of Northern intellect already displaying itself in a thousand forms of restless activity?—The newspaper before us states that Gen. Shepley, in New Orleans, has threatened if the bakers of his conquered city do not supply bread more cheaply he will remodel their whole business and employ bakers from the army. 'Bakers from the army!' Ay, smiths, engineers, editors, and everything else are there, amply capable of reorganizing the whole South—of tilling its fields to greater advantage, of developing its neglected resources, of making the old, desolate, lazy, dissolute Southland hum with enterprise. Let them do it.

We may as well do it betimes with a good grace, for it is very doubtful if those who venture to oppose the settlement of our soldiers in the South, will not stir up such a storm of trouble as this country never saw. An army of half a million after a year or two years of battle-life, will not calmly return to its wonted avocations, notwithstanding all that has been said to that effect. A warrant for Western lands, which will possibly bring a hundred dollars, will seem but a small matter to men who have seen unlimited paths to competence in the rich fields of the South. They will not comprehend why the enemy should be allowed to retain his possessions while they themselves have been thrown out of employment.—There is to be some end to this protecting the rights and property of rebels. And it is very certain that a vast number of those who were non-combatants will perfectly agree with them.

It is pleasant to see the process of reconstruction going on so well in New Orleans under the bayonets of our troops. But neither in New Orleans nor elsewhere has it any vitality save under Northern direction, aided by Northern industry.

The task before us is a tremendous one, but so is the war, and we must not flinch from it.

We have come to an era of great ideas and great deeds, such as rarely overlyke nations in history, and which, when they do, either crush them to the dust or elevate them to the topmost pinnacle of glory. Petty expediency, timid measures, small politics, will no longer help this country. There is a great cause of evil in America—slavery—which is destined to disappear, and which will disappear, whether we legislate for or against it. It is disappearing now under the influences of the war. Beyond it lies the equally great evil of Southern hatred, inertia, laziness, ignorance and depravity. We must learn to live in the great ideas of making all this disappear before superior intelligence, industry and humanity.

If it be difficult to settle our army all over the South, let there be at least a vigorous beginning made in Texas and other States. With Texas thoroughly colonized from the North and from Europe, sedition would be under constant check, and its boasted cotton supremacy completely held in by an unlimited rival supply of free-labor cotton. Every Southern port should be held and governed as New Orleans is now being treated. In due time there would spring up a new generation of Southrons who would think of us as something else than cowardly, vulgar, stingy serfs, and learn that social merit is not conferred by being born on this or that piece of "sacred" dirt, but by full development and exercise of the talents with which God has gifted us.

But to do all this there must be no flinching. This is not the time to grate of the unrepresented rights of traitors, or wince at the prospect of reducing to poverty the men who have labored for years to reduce us to utter ruin!

☞ Another Government vessel is to be built on the Merrimack, Mayor Jackman of Newburyport having just completed a contract for a side-wheel steamer, to be 140 ft. long, with her hull 35 ft. wide, and the extreme width over the guards 54 ft.; and the depth of hold is to be 12 ft. She is to be 970 tons. Her upper works are to be covered with iron, rifle-proof, and the pilot house is to be covered with composition plates, rifle proof. The carpenters contract is $80,000, and she is to be launched in 18 weeks and the work completed in fifty days after. It is probable that she will go to New York for machinery. Mr. Jackman will put a hundred carpenters on the work at once, and this vessel will furnish employment for a large number of mechanics, tho' not at wages as high as they could have to go to the war.

☞ How much easier it is for some people to "blow" at what other folks do, than to do better themselves—isn't it?

☞ The 16th Maine Regiment, Col. Asa Waldo Wilder, passed through this city on Tuesday, for the seat of war.

BOUNTIES AND FINES, ENLISTMENT AND DRAFTING.—It may be well to remind all concerned, that the United States Bounty for the new regiments of three years Volunteers, will go to those only who enlist in such regiments, to-day (Thursday) or Friday.

U. S. Bounties and advance pay will go on for Volunteers to fill the old regiments now in the field, until Sept. 1;—and if not filled by Sept. 3, a special draft is expected for that purpose.

There is not, we think, any important conflict between the U. S. law and the N. H. law, about drafting, or volunteering for nine months, to serve with the men who are drafted for that purpose.

But there is considerable confusion of ideas about the matter, in many minds, arising in part from the numerous orders, State and National, on the subject.

Secretary Stanton's order, or code of instructions about drafting, &c., ought to have been cut in two pieces, for it really contains two modes of operations, viz. 1, general directions to govern the raising of an active militia force in such States as have a system of drafting already; and 2, particular rules for drafting in such States as have no law on the subject, or which do not make use of it. These are different things, and ought to have been kept distinct; but instead of this we have the first three sections of general rules for the States;—then the 4th section, including many subdivisions, of particular rules for the States that have no drafting laws;—and then the last section goes back to general rules again.

Gov. Berry, in our own State, issued an order of Aug. 14,—in which he says no arrangements can be made at present, for the enlistment of volunteers for nine months—and adds,—"if it can be done at all, it will not be done till after the enrollment is made and returned, and not until the quota of the State for the three years' men is fully made up."

As to the order of events, the Governor is right—the draft, if we must have one, to fill up our quota for the first call for 300,000 men, should be made before we proceed to the second 300,000; but they might both be made in one day.

The Governor need not doubt,—and nobody else ought to doubt, for a moment,—that we may enlist volunteers instead of drafting men, for the second call. They are getting under way in Maine, even now, to do it: in Pennsylvania, the volunteer militia of Philadelphia are the quota for that city, while in the country they volunteer or draft, as the case may be: and in New Hampshire, our new militia law provides expressly, Sec. 4, that in case of war, or other exigency, "the Governor shall order for actual service, by draft or otherwise, as many of the militia as the case demands;"—and the next section, (5), provides that when the Governor sends his requisition to a town or city for a quota, the selectmen or mayor and aldermen shall notify the enrolled men to appear,—and then and there proceed to draft as many thereof, or accept as many volunteers, as are required.

We know of no law or rule to the contrary—but conclude that any town may now legally vote such moderate bounty as they choose, to as many nine months volunteers as may be needed for both these drafts,—and get the men's names informally, in advance of the call for a draft.

The whole design of a draft is to get the proper number of able men at the proper time. When this is attained, the draft is needless,—for the call is answered.

The governor also says that substitutes may be received,—but drafted men cannot be released by paying the $75 fine. He does not say why,—nor by what law or instruction. The State law provides that fine. The U. S. law does not mention it.

INCREASE OF BOUNTY.—Messrs. Editors: I am informed that the gentleman who spoke at the close of the War meeting on Tuesday evening, and advocated raising the bounty to four hundred dollars, has received nearly fifty applications from able-bodied men who are ready to enlist if that sum is ensured to them by the city or by private subscription. I think the gentleman's remarks at that time were indiscreet, although undoubtedly proceeding from patriotic motives. The additional bounty should be raised by private means and not by the city, and the gentleman himself, who advised "no man to enlist at a dollar less than $400," ought in duty to contribute handsomely to the fund that would thereby become necessary. Let him start a paper with a thousand dollars' subscription himself, and other citizens will be ready to follow liberally. But the city government ought not to be forced to increase a bounty already large, by the discouraging remarks of individuals at public meetings.

TAX PAYER.

☞ A subscription for three million dollars 7 3-10 Treasury notes was opened at the Sub Treasury in New York on Wednesday, and was soon taken up at 4 1-2 premium. Thompson Bros. headed the list by a $1,000,000.

☞ The New Militia law and some others, in an extra, are furnished to our New Hampshire readers, with this days' paper.

THE REBELLION.

Admiral Farragut's official report of the battle of Baton Rouge, which seems to have been one of the most admirably arranged and conducted contests of the war, gives the following account:—

On the 6th of August, at 2 o'clock in the morning, the enemy's forces, under Gen. Breckinridge, attacked Gen. Williams, and drove in his pickets, &c. Gen. Williams having had ample warning, all was prepared. The fight was continued with great energy on both sides until 10 A. M., by which time the enemy had been driven back two or three miles, but unfortunately the gallant Gen. Williams, while cheering on his men, received a minie ball through the heart. Gen. Williams had informed Lieut. Commanding Ransom the evening before of his plans and requested him not to fire a gun until he notified him, and when he did so our gunboats, the Kineo and Katahdin, opened with fine effect, throwing their shell directly into the midst of the enemy, producing great dismay and confusion among them. Lieutenant Ransom had an office on the State House, which overlooked the adjacent country, and could direct the fire of every shell. As soon as the enemy was repulsed, Commander Porter with the gunboats went up stream after the Ram Arkansas, which was lying about five miles above, apparently afraid to take her share in the conflict. According to a preconcerted plan, as he came within gunshot, he opened on her and probably soon disabled some of her machinery or steering apparatus, for she became unmanageable, continuing, however, to fire her guns at the Essex. Commander Porter says he took advantage of her presenting a weak point towards him and loaded his guns with incendiary shells. After his first discharge of this projectile, a gush of fire came out of her side, and from that moment it was discovered that she was on fire, and he continued his exertions to prevent it from being extinguished. They backed her ashore and made a line fast, which soon burnt, and she swung off into the river, where she continued to burn until she blew up with a tremendous explosion, thus ending the career of the last iron clad ram of the Mississippi.

Lieut. Roe says that the enemy are in the rear of Baton Rouge, and that information is received that to the 6000 already in the vicinity, 4000 more are approaching from Manchiac, and others from Vicksburg.—Commander Porter says the Arkansas had a crew of 180 men and mounted ten guns, six 8-inch and four fifty pound rifles. The gunboat Essex, commanded by him, mounts seven guns and had only forty men on duty at the time of going into action.

800 State troops were defeated by 3000 rebels, belonging to Quantrell's gueril la band, about 20 miles south of Lexington, Mo., on Friday. We lost 200 in killed and wounded and two pieces of artillery. Gen. Lane has reached Lexington with reinforcements, thus rendering the place, it was thought, secure against capture.

Morgan is reported to be at Hartsville, Tenn., with 1800 men.

The Cincinnati Gazette announces that the rebels have captured Somerset and Monticello, Ky.

Gen. Burnside is at Fortress Monroe, and there is some talk of his taking command of the army now under Gen. McClellan. That a portion of this army must remain on the Peninsula is evident, as there are between Hampton and Yorktown a large number by hospitals, and a railroad is now being completed between Hampton and Fortress Monroe.

The rebel forces are reported to have evacuated Chattanooga, making a Northern movement, but the report lacks confirmation.

The Union refugees from Gallatin, Tenn., have arrived at Nashville. They are content to remain there awaiting the issue of events. No houses were burnt at Gallatin by Morgan. Communication will soon be restored between Nashville and Louisville. Prices of everything have advanced 25 per cent. since the embargo. It is reported that a camp of instruction for from 80,000 to 100,000 Western troops is to be located near Nashville.

Rumor says that Gen. Butler will soon be recalled from New Orleans, and that Gen. Dix will take his place and be associated in the administration of the local affairs of the State, with Reverdy Johnson as Provisional Military Governor. The N. Y. Herald editorially says it is inclined to suspect that Gen. Butler's next field of operations will be South Carolina. [A later Washington dispatch states that at a dinner party recently a prominent Louisianian said, in the presence of Reverdy Johnson, that with the latter as Governor and Gen. Dix in the place of Gen. Butler, the people would rally and, through a convention, bring the State back into the Union; and that from this private remark has arisen the rumor that such an arrangement is to be consummated.]

A letter to the N. Y. Times says the last division of the retiring army of the Potomac passed the Chickahominy at 2 o'clock Monday night.

☞ The Rockingham Association of Universalists will hold its annual session in Kensington, N. H., on the 4th Wednesday and Thursday (27th and 28th) of August. Occasional Sermon by Br. T. W. Silloway. It is expected that Br. Silloway will be ordained during the meeting.

☞ There are recruiting officers appointed in almost every small town in New Hampshire. Mr. Louis L. DeRochemont is recruiting at Newington.

Steam sloop Canandaigua, 10, Com'r Joseph F. Green, left her anchorage at the Charlestown Yard Monday evening for a cruise under sealed orders. She remains in the Roads.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The assault said to have been committed in Colebrook on a returned soldier, proves to have been simply a "muss" between two drunken men.

—— The Amoskeag Co. are now finishing up the first five hundred of the Lindner breach-loading carbines for government.—They will be ready for delivery in a couple of weeks. It weighs 6 1-2 lbs., and is capable of carrying a ball 800 yards. The company is also at work as fast as possible on the 10,000 rifles of the Springfield pattern for government. The workmen in their establishment are exempt from the draft.

—— Two thousand and twelve men are wanted to fill up our New Hampshire Regiments now in the field, and the Governor has received orders to that effect, and if they are not ready at the time appointed, a draft will be resorted to.

—— The Mountain travel is now very large. There are more people at the hotels in and about the Franconia and White Mountain Notches now than at any previous time for two years. A gentleman just from there, remarks that he never saw so many young men in that section.

NEW ORLEANS.

Between eleven and twelve thousand Americans, and two or three thousand foreign residents, have taken the oath of allegiance, under the orders of Gen. Butler,—yet the New Orleans Delta, in a late number, draws a picture of society at New Orleans, not very flattering to the Union as it was and the Constitution as it is. But little Union feeling shows itself, the Delta being judge. No doubt this is true—and the people there are very much like other men in like condition.

They have seen the city badly governed for years,—seized by rebels when the treason was ripe,—and then retaken by the U. S. gunboats, and held by a small army of U. S. troops. They see that Gen. Butler, notwithstanding the rebels call him a brute, treats the traitors very mildly—and they know that the rebel army, if it could again seize the city, would not spare the property nor respect the persons of any who should have been known to favor Butler and the Yankees.

The traitors there hope for a new conquest of New Orleans—and the loyal citizens are afraid of it. Thus the former are scornful and sometimes impudent; the latter keep still and are mostly silent.

This is in some respects a picture of the whole rebel cottonocracy. Their old threat in Congress, years ago, was, "We will subdue you!" They are now trying to do it—and they will do it, unless we subdue them, govern them for a while, and regenerate their social condition by an infusion of working freemen, who can build a wall with the trowel in one hand, while they hold the sword of defence with the other.

☞ Rev. A. J. Patterson, of the Universalist Church in this city, has just completed seven years of his pastorate here; and last Sabbath's services were especially appropriate to the anniversary—an event of interest to himself and his people, and somewhat so also to the public, inasmuch as even this short term constitutes so young a man our oldest city pastor. The altar was profusely decked with superb bouquets on the occasion; and the discourse was eloquently earnest and patriotic. Mr. Patterson has a place in the hearts of all our people, as so genial a christian gentleman would win anywhere; and his Church and Society were never in a more flourishing condition than during the last few years.

☞ A letter from Palermo says the enthusiasm for Garibaldi is so great that the young men were disappearing entirely from the place. La Franca says that Garibaldi held a council of war at Ceffali on the 4th, at which it was decided to march on Rome, notwithstanding the remonstrance from Turin. An official dispatch in the Turin Gazette says the Garibaldi volunteers would leave for Messina instead of Palermo. They number three thousand and are divided into three columns, one conducted by Garibaldi in person.

☞ The Boston Traveller suggests that in some way, by proclamation from the President, or otherwise, all civil action in law against those who enlist or are drafted in the army or navy, be suspended for one year or the war, and also all debts now due and the accumulation of interest on all debts; so that all, both creditors and debtors, may fare alike in sacrifices made for their country, and then will there be one grand rush for the war.

☞ Gov. Magoffin, of Kentucky, has resigned his office, and John T. Fisac has resigned the speakership of the Senate, and James F. Robinson, of Scott county has been elected in his stead. There being no Lieut. Governor, Mr. Robinson, a staunch and able Union man, becomes Governor for Magoffin's unexpired term,—until September, 1863.

☞ Persons having friends in the army should keep them well supplied with newspapers. The soldier boys look on a home paper as an old friend.

☞ At the War Meeting, Tuesday evening, on Market Square in this city, a man arose and actually advised men not to enlist unless they got $400 bounty! Somebody cried out, "That is discouraging enlistments!" and so it was—and sadly mistaken patriotism, too. We rejoice when "working men" of any sort, and especially Volunteers, receive liberal reward for their services; and we should be glad if every man had $400; but if the quota of Portsmouth or any other place be not made up without time expires, then comes a draft, that is all. We are told, however, that the man referred to above, has the names of 47 good men, who will enlist for $400 bounty each—one of them a pastor in this city. We hope all will enlist, but the U. S. $100 bounty expires to-day, and we advise them all not to lose that by delay. Delays are dangerous.

☞ The volunteers for nine months will have the best position, as they will have the best pay of any portion of the army. They may at once be called into active service, but more likely they will not. It is reported that the government will keep then as a reserve corps in the different States. The various rendezvous will be camps of instruction, in which the men will enjoy the summer, then go South to answer any call during the healthy winter season, and be returned to their homes in the flowery month of May, in time to enter upon any business that shall be inviting next year.

☞ Lyman G. Spalding, of this city, has been appointed Midshipman in the U. S. Navy, by the President, in accordance with the late law, which authorizes him to select two from the District of Columbia, ten at large, and three yearly, selected from boys enlisted in the Navy at large.

The New Ironsides at Philadelphia has ulled out into the stream on Sunday, where she now lies at anchor.

AT THE OTTAWA.—By courteous invitation of Messrs. Job Jenness & Son, the gentlemanly and attentive landlords of the "Ottawa House," Cushing's Island, Portland Harbor, the editorial staff of the Portland press made a visit to that delightful locality.

The Ottawa is a fine hotel of brick, three stories high, surmounted by a large cupola, and finished in the most approved, modern style. On the first floor is the office, a spacious dining hall, gentlemen's parlor, drawing-room, kitchen, closets, and bar room. In the upper stories are one hundred large and well ventilated sleeping rooms. The house is situated on the highest part of the island, commanding a magnificent view of the ocean and city. From the cupola, by moonlight, the scene is one of surpassing grandeur. The neighboring islands in the silvery silent waters, are radiant with light, and the incoming waves throw the feathery foam far over their rocky beaches. Here and there, in the distance, may be seen the revolving lights of those coast sentinels, that warn the mariner of danger or beckon him to port. The silence is sublime; nothing is heard, save the low murmurs of the waves, "telling stories to the pebbles on the shore."

Aside from the scenery, the Ottawa presents other attractions. The facilities for bathing, for exercise in rowing, &c., are capital. In connection with the house are bowling alleys, billiard tables, and a dance hall. Horses and carriages are also to be had. In short, the proprietors are determined to spare no pains in establishing the reputation of the house, as that of a first class watering place. Already it is thronged with the elite of the city.

As caterers to the "inner man," the Messrs. Jenness are unsurpassed. Their bill of fare includes everything that a fastidious palate could enjoy; the waiters are attentive and always on the alert to supply one's wants.

But space would fail us, were we to speak of all the inducements offered by the Ottawa to pleasure and health seekers. Suffice it to say, that no retreat is more congenial or homelike. The steamers Favorite and Tuta leave the city, forenoon and afternoon, for the house; so that communication with the city is easy, and its advantages are combined with those of the island.

In the evening, Monday, came off the first hop of the season, at the Ottawa. The hall was filled with beauty and fashion, and the "wee small hours" stole in upon the untired dancers. The music, which was excellent, was furnished by the band connected with the hotel.

On returning, at midnight, the party visited that the Ottawa is deserving of success, and that the Messrs. Jenness "know how to keep a hotel.—[Portland Advertiser."

NEW GOODS

JUST RECEIVED FROM NEW YORK.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse.

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its motion is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

Rye, N.H., Feb. 26, 1862. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. Josiah Jenness.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it does not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26d

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since.

Caroline H. Swett.

This statement of my wife is correct.

Simon Swett.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas; causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure, as I have had no sign of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.

Hannah Rowe.

Portsmouth, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health.

M. Lowd.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

Wm. P. Leavitt.

From Elder I Chesley, Lee, May 31, 1841.

Dr. Swett: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." Israel Chesley

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Assist. of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (see Act of Congress, Mar. 3d, 1857,)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and Other Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any other agency. Can't find them elsewhere. The Testimonials below prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, he can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more likely to secure them valid applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. The multiple proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twenty rejected applications TWELVE VALID PATENTS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, Dec. 2, 1861 2w

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience combined with extensive observation, he has the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pains and diseases in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, Frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attendant on these diseases, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the Digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. Such persons should before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or more, can be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No. 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the womb, Fluor Albus, suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedily relieved in a few days. He is invariably certain in the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted restored to perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the care of Diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the professional mind than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.

☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1846; since that time it has been USED BY THOUSANDS, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.

THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one dose will not fade, crock, nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL softness of THE HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever produced.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Daily Morning Chronicle

VOL. 21. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. FRIDAY, AUG. 22, 1862. NO. 19.

The Chronicle.

☞ The following letter, written by a young soldier in the army, has been handed to us, with a request that we should publish it.

WATERLOO, VA., Aug. 4.

Dear Sister:— * * * How the boys are down on the men at home for not volunteering better. It is disgraceful to the country, this drafting. If the men of the North are not willing to fight in defence of their country, I say let the country go.—Men who are compelled or bought to fight, are good for nothing. But these men are not asked to fight. We are the ones that are willing and intend to do the fighting.—All we want of them is to guard the towns, mountain gaps and roads, and let us go ahead.

We can never come home until they enlist; the war will never be at an end until they come. Talk it into them! You young ladies can do considerable towards helping enlistments. If I were a Northern young lady, I would have nothing to do with any young man who would not come forward and lay down his life, if need be, in defence of his country at the moment of her greatest peril. Men that will not do this are cowards, in every sense of the word. I would not be seen walking the streets of any Northern town or city at the present time; nothing could tempt me to, and no true American would think or act differently. If you are a true Northern girl, don't have anything to do with these shirks and cowards; talk it into them—tell them with what contempt they deserve to be treated.

Their excuses of "not able," "constitution won't stand it," &c., are all bosh. What if their constitutions won't stand it? They don't expect to go to war, and come home alive—do they? They might just as well expect to put a piece of paper in the fire, and take it out whole any time they wanted to.

But look at many young men who are out here—mere boys when they came, but now men enough to fight for their country, —and that is more than men at home seem willing to do. Do you remember how people laughed at me when I told them I was going to the war? "You going to war?—why, you are nothing but a boy yet. Wait until you are really needed." I was a boy—that is a fact; and even the men in the regiment laughed at me. But they don't now. And there are plenty of men in your city who are ten times more able to come to war than I was then, and if they won't come, they are no more nor less than cowards,—and I want you, as a soldier's sister, to treat them as such, and let them know it. It is the duty of every patriotic girl to do so.

Preach it among your young lady acquaintances; let the sentiment be universal, and I will guarantee the young men will be glad to come. Now is the time they are really needed. Don't let them take up any other conversation; make it war—war —war. Ask them what they are there for; the battle-ground is the place for them, and if need be, a soldier's grave. The Union will be lost if Northern men do not act promptly. Yours, W.

NEW HAMPSHIRE
MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR.
NOTICE TO THE
Citizens of the State of New Hampshire.

There is to be a MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR, for the encouragement of the Mechanic Arts, holden
IN PORTSMOUTH,
To commence on the 15th of September,
AND CONTINUE FIVE DAYS.

The proceeds, over and above the expenses, to be expended to aid our volunteers.

There will be competent and impartial Committees chosen to decide on the merits of the various articles on exhibition, and liberal PREMIUMS will be awarded in the various departments.

As this is the first Exhibition of the kind ever held in this State, we are determined it shall be successful. There is no possible reason why New Hampshire may not get up as good a show as any other State. We have as GOOD MATERIAL, INTELLECT and ENERGY as the best. As this is to be a STATE instead of a County fair, we would like to have EVERY PART OF THE STATE represented by some specimens of the industry and ingenuity of her sons and daughters.

The most liberal arrangements will be made with the railroads, for the transportation of articles for exhibition and visitors on the occasion.

N. B.—The best of care will be taken of all Articles sent in.

To the Ladies.

We ask for specimens of Needle Work, such as Embroidery, Worsted Work, Quilts, &c. Also specimens of Weaving, Spinning, Knitting, Crochet Work, Hair Work, Drawings, Paintings, Shell work, Cone and Leather Frames, and all kinds of Fancy Work.

N. B.—All articles should be sent in three or four days previous to the exhibition. All articles must be directed to HENRY M. CARTER, Corresponding Secretary, Portsmouth, N. H.

For further information apply to the same.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

From the Richmond papers it appears that they did not know that the Peninsula was being evacuated. The N. Y. Times thus refers to the successful execution of the plan:—

We now see the explanation of the recent demonstrations of our forces on the south side of the James. It was to make the enemy believe Petersburg was threatened and induce him to send heavy columns of his Richmond army thither. The scheme succeeded. Next came Pope's rapid advance upon Gordonsville. It was to induce the heavy reinforcement of Stonewall Jackson from the masses at Richmond. The scheme succeeded. And then came the feint of McClellan's advance on Malvern Hill. It was to alarm the weakened garrisons at Richmond with the fear that they were immediately to be assailed. They were completely deceived, and while they were excitedly preparing to resist McClellan's expected attack, he was marching away to new and more favorable fields of contest.

It is reported that Col. Garrard, with 600 or 700 men, attacked Scott's Louisiana cavalry at Linden, Ky., on Tuesday, and after quite a severe fight defeated them, splitting the rebel regiments into two parts, which skedaddled in different directions.—A rebel force, 600 strong, have taken Clarksville, Ky., and it is reported are marching on Fort Henry or Fort Donelson. There are only 150 men in the latter; reinforcements have been asked for.

Stonewall Jackson's official report of the battle of Cedar Mountain claims a brilliant victory.

In the fight at Independence, Mo., on the 11th, Gen. Hughes, who commanded a rebel regiment at Carthage, and a brigade at Wilson's Creek, was killed; and the notorious and brutal Cols. Boyd and Thompson were wounded, the former fatally.

The rumor now is that Gen. Burnside is to command the combined armies of McClellan and Pope.

The Times's dispatch says Mr. Stanton stated that the order for drafting to fill up the old regiments would be enforced without fail by the 1st of September.

It is reported that large numbers of rebel troops are leaving Richmond for Gordonsville, by the Virginia Central railroad, and that appearances indicated that they contemplated a flank movement against Gen. Pope's right, probably to be led by Jackson.

The Tribune's Fortress Monroe letter says Gen. Heintzelman did not accompany the army in its march down the Peninsula, but struck off in another direction towards White House. The common remark was that he had gone off to look up a fight.

The Mayor of Henderson, Ky., has fled to the rebel army. The entire City Council has been arrested for refusing to take the oath of allegiance, but were released upon resigning and giving bonds in $5000 each. The property of the Mayor was seized, and a new election ordered. Ten Indiana regiments and four companies of cavalry have gone into Kentucky, and two other regiments are expected to leave the first of the week.

Gen. Butler is to remain at New Orleans; the reports to the contrary are unfounded.

Maj. Fitz Hugh, Chief of the staff of the rebel Gen. Stuart was taken prisoner on Monday last, near Louisa Court House, Va.

☞ We have advices from the Mediterranean squadron to Aug. 1. The officers and crews of the different vessels were at that date in good health. A letter from the Constellation, the flag-ship of the squadron, relates the following singular circumstance as having occurred at Gibraltar:—The privateer Sumter and the U. S. steamer Kearsarge were in port together; of course they both sent boats to market.—The boat of the Kearsarge was coming up up to the landing at Gibraltar just as the Sumter's boat was passing out. The two boats swung round so closely that their flags twisted around each other, and kissed as if in fraternal embrace. Not a word was said in either boat, the men maintaining perfect silence and discipline, but looking as if "spoiling for a fight."

☞ General Terry, who has recently inspected his whole command, paid a high compliment to Company F, of the 4th N. H. Regiment, and its commander, Capt. George Frank Towle, of this city, stating that the company appeared better than any other company he had ever inspected, arms, equipments, and everything being in a most excellent condition. We are always pleased to chronicle the good deeds of the Sons of old Portsmouth, and it gives us pleasure to mention this high compliment paid by a competent officer, to one of them. The company still remains at St. Augustine, Fla.

☞ The 17th Maine regiment, Col. T. A. Roberts, left Portland on Thursday morning for the seat of war, with twenty-four cars and two locomotives. They went by the Boston & Maine railroad.

☞ The iron-clad frigate Ironsides sailed from Philadelphia on Tuesday.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

From our Regular Correspondent.

HARLEM TERRACE, N. Y., Aug. 20.

Dear Chronicle:—Sincere in my high estimation of those free from slanderous proclivities, it is not strange that I should have been decidedly opposed a week hence, to the idea of "railing" at New York, but all things must have an end, not excepting even long religious services, or foggy weather in Portsmouth, and a three weeks' vacation passes none of the slowest—so it was that, making a comparative virtue of an absolute necessity and wishing well to all humanity, I commenced my journey, the latter feeling being that, probably, which prompted me to suggest to the gentleman seated directly in front, that he should not remain too near the open window as a draft was authorised by the President, and the company wouldn't be liable should he take cold.

And many pleasant recollections of that three weeks' trip remain in the memory of a rusticating metropolitan. Among others that of a hill-arious river, which tho' it was a-bridged toward its close, had many attractive features.

The delightful sail down in the morning sun, which 'browned' our complexions not a little—the clouds, very 'petty' affairs at first, which afterward 'grew' to be of sufficient dimensions to obscure the sun, but left four 'sons in the boats full as shining—the dancing at Ft. McClary, by the kind invitation of the gentlemanly garrison—the 'wait while I touch my guitar'—the 'calling' by the gent who perhaps did "no-well" how to do it—the new and original exhibition of "Adam's fall," as we "ran-down" the rocks—the landing at Newcastle, where we were 'car'-eful not to get wet, and the footing it home, which didn't seem long, as some of us were excellent 'walkers,' are all worthy of remembrance. What say we all of us?

The all absorbing topic is the draft;—whether we have one or not. Recruiting is going on quite briskly, the enlistments numbering some 400 or 500 each day; but there are left only ten days, and, to complete the call, about 10,000 men are needed. The probabilities are in favor of a draft, though its extent will depend on the vigor with which enlistments continue in the time intervening.

Our streets are almost entirely relieved of the superfluity of brass buttons and gold lace, which have graced them for weeks past, and those traversing the avenues with such adornments are tapped on the shoulder by the Provost Marshal's guard, and politely reqested to show their passes, minus which they are placed under arrest.

We hear the roll of the drum along Broadway from morn till eve, marking the time, either for a line of raw recruits, an unfilled regiment striving to obtain additions to its numbers by parade, or one complete, with its thousand muskets at a "right shoulder shift," its banners streaming in the wind, and feet keeping step to the "music of the Union."

Our Navy department is equally lively. Three or four iron clads, and a steam ram of mysterious proportions, are in course of construction on the East river banks, and two more on the Jersey shore. The plating on the razee frigate Roanoke, of the same class, I think, as the Colorado in your harbor, is nearly complete, and two first class gun boats at the Navy Yard, are about ready for sea.

The water was let into the new reservoir in the Central Park yesterday, in the presence of fifteen or twenty thousand people. This new reservoir has an area of one hundred and sixty acres, and a capacity for containing over one thousand million gallons of water. It has been four years in building, and cost the city two and a quarter million dollars. The surplus water of the Croton river, not taken by the other reservoirs, is admitted into this grand receptacle in ten streams, and it will take these ten streams three months' continuous pouring to fill it. Something to drink, that!

And to conclude:—Religion and vanity are, according to the general belief, in direct opposition to each other; but I noticed, coming thro' both Massachusetts and New Hampshire, that the top of nearly every church steeple was vane! NEWINGTON.

Mr. Clay, in 1843, predicted—"The agitation of the (slavery) question in the free States will first destroy all harmony, and finally lead to disunion, poverty and perpetual war, the extermination of the African race—ultimate military despotism."—The two first are upon us now—if the war continues for any length of time, the third is sure; and it is only by drawing back from the agitation in question, as the country is becoming more and more disposed to, that we shall save that consequence, the extermination specified and the despotism foretold.—Boston Courier.

☞ Cassius M. Clay arrived at Pittsburg, Pa., on Wednesday evening, and was serenaded at the Monongahela House. He made a long speech to a large audience, denunciatory of England.

☞ The Lewiston (Me.) Journal says that within two or three nights past frost has made its appearance on low lands, not however to such an extent as seriously to injure vegetation.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Concord Democrat says the following gentlemen have been put in nomination for the 13th Regiment: Col. Aaron T. Stevens; Lieut. Col. George Bowers, of Nashua; Major J. P. Storer, of Portsmouth.

—— Major Josiah Stevens, Jr., of the 2d N. H. Regiment, is now in Concord.—He was confined in the hospital at Washington with intermittent typhoid fever for five weeks. He was in the battles before Richmond, and became completely exhausted from constant labor. He is quite weak now, but is slowly recovering.

—— The editor of the Lancaster Republican says he is informed from official sources at Concord, that every exertion will be made to have the nine months' men enlisted as volunteers, and that little doubt exists but that the exertions will be successful.

—— Mr. Benjamin Gerrish, Jr., of Dover, Assistant Clerk of the House of Representatives in this State, has been appointed Assistant Secretary of State in place of Mr. George H. Chandler, who has accepted the Adjutantcy of the 9th Regiment.

—— Several towns in New Hampshire are visited by a disease called "scouring," which attacks horses suddenly, reduces them quickly, causes suppression of urine, a swelling of the body, and in some cases terminates in death. Within three weeks some noble animals in Tamworth, Pittsfield and other places, have died from this disease.

—— There are growing on the farm of Charles Hill, of Conway, an elm and a maple, so closely united as to exhibit but one trunk for twelve or fifteen feet from the roots. The circumference of the united trunk is about twenty feet; the bark of either portion of which presents nearly the same appearance, while the foliage of the maple only appears on the lower branches. A careful look is required to discover that there are two trees of different kinds.

—— The General Association of Presbyterian and (trinitarian) Congregational Ministers in New Hampshire, will meet in Concord next Tuesday;—the N. H. Bible Society will hold a special meeting Wednesday, and the Missionary Society will meet on Thursday,—all at the new South Church.

—— Rev. J. M. Durgin of Gilmanton, formerly of Dover, has enlisted in the first named town as a private in the 12th (Belknap and Carroll county) Regiment.

—— The Patriot says the State's quota of the nine months' men is 5053,—about one in eight of the enrolled men of the State.

—— It is reported that the Belknap county regiment was filled in three days.

I. O. OF O. F.—The Right Worthy Grand Lodge of New Hampshire, held its annual session at Franklin on Tuesday last. There was a very large attendance of delegates from the several subordinate Lodges, and they had a very pleasant and harmonious Meeting. The following members of the order were elected and installed as officers of the Grand Lodge for the ensuing year:—

It was voted to hold the next annual session at Rochester.

☞ Our readers will remember that the town of Stratham offered $500 bounty for three years' men, and $400 for nine months' troops. Yet, notwithstanding these liberal offers, we are told by a resident of that town, that so far as he knows, not a single man has come forward!

The offering of small or large bounties, or none, has not seemed to affect recruiting much, take it all in all. Manchester pays but $50, yet recruiting is brisk there. All the soldiers want, is the proof from the people—from all the people, that they will be well provided for, and their families looked after. And certainly, they ought not to lack that, in any particular.

☞ A letter from Baton Rouge says: "Major General John C. Breckinridge scampered off in such haste that he left his sword behind. It was picked up on the field, and is retained as a trophy. Perhaps it was this circumstance that gave rise to the report that the traitor lost his right arm. There can be no mistake as to whom the sword belonged, for Breckinridge's name is engraved on it."

☞ Every station in life has its own peculiar trials and troubles, about which those outside it know nothing. The rich man's wealth is often more troublesome and burdensome than the poor man's poverty; and probably neither class can understand or appreciate the other—and there is certainly little ground for envyings among mortals.

OFF FOR A SOLDIER.

"Oh, where are you goin'" said Mrs O'Flaherty,
One morning to Mike, as he shouldered a gun;
"I am going," said Mike, "to put on regimentals,
And march wid the boys till rebellion is done."

"And what, if you're kill, will become of my children—
My poor little boys and the girl on my knee?"
"Sure, Mike," said she, "I will be dead, although living
If niver again you come back unto me."

"Oh, Peggy, my darlint, no harm shall befall me;
The stars and the stripes shall float over my head;
And, Peggy, you know I must help save the country
That affords me protection and gives me my bread.

"And won't ye be proud of your Mickey O'Flaherty,
When he comes back, dear Peggy, all covered wid scars,
To show that he's stood in the front of the battle,
Where no one can stand who stays home from the wars?"

"And Mickey," said Peggy, "my prayers I'll go wid ye,
Though deep in my heart I shall grieve for your sake;
And I'll kiss our dear babies each mornin' and evenin',
And tashe them the name of their father to spake.

"The papers I'll read, Mike, to see if you're wounded,
Or—
Oh, faith, Mike, that thought makes a fire of my brain;
To think of you lying, shot down by a ribal,
Without an arm or a leg off and groaning wid pain;

"Wid no kind one near you, to give you attention,
To wipe the cold dampness away from your cheek—
Oh, Mike, it is hard, when I think of these ills,
To look in your face and be parting to speak."

"But, Peggy," said he, "sure I'll come back a hero,
To be pointed at as America's pride;
And I'll carry my gun on the top of my shoulder
Wid both legs all right and my arms by my side.

"Faith, niver a dangerous bullet shall reach me,
And, sure, I'm too small a target to hit its design,
For wid God on my side and the thoughts of ould Erin,
No serious evil can iver be mine."

"But, Mickey," said Peggy, "how many have perished?
How many are sheeping that niver will wake,
Who marched wid the army a searching for glory?
Oh, Mickey, stay home for your poor Peggy's sake?"

"Stay at home, is it, Peggy? Ah! niver, till thraitors
Have fired their last gun at the flag of the free;
I must go such just have a brief lark wid the ribals
Those sons of the devil who kicked up this spree.

"And good bye, my Peggy! and good bye, my childer!
May God bless you all till I come back again
Wid my arms and my legs, wid my head and my body,
Wid niver a scratch, and wid niver a pain."

The drums then came beating—the colors were flying—
A kiss for his wife and his dear children three—
And Mickey O'Flaherty marched with the soldiers
To fight for the flag of the faithful and free.

—N. Y. Sunday Times.

☞ There was a public Levee at Greenland, Wednesday afternoon and evening, to raise funds in aid of the sick and wounded Volunteers. We have no direct report, but it is fair to presume that such an object could not fail of good success in Greenland.

☞ The Newburyport Herald says, "music will do something to fill up the ranks,—money will do more." No doubt of it—and ye who have plenty and to spare, see to it that there is no lack. "God and our country!"

For the Chronicle.

ONE REASON.—Messrs. Editors:—A few days ago, the Chronicle asked for the reason Portsmouth's quota did not fill up faster? Well, I think one reason is, that some of the City officers have "forgotten themselves" so much as sometimes to insult the wives and families of absent Volunteers, when they called for their little weekly stipend which the city and the country so richly owed to them—by terming the same charity, or something like it. Zounds! I wish all such had to be the target for rebel practice, themselves. ONE OF THEM.

[We know nothing of this matter—but if any public servant has done a thing or said a word of the sort, he must be "an unprofitable servant" indeed, at this juncture, and his public place should "know him no more forever." We have, also, seen similar complaints concerning some of the Boston officials, in the Transcript. It is about time to find out whether "the people" or some other man, owns the city, as well as the country.—Ed. Chron.]

☞ The dramatic cantata, "Belshazzar's Feast, or the Fall of Babylon," in ten scenes, will be performed in the North Church, in Portsmouth, by a select choir of sixteen ladies and gentlemen of this city, on Thursday evening of next week. Dr. Goodall and the accomplished organist of the church have the matter in charge; the object being to aid in building a new Vestry. The solo singers are from the best talent in the city, and the chorus one of the best of the kind which could be gathered here or almost anywhere else. With the fine organ for accompaniment, a rare treat may be expected.

☞ We hear there was a fine exhibition of Tableaux Vivants, at the Temple, in this city, Wednesday evening, by a select party of ladies and gents of the highest respectability. The affair was at first intended to be at a private residence, and an admittance fee charged, to aid a charitable object; but so great was the call for tickets, that the Temple was resorted to, and quite a large audience gathered, although no public notice was given. The public would have taken a thousand half-dollar tickets, had opportunity been offered them.

☞ Among the new buildings going up in Portsmouth and vicinity, we notice that Mr. Henry S. Hartshorne is erecting a fine large dwelling-house, at Sagamore Creek, on the very eligible site of the house, burnt there a few years ago. This is one of the prettiest rural residences in this vicinity—and we wonder there are not more cottages built on the banks of the lovely Sagamore.

Mr. C. H. Mendum has also been making great improvements in his new estate on Middle Road—raising and enlarging the house, &c.

☞ Mr. N. J. Coffin, recruiting officer, arrived in this city, from Rye, on Thursday, with twelve as fine-looking volunteers as one could wish to see. They intended to join in drill with those who have enlisted in this city at Jefferson Hall, but being disappointed in procuring a boarding-house, at the price allowed by the Government, he permitted them to return home to report to Sergt. Varrill for drill in Rye. Before leaving the city, the company passed a vote of thanks to Ex-Gov. Goodwin for the dinner he so kindly gave them, at the City Hotel.

☞ We are informed that tickets for the third Excursion (see advertisement) are already in demand. The captain of the steamer says the two parties from Portsmouth were the largest and most orderly he ever carried. The number of tickets issued this time is much less than heretofore.

☞ The Chroniclers were indebted to Charles Robinson, Esq., on Wednesday, for a liberal basket of fine sugar pears, which that gentleman left at our Counting Room. They ap-pear-ed well, and were toothsome.

☞ Volunteers! don't grasp at the "shadow" of $400, and lose the "substance" of $100! To-day is the time!

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, on Thursday evening, an invitation was received from the Committee of Arrangements to the City Government to attend the celebration of the 255th anniversary of the founding of an English colony in America, to take place at Fort Popham, Me., on the 29th inst.

A communication was received from Charles Robinson, Esq., inclosing a list of the names of sixty-five citizens who pledged themselves to enlist for three years provided the city would give them $400 bounty. Accepted and sent down to the Common Council. The subject was referred to a joint committee, which reported in favor of an increase of the bounty to $400. The report was re-committed to them, with instructions to obtain an expression of the sentiment of the people in regard to the matter. "The people" will do it.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR!—The men who fight this infernal Rebellion down, will be really the saviors of this count'y; and no reward can be too great for them. And if men leave all that is dear at home, the least that can be done is to provide most liberally for themselves and their families, in their absence. And if a wife, even tho' she be "poor" in this world's goods, gives up her husband, a mother her son, or a daughter her father—how comparatively insignificant seems any money they may receive, if in any degree regarded as compensation, for their loved ones' uncertain absence. Our City Government, as well as the citizens, are never slow to encourage and aid any good work liberally; and we are sure will continue that course 'to the end,' as regards our brave Volunteers and those dependent on them.

SHORT SPEECHES.—We suggest that gentlemen engaged to address public meetings called to promote enlistments, should make short speeches. Half an hour is as long as any man ought to talk, and in most cases a speech of fifteen minutes' length, or less, brim full of earnestness and fire, is better still. We heard of a meeting which was recently held, where one speaker, though cautioned to be brief, spoke an hour and a half; and the result was that when he got through, there was no time to attend to other matters. Short speeches should be the the motto of every speaker—so that there may be time and opportunity for men to enlist and fill up the subscription papers.

☞ A large number of ladies and gentleman from Manchester came to this city on Thursday, on the excursion arranged by the 2d Universalist Society of that city, and visited the Portsmouth Navy Yard, Shoals, beaches in this vicinity, and other points of interest to them. They had fine weather, and, we trust, enjoyed their visit highly.

☞ Messrs. Betton, Folsom & Goss, on Thursday, enlisted twenty-one men in this city. They now have thirty-eight recruits. The other recruiting officers also did well on that day.

☞ We are pleased to learn that Col. Donahoe arrived at the Rockingham House yesterday afternoon, and that he will speak at the war meeting to-night.

FALL IN, MEN, FALL IN!—Recollect, the U. S. $100 bounty for new Regiments, ceases after to-day, Friday, Aug. 22d.—It will be paid for recruits in old Regiments, "now in the field," only until Sept. 1st.

☞ Mr. William S. Gallagher, of this city, has been appointed recruiting officer for the Tenth Regiment, N. H. Volunteers. "Irishmen, to the rescue!" And Americans also.

☞ Lieut. J. M. Bradford, U. S. navy, recently relieved from the duties of Executive officer of the navy yard, has been commissioned as Lieutenant Commanding. He is still performing the duties of Ordnance Officer at the Yard.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse.

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important elements, health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a comon on rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never weeps of it. This latest child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

RYE, N.H., Feb. 25, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c. &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wafers, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe pierciing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by snuffing, which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since.

CAROLINE H. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.

SIMEON SWETT.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure, as I have had no sign of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.

HANNAH ROWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dizziness and nausea, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with Humor, which prevented rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with severe pain, and some humor, and was prostrated, your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. Several applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WAFERS. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found of the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

Morning Chronicle.

A WIDE SWEEP FOR LOCALS.—The Portland Advertiser of Tuesday says: "It was stated, in our local column, yesterday, that the Queen of England had joined the New Jerusalem Church."

We knew before, that there was some doubt whether Portland or Boston was "the hub of the [Western] Universe,"—but were not quite prepared to see Great Britain, Queen and all, swallowed up in the local vortex of the Portland Advertiser. We learn from the same source that the report is not correct. The Queen of England is the head of the Church of England, and cannot belong to any other without forfeiting her crown. It has been reported that both Prince Albert and the Queen looked with favor upon the doctrines of the Church of the New Jerusalem.

☞ A paragraph has gone all over the country, from the N. Y. Express, stating that Gen. Hunter's negro brigade, at Hilton Head, has been disbanded—and grave reasons have been given for it. But it is now contradicted in a letter signed by Lieut. Riggs, the Adjutant of the 1st South Carolina Volunteers. Several companies of them have gone in the U. S. service to St. Simon's island, Florida—a portion of the remainder are at their homes on a short furlough (not deserted)—and a portion are still at Hilton Head. The whole story in the Express is bogus—the regiment has behaved well, and is still in the service.

THE TWO STORIES.—The old excuse: We are glad Government is going to draft. It shows they are in earnest; and now the war will shortly be ended. This offering bounties is a bad plan.

The Young Men: Confound the drafting—we don't believe in it—it is not in accordance with our republican institutions. Let the volunteers have liberal bounty. Why don't the rich men "come down" with their thousands? It would be a disgrace to have a draft.

☞ There have been most beautiful displays of Northern Lights on a few evenings this week.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth are: Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.
Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.
April 7—1y Staw.

CAUTION
To Females in Delicate Health.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system: Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Floor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranted in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.
Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.
Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.
N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.
Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE
in all cases, or No Charges Made.
Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all private and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.
Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.
P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.
The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.
For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.
The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.
To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the
MAGEE FURNACE.
The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.
No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.
This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.
These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.
For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.
They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:
Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.
Also on hand, the celebrated and unequalled

MATHEWS'
VENETIAN LIQUID
HAIR DYE.
☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1845; since that time it has been USED BY THOUSANDS, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO IRJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.
THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.
THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.
THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL SOFTNESS OF THE HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

Daily Morning Chronicle

VOL. 21. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. SATURDAY, AUG. 23, 1862. NO. 20.

The Chronicle.

☞ The Springfield Republican says: "Conditional loyalty is no loyalty at all."—Jeff. Davis and the Devil himself would be loyal, on their own terms. The Government calls for support, I'll go, says the loyalist, "without a why or wherefore,"—my country calls:

"My country, right or wrong. May she always be right; but, right or wrong, my country."

I can't and won't support any Government (or administration, which is precisely the same thing, think it as you will,) which is composed of and works with the abolitionists. I go for "the Union as it was, the Constitution as it is."—And I never will aid in any way a Government which is afraid or unwilling to emancipate the slaves.

And so they go—one class actually thinks more of slavery, and the other of abolitionism, than either do of the Union. Out upon such loyalty. Such men deserve the prison and halter just as much as Jeff. Davis. The Government has the sole right to fix its own policy, within the constitution and the laws; and to support that Government every man owes his life, if it is needed, and has no right to withhold a cent of his property, if that is required. The Government must be preserved.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents to the United States; also to procure Patents in France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through its inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but four of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 23, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

The surrender of Clarksville, Ky., seems to have been a most disgraceful and cowardly affair. Col. Mason, of the 71st Ohio, (the same regiment that was denounced by Gen. Sherman for cowardice at Shiloh,) with two cannon, and in strong entrenchments, surrendered the place without resistance. A large amount of U. S. property was captured. Not a gun was fired, and Mason's men were paroled and went down the river. The paroled officers were allowed to carry off their horses and side-arms.

A dispatch to the New York Herald states that Fort Donelson had been abandoned by the Federals, as a large rebel force was advancing, and the post is now valueless, there being but 30 inches of water in the Cumberland river.

The N. Y. Tribune has a letter dated Culpepper, Tuesday, 19th, 6 A. M., which says:

The retreat of our army and the advance of the rebels in overwhelming force, are no longer secrets. It was expected that the army would cross the Rappahannock by 10 o'clock, but the passage of the trains was so much delayed that it will not be attempted. The corps of Banks is here, and McDowell's coming in. Both will await Sigel, who covers the retreat, and will not be hurried. As I write, these masses of troops are pouring in swift but orderly marches along the narrow roads and over the field towards the town. The rear is already listening for the sound of following cannon.—All day long the march will continue. Sigel is not expected until noon, and what ever happens, not a regiment will leave until the rear comes up. It is a wonderful retreat, for in spite of delays, there is no panic among the trains, and though the troops are moving to the rear, they march as if to battle.

Williamsburg was still in possession of our forces on Friday. A Washington dispatch says it was believed in that city on Friday that all was going well with the army. The N. Y. Commercial says it has information that a junction of Gens. McClellan's, Pope's and Burnside's forces is effected,—it believes at Aquia Creek. It also states that the rebels occupy Harrison's Landing, and that their pickets extend to the Chickahominy. A large portion of our gunboat flotilla was above Harrison's Landing, and would probably give the rebels a taste of their quality.

☞ The bounties paid and to be paid by the Government to the new Volunteers, already amount to seven millions, says a Washington dispatch. Of these, four millions have been paid. For a day or two all other payments at the Treasury have been suspended for the sake of closing these up. It is supposed that another day or two will pay off the remaining three millions. These of course are merely the bounties paid by the National Government. It is estimated that the other bounties paid by State Governments, counties, town corporations, etc., will swell the amount expended beyond the legitimate payment of soldiers' wages and outfit in raising volunteers under the President's call for three hundred thousand men, to fifty millions.

☞ The Tribune's Washington dispatch says:

Two or three weeks ago the President laid before his Cabinet a proclamation of emancipation, abolishing slavery wherever it exist on the 1st of December, if the rebellion should not be crushed by that time, and asking their opinion touching the propriety of issuing it. All but two approved of it. Sec. Seward and Postmaster General Blair, however, opposed it resolutely, and it did not appear.

The World's dispatch says it is openly stated by emancipationists that the President will issue a proclamation of freedom to all slaves by the 15th of September.

☞ The Amesbury Villager says that one of the volunteers of Newburyport, after being paid his bounty, hired an expensive team, and then endeavored to hire a negro to act as lackey for him. "Nigger" would not sell himself to such service, and a white man was found willing to black his face and act in that capacity for five dollars.

☞ Gen. Cass made a ringing speech at Hillsdale, Mich., recently, urging enlistments, and heartily espousing the cause of the Union. He said the differences of the past, if not forgotten, should be adjourned till the standard of the Union again floats, unopposed, from Maine to Texas, and to the Pacific ocean.

☞ The Jews of Chicago have raised a company of 96 men, and they did it in 36 hours. The exempts subscribed $11,000 in cash, and the pretty Jewesses subscribed for and made a beautiful banner.

☞ Six States have now completed their first quotas: Indiana, Michigan, New York, Maine, Connecticut and Illinois. So grand a recruiting meeting has never been recorded in the world's history.

☞ In Boston, on Wednesday morning, Mrs. Jesse McMorde rolled out of bed while asleep and tumbled through a third story window. She struck upon the hard ground below, but escaped with slight injuries.

NOTES OF FORMER DAYS.

A Slave, a Witch, and Long Hair.—Thomas Warnerton resided at the Great House until 1644, when he shipped a large quantity of goods and arms, which formerly belonged to Captain Mason, and carried them to Port Royal, where he sold them to the French. He was slain afterwards in a rencontre with the inhabitants. After Warnerton's death, Sampson Lane, who had been one of Mason's stewards, took possession of the Great house. There were attached to it about one thousand acres of land, consisting of marsh, meadow, planting and pasture grounds, and mostly under improvement.

In 1645 Norton drove above an hundred head of oxen, which belonged to Mason's plantations, to Boston, and sold them there at twenty pounds sterling a head. He did not return to New Hampshire, but abandoned the plantations there, and settled in Charlestown, near Boston.

No person was allowed to be held in slavery, except those who were taken prisoners in war, or were sentenced to servitude by some judicial court for an offence, for which by law they forfeited their liberty.—Captain Smith, on a voyage to Guinea, surreptitiously brought off a negro, and sold him here as a slave to Mr. Williams. The General Court enquired into the matter, and Capt. Smith and his crew confessed the fact. The Court thought proper to write to Mr. Williams, requiring him forthwith to send to them the negro bought of Capt. Smith, that he may be sent home, which they were resolved to do without delay. And if he have anything to allege why he should not return the negro to be disposed of by the Court, it will be expected that he should forthwith make it appear, either by himself or his agent.

Lane, having resided nearly three years on the plantation at Strawberry Bank, embarked for England in 1646. He had been engaged in navigation, and owned some shipping. Richard Cutt succeeded him in the occupation of the Great house.

Somewhere about 1647 an alteration took place in the formation of the courts in Portsmouth and Dover. The associates were chosen by the inhabitants of both towns, in a joint meeting, at which their selectmen were present. These associates were united with the magistrates to constitute the court. Sometimes the General Court, by request of the inhabitants, appointed the associates, as they had formerly done.

In 1648 the delusion respecting witchcraft made its appearance in New England. Margaret Jones, of Charlestown, was accused of being a witch. It was said she possessed so much malignity that if she touched a person in anger, however slightly, it produced convulsions, or other disorders, attended with violent pains. Upon such testimony, she was convicted and executed. This was the first execution for this offence in New England. After her death, her husband determined to quit the country, and took passage for Barbadoes on board a ship then lying in Charles River, with horses on board. The ship suddenly began to roll, and it was feared she would overset. Jones, who was suspected of being the cause, was arrested and committed to gaol. After which, the ship ceased rolling, and rode quietly at anchor until she sailed. So say the chronicles of that day.

Things, in themselves indifferent, have at times become important. Many innocent actions have been made criminal by the folly or superstition of mankind. The drinking of healths, many years since, was prohibited by law, as a heathenish practice.—In 1649 wearing of long hair was condemned as sinful. The Governor, Deputy Governor, and Magistrates entered into an association to prevent the growing evil.—Forasmuch as the wearing of long hair, after the manner of ruffians and barbarous Indians, has begun to invade New England, contrary to the rule of God's word, which says it is a shame for a man to wear long hair, as also the commendable custom generally, of all the godly of our nation until within this few years: We, the magistrates, who have subscribed this paper (for the showing of our own innocence in this behalf) do declare and manifest our dislike and detestation against the wearing of such long hair, as against a thing uncivil and unmanly, whereby men do deform themselves, and offend sober and modest men, and do corrupt good manners: We do, therefore, earnestly entreat all the elders of this jurisdiction (as often as they shall see cause) to manifest their zeal against it in their public administrations, and to take care that the members of their respective churches be not defiled therewith, that so, such as shall prove obstinate, and will not reform themselves, may have God and man to witness against them."

John Tufton, the grandson of Captain Mason, and the first heir named in his will, died in his infancy, and the estate in New Hampshire descended, after the death of his mother, to his brother Robert Tufton, who became of age in 1650.

☞ The Secretary of War has directed the payment of the accounts of Gen. Butler's quartermaster without deduction. The amount is about $500,000.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The people of Coos are well aroused in the matter of raising volunteers. The Lancaster Republican says that the six Northern towns of Pittsburg, Clarksville, Stewardstown, Colebrook, Columbia and Stratford, have raised all their men on both quotas as three years' men, and have formed a company for the war.

—— The Ninth Regiment will leave for the seat of war on Monday next.

—— Maj. Stevens, of the Second Regiment, who received the appointment of Lt. Col. of the Ninth, does not accept the position. Maj. Titus has been made Lt. Col., and James F. Briggs, Esq., of Hillsborough, appointed to the Majorship.

TRADE TO LIBERIA, &c.—The New York Journal of Commerce says:—"Legitimate trade on the African coast is in a healthful condition, though we cannot reasonably expect large importations of palm oil while it is admitted into England free, and a custom duty of ten per cent. is exacted in the United States. Already some of our manufacturers lately engaged in working up this substance have discontinued operations, it being impossible to compete with manufacturers abroad. Of course the discouragement to African trade is serious, palm oil being the chief staple. Sufficient time has not yet elapsed to observe the effect upon trade of our recognition of Liberia, though the exemption of her vessels from tonnage dues, cannot operate otherwise than favorably."

The same paper also says that "advices from the West Coast speak of the slave trade as having almost entirely ceased, notwithstanding the withdrawal of the American squadron. A sea captain says he cruised 800 miles along the coast without seeing a single slaver. He was examined several times by British steamers, which seemed to be very active. The disappearance of the slavers is attributed partly to the British treaty with the United States, which permits the detention and search of suspected vessels; but more to the falling off in the demand for negroes on the Cuban sugar estates, consequent upon the American war. These facts are consistent with what is known of the slave trade in American ports. For some time past the fitting out of traders here has almost entirely ceased."

There is one other reason, besides the above, why slave-trading vessels are not now fitted out in New York and other ports, viz: because some guilty men have been made to suffer under our laws against that trade. The friends of that traffic are now out of office here, and many of them are in the rebel confederacy.

☞ We are indebted to Mr. George F. Willey, of the Maine Express Co., for the New Brunswick Freeman, printed at St. John, 21st, and received in Portsmouth on the morning of the 22d. The Freeman is the only paper in the Provinces which goes in for the Union—for which it has been mobbed two or three times. We copy from it one item:—

CONTRAST.—The International Steamboat Company, Yankee though it be, freely and promptly gave its property at Reed's Point for the accommodation of the transports and the troops last winter, and never claimed the slightest remuneration, though it actually paid $500 rent to the Corporation, for the period during which it was so employed. We doubt if, having freely given the use of the property, they could be induced to make any claim, even though the £700 claim of the Province on the British Government, for similar service were paid, and they knew it.

☞ Hon. Reverdy Johnson, of Maryland, has made his report to the government upon the points in the administration of affairs in New Orleans. He not long since went thither to investigate, and the President has approved his conclusions. It is understood that he recommends the return to the Consul of the Netherlands of $800,—000 seized by Gen. Butler—that the $716,—000 be returned to the French Consul, and also that a large amount of sugar and other merchandize be relinquished to the Greek, British and other foreign merchants domiciled in New Orleans, as, according to Mr. Johnson, these seizures by Gen. Butler cannot be justified by civil or military law.

☞ The correspondent of the Traveller writes that Gen. McCook's exasperated men revenged the murder of their commander by shooting and hanging seventy-five "secesh" individuals and by burning seventy-five houses. The soldiers are mostly Germans, and they will probably sacrifice more people before they consider the crime fully expiated.

☞ Gov. Sprague of Rhode Island has called a special session of the Legislature, to meet next Tuesday, to take into consideration the difficulties in which the system of bounties has involved recruiting in that State, and to provide a remedy.

☞ There is in naval circles a rumor that one of our most distinguished admirals, now on land duty, will be sent to the Mississippi. A fast iron-clad flag-ship is said to be rapidly completing for him in the West.

☞ Gen. Corcoran had a glorious reception in Philadelphia on Thursday.

AN EDITOR WANTED.

BY T. PARISH STEELE.

We have been without a paper
In our town a year or more;
Though we've had of printers plenty,
And of editors a score.
Some of them were "jam up" fellows,
Good at writing, good to plan;
But they all, without exception,
Failed in—pleasing every man!

For this mighty sin we "shipped" them;
Now, we're sending forth a call
For an editor to join us
Who will try to please us all,
Others need not ask for favor,
For of such we've had our fill,
We will heed no applications
Save from those who fill the bill.

Well I mind the first among us—
He was by no means the worst—
But we didn't seem to like him,
Simply 'cause—he was the first;
For, you know it is the custom,
Just to sacrifice a few;
So we placed our heels upon him,
Ere we knew what he could do.

Next there came a gifted fellow,
With a prepossessing way,
Who, but for a fatal blunder,
Would have, doubtless, won the day;
Blank, a crafty village merchant,
Bought a "puff" to gain a "lift,"
If was offensive—other merchants
Sent the editor a-drift.

Next we sent a learned committee
To a man in Baltimore,
Whom we knew to be a writer,
Full of caning, full of lore;
They solicited, he yielded,
Came, delighted young and old;
But he got in debt, and toddled,
Leaving us "the bag to hold."

Then a host of others followed,
Lived a while, and passed away;
Leaving this our thriving village,
Minus of a press to-day;
Hence, we send this little notice,
Knowing that some fellow can
Make a fortune here among us.
Just by—PLEASING EVERY MAN.

THE NAVY YARD WORKMEN.—Orders have been promulgated by Commandant Montgomery, directing that none but citizens of the United States shall be employed in any department of the Navy Yard. This will cause the discharge of a large number of foreigners who have declared their intention of becoming citizens.

☞ Rear Admiral George Campbell Reed, Governor of the Philadelphia Naval Asylum, died at Philadelphia, on Friday morning.

CALIFORNIA WINES.—The native or California wines are now on the increase, and are taking the place of the light wines of France.

With what different eyes do we view an action, when it is our own, and when it is another's!

MEETING OF THE CITIZENS OF PORTSMOUTH,
—AT—JEFFERSON HALL,
Saturday, August 23, 1862.

The legal voters of the City of Portsmouth are requested to meet at Jefferson Hall to day (SATURDAY) at 12 o'clock M., to take the sense of the people on raising the Bounty the City now offers Volunteers for three years, from two hundred to four hundred dollars.

PHINEAS NICHOLS,
JOSEPH H THACHER,
CHARLES ANNABLE,
JOHN S. TEBBETS,
LUTHER N. HURD,
Joint Committee of the City Council instructed to call a meeting of the Citizens.

THE WAR Meeting, on Market Square on Friday evening, was attended, we think, by nearly if not quite as large a number as either of the preceding meetings. A. H. Hoyt, Esq., presided; Messrs. H. D. Walker and C. W. Marden being Vice Presidents, and Messrs. Wm. H. Rollins and B. F. Webster, Secretaries.

The first speaker was G. J. Prescott, Esq., who traced the progress of the rebel leaders in their infamous career, in a clear and forcible manner.

He was followed by Hon. Moses T. Brown of Ohio, but a native of this State, in a speech so abounding in witticisms, sarcasm and invective, and containing so many fine hits, that it took immensely with the crowd, and it was with reluctance that they at length permitted him to take his seat.

Col. Donahoe, of the 10th regiment, was then introduced and most cordially received. In strong and earnest words he called upon his hearers to enlist: evidently little accustomed to public speaking, he had a few words to say in which his heart was interested, and he said them well.

Calls were then made for Charles Robinson, Esq., who in responding advocated giving $400 bounty. After he had concluded, Mr. Brown again spoke, urging that the calls of country and of duty be first heeded, and praying volunteers not to act from merely mercenary motives.

Two or three others addressed the meeting, when a scattering of a large portion of the crowd was occasioned by an alarm of fire. A rocket instead of pursuing its journey towards the stars, took a horizontal direction and passed through the blinds and glass of a first-story window in the house of D. R. Rogers, Esq., on Congress street.—Fire was communicated to the curtains but it was promptly extinguished. One company, on its return, forced a passage for its engine through the dense crowd around the speakers' stand. It was, probably done in a momentary forgetfulness of the alarm which would naturally be occasioned thereby, particularly where there were so many ladies, yet the act appeared wholly unnecessary and inexcusable.

☞ Considerable excitement was naturally caused in this city, on Friday, by the telegraphic dispatch received by ex-Gov. Goodwin, telling of the advance of the rebel army from Richmond, and the Union troops retreating toward Washington. And as the story lost nothing as it went,—by the time it reached the neighboring towns, the Union army was entirely demolished, and the Confederate forces on a clear march for Washington.

☞ Newburyport is having a series of enthusiastic war meetings. The citizens meet on the Mall afternoons, and at the City Hall in the evening, where speeches are made and recruits taken. John B. Gough was expected to address the war meeting of Wednesday evening. We know of no better orator to arouse the people than Mr. Gough, and if he accepts any invitation to speak upon the war, by all means let us have him here in Portsmouth. *

SUNDAY SERVICES.—Rev. Dr. Barrows, pastor of the new Tremont street M. E. Church, Boston, will preach in the State st. Methodist Church to-morrow.

Rev. Benjamin H. Bailey, of Dedham, Mass., will preach at the Unitarian Church to-morrow.

☞ The Tribune's list of the sick and wounded soldiers who arrived at New York on Wednesday morning in the steamship Atlantic from Eortress Monroe, contains the name of E. Maybury, Co.C, 16th Mass. Regiment, of Portsmouth, N. H.'

☞ Capt. Betton, on Friday night, had enlisted 52 men for the 13th regiment, of which Aaron F. Stevens, of Nashua, is Col., George Bowers, also of Nashua, Lieut. Col., and Jacob J. Storer, of this city, Major.

☞ Hon. George M. Herring, the U. S. Assessor for this Collection District, has appointed Mr. John Hodgdon, 2d, Assistant Assessor for this city.

☞ Newburyport offers $200 bounty to her nine months' volunteers. How much is Portsmouth going to give?

Steel Spring Saddle Horse,

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jules A Grandjean. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1860. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but the obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA; and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my neighbors, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26d

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prescribed, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since.

CAROLINE H. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.
SIMEON SWETT.
Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure, as I have had no sign of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.

HANNAH ROWE.
PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOVD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. F. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1839, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I ascribe your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY.

EXCURSION TO THE LAKE, VIA CONCORD.

The excursion to the Lake on Wednesday last, although second in time, was by no means secondary in importance. Rarely, if ever, has old Portsmouth witnessed a collection of happier faces than were assembled at the C. & P. railroad station that morning. On our arrival at the station the iron horse was snorting restlessly, as if wishing to satisfy his many impatient friends. Soon, however, "the master" with a gesture of command, waved his hand, and we were off on our much anticipated excursion. A pleasant ride of an hour and forty minutes, now past smiling fields and shady groves and anon past a lovely village or town, brought us to the city of Manchester. Stopping here but a moment (for time was precious) we again pursued our way and at fifteen minutes past eight arrived at Concord, the lovely capital-city of the "Granite State."

Here we remained a few moments to exchange engines, which time was industriously employed by many of the passengers in obtaining refreshments from the saloons near the route. Presently the warning bell gathered the refreshment seekers to their seats and we were again moving on. At five minutes past ten we arrived at Lake Winnipesogee where the "Lady of the Lake" was waiting to receive us. So we bade adieu, for a while, to the cars and flocked to the steamer.

Here we witnessed all that is beautiful and sublime in nature. Truthfully could we say while gazing upon the beautiful lake with the green islands dotting its surface and the mountains stretching away in the distance—

"In thy mountain scenery yet,
All we adore of Nature, in her wild
And frolic hour of infancy, is met;
And never has a summer's morning smiled
Upon a lovelier scene;"
"Green isle and circling shore are blended there,
In wild reality."

After a sail of one hour we landed at Bear Island where we enjoyed ourselves as a picnic party until three o'clock. Then a pleasant sail to Centre Harbor and return to the Wiers completed our excursion on the lake. At half past five we again took the cars on our "homeward-bound" trip. We arrived in Portsmouth at half-past nine o'clock in excellent spirits and feeling amply repaid for our excursion. And I believe many of us can say,

"When life is old,
And many a scene forgot, the heart will hold
Its memory of this."

EXCURSIONIST.

It will be seen by the advertisement, that a third of these dollar trips, which afford nearly two hundred miles of beautiful excursion by land and water, will come off on Wednesday next. This week all the tickets were taken up on Tuesday forenoon. Those who wish to be certain of seats should secure their tickets by Monday night. During the last two trips, Mr. Richard Hilton has supplied the company, throughout the ride and at Bear Island, with the best of his excellent ice cream, and with an abundance of pastry, sarsaparilla beer, &c.

THE TABLEAUX.—Some of the patriotic members of the Unitarian and Episcopal Societies of this city have been preparing of late a series of Tableaux, to be exhibited to a very select audience, for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission. It was first purposed to employ a large drawing-room; but the interest of the public demanded more spacious accommodations, and the Temple was engaged. On Wednesday evening last they were exhibited to an audience of about 400, composed almost exclusively of the elite of the city and the neighboring beaches. The representations were aided by all the adjuncts which wealth could command and beauty grace. Some of the tableaux were perfect. As we sat at such a distance as to lose the individuality of the faces in the scenes which they portrayed, it will not seem invidious if we especially name the Dream of the Orient, the three familiar scenes of the Evil One, the Chess Player and the Guardian Spirit, Faith, the Bride of Heaven, the Courtship of Miles Standish, the Three Fishers, the two comic scenes, the Flower of the Family, represented by a barrel supposed to contain that inestimable commodity, and the Light of Other Days, represented by a tallow candle, solus. The last but one, the Artist and the Good Spirit, was the finest conceived of all, and was most worthily, fitly and beautifully rendered. The Pantomime of the Mistletoe Bough though finely acted, seemed inappropriate and jarred horribly upon us. Yet as a whole, the execution was very equal and very admirable, and furnished much pleasant entertainment to our citizens, besides helping in a worthy cause.

A MISTAKE.—The cool way in which those who seek to discourage enlistments assume that all who go out to the war will certainly never return, ought to be answered by referring them to the facts. We lose hundreds of men, it is true, by exposure, fever and the casualties of the conflict; but when the figures are examined do we find that proportionally anything like the number are lost or are sickened that we imagine from our general impressions? We shall find that we are deceiving ourselves in this matter, and that there is a good deal of "bugbear" about the dangers of camp. Not but what instances occur of sickness and suffering, sad indeed to contemplate; but let us find the exaggeration to which these cases, in common with all other incidents in human experience, are liable, be noted, and let due allowance be made therefor.

☞ The Chronicle says: "The Democratic Convention which met at Portland on Thursday, nominated Hon. Bien Bradbury for Governor. Resolutions were passed declaring the party for the Union as it was, the Constitution as it is, declaring that the Constitution formed the spirit of concession and compromise, and must be preserved by the same means, and not by military power alone." They omitted to say that Virgil C. Farris, the author of the famous Hamlin letter, was one of the animating spirits of the Convention.

ENLISTMENTS.—Up to Friday noon, Capt. Towle has enlisted 80 men—58 of whom belong to Portsmouth. Capt. Betton 45 men, all of Portsmouth. Capt. Hill 28 men—a majority belonging to Rye and elsewhere. To-day, Friday, is the last chance to secure the $100 U. S. bounty. Improve the few hours that remain, all you who wish to serve your country.

Mr. N. J. Coffin brought up 13 recruits from Rye on Thursday. There are others ready to enlist, but no more will be raised by the town until they know their quota, which is probably now filled.

U. S. HOSPITAL IN BOSTON.—Robert M. Mason, Esq., who is now in Europe, has nobly offered the use of his house in Pemberton square to the U. S. Government, for a Military Hospital, and it will soon be in readiness for fifty patients, the Government having accepted the offer.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ Concerning that "woman in another column," and referring to her smash-up in the columns of this Chronicle, the Lawrence Journal says:—

"Old Speer's lady in another column,' our readers have doubtless missed, too.—She 'picked' us to the tune of a year's advertising, for which the expressman charged us 75 cents, and gave us 12 quarts of veritable Sambuci. We drank to her health from one, and some philanthropic individual 'drew' the rest. We haven't heard that he hung himself! The 'lady'—poor thing! our 'devil' in a lucky hour knocked into pi! If 'Sambuci Speer'—or any brother craftsman desires to 'see' her up and to 'picking' again, they may, but not we."

☞ The Boards of Trade of the several cities on the great lakes, propose to organize by voluntary enlistment, 2000 or more lake sailors, and to offer them to the Government for ocean service, the several boards to pay their wages, and the Government to furnish rations, clothing and equipments.

Mr. Attorney General Dwight Foster gives an opinion favoring Gov. Andrew's order to enroll the colored men to answer a United States draft. We think Mr. Foster will find it very difficult to convince the United States Supreme Court of the soundness of his opinion, or to induce President Lincoln to accept the services of persons who cannot be citizens of the country in lieu of American citizens.—Newburyport Herald.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of diseases are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dimness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful influence on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, Timidity, &c. are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and board in his private apartments.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Cordial, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Price for $1 and a red stamp.

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system, Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. DOW, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The fine or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert E. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,

MATHEWS'

VENETIAN LIQUID

HAIR DYE.

☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1846; since that time it has been used by THOUSANDS, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.

THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.

THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.

THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL softness of the HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.

THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

The Chronicle.

☞ Mr. Isham, the Memphis correspondent of the Chicago Times, was arrested on an order from Gen. Grant, for publications "false in fact and pernicious in tendency." He will be sent to the penitentiary for confinement till the war is over, unless sooner discharged. It was Mr. Isham who first reported the appearance of ten iron-clad steamers in Mobile harbor, and again reported the confirmation of his first dispatch.

☞ An interesting little boy about seven years of age died of hydrophobia in Louisville on Friday night. When the child was first seized with hydrophobia, its friends very unfortunately resorted to applications of the worthless remedy known as "the mad stone," no physician having been called until the patient was in the last agonies of the horrible disease.

CIVILIAN OFFICERS.—Laborious efforts have been made to laugh down such men as Banks, Butler, Schenck and others, because not consecrated in the polytechnic schools; but the sneer has always been traced to a few of the conceited adepts of West Point, who claim a monopoly of warlike talent for that overrated institution.—These people forget that most of the leading generals of France, under the First Napoleon, were drawn from the classes that obtained their whole education in the field.—Wilkes' Spirit.

☞ It is said there is a man living in Moravia, a peasant, who is 147 years old, and still hale and hearty. He was formerly a soldier, and re-married at the age of 90. He lives on milk and potatoes.

☞ The Empress of Austria, who has been at the point of death ever since she got married, is now reported as in excellent health, and making pleasure excursions from Possenhofen with the Queen of Naples.

THE KNICKERBOCKER Magazine, for September, is published. The October number will commence a new series, under entirely new proprietory and editorial management.

☞ Ex-President Buchanan, it is now stated, has resolved not to leave "Wheatland" to reside upon the new farm, near Downington, lately purchased by himself and Col. Baker.

☞ It is said that a great continental power has ordered 50,000 breech-loading rifles from an American concern which has samples in the international exhibition.

☞ The President has authorized Gov. Stanley to order the election of representatives in Congress for the 1st and 2d districts of North Carolina.

The meanest man in the world is now living in New Jersey. In helping him out of a river once, a man tore the collar of his coat. The next day he sued him for assault and battery.

"Come, Bob, get up," said an indulgent father to his hopeful son, one morning; "remember, the early bird catches the worm." "What do I care for worms?" replied the young hopeful; "mother won't let me go a fishing."

Defence of Crinoline.—Man should receive it joyfully and gratefully, as a striking proof that it is physically impossible for lovely woman to contract a bad habit.

THE REBELLION.

An intercepted letter dated Aug. 5th, from Gen. Hindman to the rebel War Department, states that he has 18,000 well armed infantry, 6000 cavalry, and 54 pieces of artillery at Little Rock. He proposed awaiting an attack from Gen. Curtis, instead of attacking him at Helena.—He intends to annihilate Curtis and then push vigorously for the Missouri river. He has received supplies of arms and ammunition from east of the Mississippi river.—Gen. Curtis is fortifying Helena as his base of operations.

Williamsburg, Va., was evacuated by the Union troops on Wednesday afternoon.

Heavy reinforcements have been sent to Fredericksburg, Va.: there is a very large artillery force already gathered there, and batteries so disposed as to completely command the approaches to the city. Our pickets are thrown out twenty miles, and is will not be easy to take Gen. Burnside by surprise.

Rebel dispatches report an attack on Decatur, Ala., on the 7th inst., and the capture of 173 Federals and 56 stand of arms; also that the Yankees are about evacuating Baton Rouge.

A steamer, arrived at New York from Fortress Monroe, reports that Gen. McClellan left there on Thursday, with a large part of his army, for Aquia Creek, to reinforce Gen. Pope.

A dispatch from Buffalo says it was reported that Wm. L. Yancey had passed through there, on route for Europe, via Canada. He is bearer of rebel dispatches.

BY TELEGRAPH.

[The following dispatch was received on Sunday room by Messrs. Hutchings, Ilsley and others]

Gen. Pope has fallen back across the Rappahannock, and made that stream his line of defence. The rebels are in great force on the south bank and have made several ineffectual attempts to cross and turn our right flank, at the same time making a demonstration in our centre. Such a disposition of our forces has been made that there are no fears of a further retreat. Gen. McClellan has arrived with a large part of his force, and it is believed has assumed the command of both armies. All the advices received indicate our success thus far at all points, though not without some loss of men, artillery and horses.

Gen. W. R. Johnson, having attacked, with 800 Federal soldiers, 1200 guerrillas under Morgan, was defeated; Gen. Johnson and 300 of our men were taken prisoners.

The Granada Appeal says that a general movement of the whole south-western rebel army is to take place at once, and it predicts that Tennessee and Kentucky will soon be in possession of the Confederates.

MEMPHIS.—A letter frets Memphis to the St. Louis Republican says the soldiers having been relieved from work on the fortifications by contrabands, have nothing more onerous than guard duty to perform, and they would be recuperating had not the fountains of whiskey been opened to them indiscriminately. Nothing kills Northern men faster in that hot climate than undue indulgence in intoxicating drinks. The work on the fortifications progresses slowly, and some heavy guns have been mounted. The repeal of the cotton prohibition will have a good effect in promoting the forwarding of that article from the country.

☞ The Paris, Ky., correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette gives the following account of the summary method pursued by Col. Metcalfe:

"I was present to-day when one of his customers was brought in and told that he was assessed a thousand dollars. 'Well, how long will you give me to raise it?' says the rich Secesh. 'Three years or during the war,' answered the Colonel. 'Oh, well, well,' says the Secesh, 'you are not so hard with us after all. I will have it for you in time,' and starts leisurely for the door.—'But,' says the Colonel, 'you must accept our hospitality during that time at your own expense. Guard, take Mr.—— to that mansion that was made with hands down on the classic bluffs of Stoner.' 'Stop, stop,' says Secesh; 'now I think of it, I have that amount in my pocket, and have not the least objection to helping our country in her hour of need.'"

☞ The U. S. frigate Santee, from Galveston, via Ship Island Aug. 1, arrived at Boston on Saturday. Among her officers are, C. Ricker, Acting Master, Henry S. Lambert and Charles W. Adams, Acting Master's Mates, all of this city.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— A resolution was introduced in the Manchester Common Council, on Thursday evening, that a bounty of $100 be given those enlisting for three years, and $50 each to nine months' recruits, but the matter was postponed. The prevailing opinion as expressed was that a sufficient sum had already been offered, and if money was to be appropriated, it had better be for those already in the service. Manchester now pays $58 to three years' men.

—— A little boy, in playing with matches, on Monday afternoon, set fire to two barns belonging to John L. Tallant, Esq., in East Concord, four miles from the city proper, which were entirely consumed.—Thirty tons of the best quality of hay were destroyed, together with considerable personal property. Loss about $800.

—— The 8th Regiment sent home over $43,000 at its last payment.

—— Lieut. Colonel Lull, of the 8th regiment, in a letter to the Manchester Mirror, dated Camp Parapet, La., July 23d, says:

I have obtained leave from Gen. Butler, and send to-day to New Orleans, to recruit men to fill the regiment to the maximum number. We are wanting about 150 to fill up. Col. Fearing is in feeble health yet, and I am in command of the Regiment. It is all together again, the last having come from Fort Macomb two weeks since. The Regiment is in good heart, pride, spirits, ambition, and I want just five minutes to take them from a sound sleep and put them in line of battle. I don't know how they will fight but I believe in the men. If others don't, they can just try them on, as the boys say. By the way, a feature of soldiering develops itself which I was not previously aware of. I had supposed that the large, muscular, healthy farm laborers, from farming districts of the State, would make a class of soldiers that would endure best the hardships of a soldiers life, but it is not so. They sicken and die without provocation, and can endure but little compared with a small, wiry shop boy, mechanic, or city rowdy. One of these will kill a dozen of your great strapping farm laborers.

—— The N. H. Battery is in Gen. Pope's division. Aug. 17, they were encamped on the late battle field at Cedar Mountain.

—— Concord has 1213 persons liable to do military duty; of these 612 have enlisted for three years.

—— In Peterborough, four or five weeks ago, a man named Joseph Smith borrowed a small amount of money of Mr. Moses Wilkins and in doing so ascertained the precise place in which the latter kept his money. On Sunday, while the family were at church, he made use of this knowledge. He entered the house, through a basement window, picked the lock of a desk, tore off that of a small trunk inside, and stole $238. Subsequently, he paid Mr. Wilkins the amount borrowed, out of his own money.—He was arrested and pleaded guilty.

—— A man in Peterborough, has complained of his brother for assault upon him, the offence consisting of beating and choking, and other very unbrotherly demonstrations, while at work in the hay-field. The brother was accordingly ordered to pay a fine of ten dollars and costs of prosecution, amounting in all to $18.38 for the luxury of pounding the complainant, and further to recognize in the sum of $100 to keep the peace.

CHAMPION OF AMERICAN ROWERS.—James Hammill, of Pittsburg, Pa., who astonished the boating public with his superior rowing at the regatta in Boston on the 4th of July last, rowed two matches with Ward, of Newburgh, N. Y., on the Schuylkill, a week or two since. Ward has heretofore been considered the champion of America, and his friends not long ago challenged Chambers, the champion of the Thames, to come over and row for $5000 on the Hudson, but the match was not successfully carried forward. Everybody, therefore, was astonished to witness an easy triumph on the part of Hammill, and several thousand dollars changed hands on the result. Hammill, who takes a short, quick stroke, in the second race made five miles in 37 min. and 41 sec.

☞ We have just received from L. Prang & Co., publishers, the very convenient War Telegram Marking Map of Maryland, the District of Columbia, Eastern Virginia, and the Shenandoah Valley, 22 by 28 inches.—This map gives with the utmost distinctness every inch of ground where the Union forces under Pope, Burnside, McClellan, Sigel, Banks, etc., etc, are opposed to the rebels under Stonewall Jackson, Johnson, Lee and Jeff. Davis.

☞ Magruder has made a rebel Court Martial believe that he got through one day of his life without being drunk. He was acquitted of a charge of intoxication at the battle of Malvern Hill, and says he has sworn to drink no more till the end of the war.

☞ The Musical String of Pearls, is a new collection of popular Hymns and Tunes, by Rev. J. W. Dadmun. For sale by Williams & Co., Boston, and J. H. Foster, Portsmouth.

☞ Eighteen Jesuits, or Christian Brothers, received foreign passes, and had their passports signed at the U. S. Marshal's office in New York, on Monday.

GEN. TURCHIN AT CHICAGO.—Gen. Turchin was welcomed home to Chicago on Tuesday by an immense and enthusiastic ovation. A committee of the Board of Trade met him a short distance from the city, and on his arrival there he was escorted in procession through the principal streets. He was greeted all along the route by the most enthusiastic cheering.—Subsequently he attended a monster meeting at Bryan Hall, where a good deal of speech making took place. We copy the General's remarks on the occasion.

Fellow Citizens of Chicago: When I left this city with my regiment, I never expected to receive such a reception as this. I have simply done my duty; that's all I have done. (Enthusiastic applause) I did my duty as a soldier, and I trust as an American citizen also. (Applause) Although I am not versed in politics, I made up my mind that the cause of this rebellion is slavery, and I acted upon the principle that the cause should be removed. (Long continued applause) At the same time, I knew also that those men who were relying upon the power of slavery must not be handled with soft gloves, but a little roughly, and so I handled them a little roughly. (Applause) I don't know whether to call it a happy or an unhappy result that my superior officer did not approve of it, and thought differently. He thought I must be court-martialed and dismissed from the service. (Groans and hisses for Don Carlos Buell, and cries "You shall go back, General") My wife informs me that she has a commission making me Brigadier General, in her pocket, but I haven't got it and haven't seen it. (Applause and three cheers for Madame Turchin.)

As much as I rejoice to see this kind, and I may say great reception, it would be more pleasing for me to have my poor boys of the 19th with me, now strung along that railroad. (Cries, "Shame, shame.") They are punished for me, and as you sympathize with me, I want you to sympathize with them. There are five regiments at Huntsville, the 1st Wisconsin at Morris, another at Athens, another at Pulaski and several at Columbia, all upon or contiguous to this line of railroad. It would seem as if there might be sent each of these one or two companies to guard this road. They would never feel it. But, no! Our boys are posted in squads of fifteen or twenty for eighty miles. It is low minded, it is contemptible. I cannot but feel the greatest contempt for a man, who at the head of a powerful army will behave thus toward soldiers. I do not care for myself, but it is a shame to punish my men.

I have studied secession and secessionists in Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama, and I tell you it is no use to fight against them unless we use every means in our power. They are too powerful to be fought otherwise.

Who are these guerillas? They are citizens who pretend to be peaceful, but who are plotting treason all the time. They are all the time looking out for a straggling Yankee. As soon as he finds one he gets two neighbors, they take their shot guns, go out and catch him. They look out for pickets and shoot them. You know how they murdered Gen. McCook. That is what I call a war of extermination. We must do the same, and until we use all men, slaves included, we cannot put them down. (Applause.)

What I have done is not much; but what I could do, were I allowed, might amount to something. My friends, I must close.—We have been talking about the Union and hurrahing for the Union a great while. Let us now talk and hurrah for conquest. (Applause.)

The General closed amidst long continued cheering, which was twice and thrice renewed as the Commission was exhibited to the audience, appointing Col. Turchin a Brigadier General, and setting aside the court martial of Don Carlos Buell. But we must say that any officer who talks thus about his superior, deserves to be court-martialed effectually.

☞ The house and barn of Mr. Seneca Adams, of Newbury, Mass., were destroyed by fire on Thursday night. There were several tons of hay in the barn. Two horses were rescued; but all else—carriages, farming utensils, hens, a wagon loaded with 60 bushels of corn, sleigh, harnesses, &c., were utterly destroyed. The house was only twenty feet distant, and the whole building was destroyed, with furniture, beds and bedding. A few valuable papers only were saved. Mr. Adams had been confined to his chamber for several weeks previous, and was on his bed with a bilious fever. With the assistance of his friends he was soon in safer quarters, but the consequence of so much excitement, with the consciousness of his loss, it is feared will be unfavorable. There was a policy on the buildings for $1000. The loss of Mr. Adams cannot be less than double that amount.

THE BOUNTY.—In Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, a communication was received from Chas. Robinson, Esq., inclosing the names of sixty-five citizens who pledged themselves to enlist for three years provided the city would give them $400 bounty. Accepted and sent down to the Common Council. The subject was referred to a joint committee, which reported in favor of an increase of the bounty to $400. The report was re-committed to them, with instructions to obtain an expression of the sentiment of the people in regard to the matter.

Accordingly, it was expected that a general town meeting would be called at Jefferson Hall on Friday; but the call was not issued till Saturday, by the City Council committee. A very large number of the voters and tax-payers of the city were present at noon of that day, in answer to the call—probably a large majority of poll, if not of property represented—though we saw many heavy tax-payers; and all present seemed to be of one mind: "Let them have the money—be liberal."

The meeting was called to order by Aldermen Nichols and J. H. Thacher, of the Committee. Charles A. Shannon, Esq., was elected Chairman, but declined; as also did Chas. Robinson, Esq. J. B. Adams, Esq., was unanimously elected, and amid much applause took the chair. After two fruitless elections for Secretary, Joseph P. Morse, Esq., was heartily welcomed to the desk. Mr. Adams read the call for the meeting, as published in the Chronicle of Saturday, and declared the meeting opened for business.

Mr. Robinson, being called for, stated that he had the names of eighty or more good citizens, who would enlist immediately if the city would double its bounty of $200. Capt. Towle asked if the men he and others had already recruited, would also have the same; and the cry and answer was, serve all alike, of the last three-years' quota. Capt. Towle also called upon those who had the means, to furnish funds in aid of needy recruits.

Samuel Spinney, Esq., offered a resolution that all who had or might volunteer for three years in the army, from Portsmouth, should receive $400 bounty each from the city. He was led to do this, he said, to meet such cases as that of young Palmer, who was buried here a few days ago.

Mr. Frank Smith, (himself one of the original three years' men,) opposed the resolution as liable to defeat the whole plan of increasing the bounty—and he was applauded by the audience; and Mr. W. F. Laighton's motion to indefinitely postpone Mr. Spinney's resolution, was unanimously carried.

J. P. Morse, Esq., offered a resolution, that it is the voice of this meeting, that the City Council appropriate [a voice here moved to amend by adding and pay] a sum sufficient to pay each volunteer for the quota of Portsmouth of 300,000 men for three years, or during the war, $400. This was unanimously carried, amid great applause; and it was voted that the Chairman nominate a Committee of three to immediately notify the Mayor of the above action of the meeting; and to request him to call the City Council together that (Saturday) afternoon or evening, to take such action on the question of paying the above sum as a bounty for recruits, as the Council think the exigency of the country and the above expression of the citizens may require. The Chairman appointed as said Committee, Messrs. J. P. Morse, Israel Kimball, and Nathan P. Thacher, who were accepted by the meeting, which by vote was then dissolved.

CITY COUNCIL.—At the meeting on Saturday evening, there was not a quorum of the Board of Aldermen present, and consequently no business was transacted.

In the Common Council, a committee of three was appointed to draft an ordinance granting a bounty of $400, to volunteers for three years under the last call. When the committee were ready to report, it was found that there was not a quorum present, and the Board adjourned.

☞ We are requested to state that the red tickets only, printed "third" Excursion to the Lakes, will be received on Wednesday next—and that the number is limited to a much smaller car-load and boat-load than heretofore. So, whoever wants to go, should secure tickets now.

☞ Richmond papers of the 18th and 19th inst. announce the assemblage of the rebel Congress and give Davis' message.—It is in his usual style, charging us with rapine, wanton destruction of private property, murder of captives, &c. He recommends further legislation to make the conscription universal, also the issue of additional treasury notes. He says the very large increase of force recently called into the field by the President of the United States may render it necessary hereafter to extend the provisions of the conscript law so as to embrace persons between the ages of 35 and 45 years.

THE WANTS OF MAN.

BY JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

"Man wants but little here below,
Nor wants that little long."
'Tis not with me exactly so—
But 'tis so in the song.
My wants, in days gone by, are many, and if told,
Would number many a score;
And were each wish a mint of gold,
I still should long for more.

What first I want is daily bread,
And water to slake my thirst;
And all the realms of nature spread
Before me when I dine.
Four courses scarcely can provide
My appetite to quell,
With many cooks from France beside,
To dress my dinner well.

And then I want a mansion fair,
A dwelling house in style,
Four stories high for wholesome air,
A massive marble pile;
With halls for banquets and for balls,
All furnished rich and fine;
With stabled stud in fifty stalls,
And cellars for my wine.

I want a steward, butler, cooks,
A coachman, footman, grooms,
A library of well bound books,
And picture-garnished rooms.
Correggios, Magdalens and Night,
The Madonna of the Chair;
Guido's fleet courriers to their flight,
And Claudes at least a pair.

I want a cabinet profuse
Of curious, costly gems;
A painting press for private use,
Of fifty thousand gems;
And plants, and minerals and shells,
Worms, insects, fishes, birds;
And every beast on earth that dwells
In solitude or herds.

I want a board of burnished plate,
Of solid gold, and plated,
Tureens of twenty pounds in weight,
With sculpture's richest mould.
Plateaux, with chandeliers and lamps,
Plates, dishes, all the same;
And Porcelain vases with the stamps
Of Sevres, Angoulême.

And maples of fair glossy stain
Must with Turkey carpets be decked,
And carpets of the Wilton grain
Must cover all my floors;
My walls, with tapestry bedecked,
Must never be outdone;
And damask curtains must protect
Their colors from the sun.

I want—who does not want?—a wife,
Affectionate and fair;
To solace all the woes of life,
And all its joys to share;
Of temper sweet, of yielding will,
Of firm yet placid mind;
With all my faults to love me still,
With sentiment refined.

And as Time's car incessant runs,
And fortune fills my store,
I want of daughters and of sons,
From eight to half a score.
I want (alas! can mortals dare
Such bliss on earth to crave?)
That all the girls may share well fair—
The boys all wise and brave.

I want a kind and tender heart,
For others' wants to feel,
A soul secure from Fortune's dart,
A bosom armed with steel,
To bear divine chastisement's rod;
And mingle in my plan
Submission to the will of God,
With charity to man.

I want a keen observing eye,
An ever-listening ear;
The truth through all disguise to spy,
And the voice to learn;
A tongue to speak, at virtue's need,
In Heaven's sublimest strain;
And firm the cause of men to plead,
And never plead in vain.

I want the seal of power and place,
The assign of command;
Charged by the People's unbought grace
To relieve land—
Nor crown nor sceptre would I ask,
But from my country's will.
By day, by night, to ply the task
Her cup of bliss to fill.

I want the voice of honest praise
To follow me behind,
And to be thought, in future days,
The friend of human kind;
That after ages, as they rise,
Exulting, may proclaim,
In mingled union to the skies,
Their blessings on my name.

These are the wants of mortal man;
I cannot want them long;—
For life itself is but a span,
And earthly bliss a song.
My last great want, absorbing all,
Is, when beneath the sod,
And summoned to my final call,
The mercy of my God.

☞ Mr. Plumb, of New York, who was arrested a few days ago on the charge of uttering treasonable sentiments and discouraging enlistments, has been discharged.

We have heard a great deal of the superior excellence of Speer's Sambuci wine, and of its being adopted in European hospitals in preference to their own production. This most scientific men of this country and liquor assayers appointed by government, pronounce it a valuable article. We cannot write more on this subject now, but cheerfully publish the following card, which speaks for itself:

PORTLAND, Feb. 1, 1862.

The undersigned, having become practically acquainted with the Sambuci Wine, manufactured by Alfred Speer, of New Jersey, would say that he considers it a superior article, and far preferable to the quality of Port Wine furnished in this market at the same price.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse,
(From the Home Journal.)
"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not war-pants, but remains firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest child's novelty is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜
RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1862. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA; and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent, for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing on my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Dr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, and the outward application of his Ointment, and I have had no trouble from it since. CAROLINE H. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.
SIMON SWETT.
Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, from which I suffered great loss of rest and strength, and vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give my relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of those complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1862. Dr Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I feel bound to say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me, and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. P. LEAVITT.

Form ELDER T CHESLEY, Esq., May 31, 1861.
"Dr. Swett, Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1860, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow worse; finally she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH." Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night and labor by day. I believe your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may20

SUMMER.

Lo! lazy Summer, swarthy, in the sun
Lies panting, with bare breasts, upon the hills
Swathing her limbs in haze warm and dun,
Where splendors into dusky splendors run,
And sultry glory all the heaven o'erfills.

Not a white dimple stirs amid the corn,
Not a low ripple shivers through her leaves;
Since, wrapped in gold and crimson gleams at morn,
Came flashing through the east the regal morn,
No tinsled twitterings gurgle round the eaves.

Flooded in sunny silence sleep the kine;
In languid murmurs brooklets float and flow;
The quaint farm gables in the rich light shine,
And round them jasmined honeysuckles twine,
And close beside them sunflowers burnand blow.

Amid the glowing heat I lay medown,
And into visions swarms the moted air;
Gleams up before me many a famous town,
Filtered and crested with a regal crown,
Outshimmering in an orient purple glare;

Lo! lowly Tadmor, burning in its sands—
Baalbeck and Babylon—I see slow streams
Gilding by mosque and minaret—see the gleams
Of sun in sunset—gulfs of strands,
And drowsy Bagdad buried deep in dreams;—

See swarthy monarchs flushed in purple rings
Of silken courtiers;—through half open doors
Catch the spice odors and the cool of springs
Leaping forever in a maze of wings,
See light forms dancing over pearly floors!

Sleeping seraglios, spire, and tremulous dome,
Winking and drowsy splendor all the day.—
See forest haunts where thick the lotus foam,—
See thirsty panthers splashed in bloody loam,
Leap terribly as lightnings on their prey;

Or stand with Cortez on a mountain peak
Above the Aztec city—see unrolled
Gem-threaded shores of Montezuma weak;
See the white temples swarming thick and sleek,
And sunny streets steeped by towers of gold;

See silken sails float by, ambrosial,
Laden with spices, up a Persian glen;
Or stand on Lebanon, mid the cedars tall,
Or hear the soft and silver fall
Of water down a jut of Darien.

But lo! a waking shiver in the trees,
And voices 'mid the hay-cocks in the glen;
The sun is setting; and the crimson seas
Are shaken into splendor by the breeze,
And all the busy world is up again!

—London Athenæum.

☞ This is the way Vanity Fair delicately alludes to the postage stamp currency:—

We have a little boy, (hired,) who is hardly yet nineteen years old, and says some very smart things:

"Don't you wish you was a bird?" asked he, yesterday, of a toothless man who was vainly endeavoring to "make change" with some postage stamps.

"A bird, my boy?—why a bird?" inquired the gentleman, anxiously.

"Cos then you'd have a Bill instead of Gums," replied the clever and interesting child.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attendant upon abuse of pleasure are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual to business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotins warranted the best preventive. Order by mail Three for $1 and a red stamp.

April 7—1y 8aw.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon a new and philosophic principle, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate cases yield to its influence, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—Letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

April7, 1862—1y 8aw

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all diseases and wrong conditions of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated Dr. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail—Two for $1 and a red stamp.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or examining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST EVIDENCE OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse"

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending, such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.

These Wines, already well known as pure, delicious, and healthful, have of late been greatly improved by experienced hands brought from the Champagne country.

In Flavor and Bouquet, Sparkle and Vinosity, they compare well with the best of foreign productions, while placing over the bulk of those sent to this country the inestimable advantage of being absolutely pure. Sold by

TUESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

A Cincinnati dispatch states that there is entirely too much importance attached to the rebel raids in Tennessee and Kentucky. L le credence should be awarded the dis. patches,as it is known they are prepared by the rebels with the view of having them fall into our hands.

By steamers from New Orleans, we learn that all the property of John Slidell has been confiscated by order of Gen. Butler. An order from Gen Butler commands the turning over to the U. S. authorities of all arms in New Orleans. The French Consul expressed a desire that French citizens should be allowed to retain their arms for use in case of a servile insurrection. Gen. Butler replied that the protection of the United States will be given in such a case.

The Jackson Mississippian says the Federal Ram Sumter grounded opposite the Bayou Sara, and the rebel authorities demanded her surrender, but the crew and her stores were put on board transports and the vessel blown up.

A telegram from Smithland, Ky., says that Hopkinsville, Ky., was taken on Friday by the rebels under Johnson, and that they were moving towards Smithland.—They number 400 men.

The Memphis Appeal of the 15th inst. says it is a mistake that the crew and officers of the rebel ram Arkansas escaped.—With the exception of the chief pilot and three lieutenants, they were captured by the Federal cavalry and carried off. Capt. Stephens, in command during the engagement, was among the prisoners, as Brown was not on board, being laid up with a wound received as Vicksburg.

A letter from Gen. Pope's army, dated Friday, 9 o'clock A. M., states that cannonading and musketry were frequent up the river, where Gen. Sigel's command was at work. The main baggage train and also Gen. Sigel's were being sent to Warrenton junction, a necessary precaution against disaster. A letter to the Philadelphia Press, 22d, states that Gen. Sigel captured 2000 rebels, who crossed the Rappahannock on a bridge, which was destroyed by the fire of a Federal battery, cutting off their retreat and forcing them to surrender, after a loss of 400 killed and wounded.

A gentleman who left the Rappahannock on Sunday morning, states that though there had been frequent skirmishes, the loss on either side has not been serious. Gen. Pope holds the railroad bridge, as well as two commanding positions on the opposite side, which the rebels have assailed several times. Our troops are distributed along the river and have repulsed all assaults. They will be able to maintain their position until a junction with the other army corps enables them to resume the offensive. The rebels are endeavoring to turn our right and get in our rear by way of Warrenton. The reported capture of 2000 rebels is not confirmed.

The St. Louis Democrat learns that on Wednesday, Rosecrans, with about 30,000 men, proceeded southwest from Corinth towards Juntown, where there were about 15,000 rebels under Armstrong. Price is at Tupelo, on the Mobile railroad, with about 25,000 men, and it was thought probable that on being threatened, Price and Armstrong will combine to give Rosecrans battle.

Hon. Charles J. Ingersoll has been arrested for language used at a Democratic meeting in Philadelphia, on Saturday evening.

☞ Col. Benjamin F. Fay, of Barnet, Vt, was accidentally shot on Wednesday. A young son of the Colonel was practising with a rifle, and fired at a bird in the direction of his father, who was some fifty rods distant. The bullet killed the bird, and passed on and struck the Colonel in the fleshy part of the arm first, and then glanced and lodged in his heart. He was talking with a neighbor at the time, and exclaimed "What's that? It's a ball and it's in my heart," and he instantly expired.

☞ The Times' Washington dispatch intimates that all gun contracts were broken off by the Secretary of War at the same time enlistments were stopped, and now we are dependent on captured cargoes and foreign markets. The same dispatch states that Col. Rodney Mason will be cashiered for surrendering Clarksville, Tenn.

☞ The citizens of New Orleans are getting up a strong petition to the U. S. Government in favor of Gen. Butler remaining in command there.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——The new enrollment for Manchester gives 2000 men at home liable to draft, and 1500 enlisted for the war. There are probably 200 residents of Manchester gone to the war, of whom there is no record to be found. They gave their birth-place, instead of their residence. The Mirror says a majority of the people of Manchester were born away from there. In addition they had 108 three months' men, not included in the reckoning of the number sent to the war. About 50 have gone as teamsters, not enlisted.

—— On the 12th of September, there will be held in the town of Tamworth, the centennial anniversary of the settlement of Rev. Samuel Hidden, as pastor of the Orthodox church in that place. At the time of his ordination, there was no meeting house in the town, and the exercises took place in the open air on a granite platform, upon which it is now proposed to erect a monument to the memory of the deceased pastor. Rev. E. E. Adams, of the North Broad Street Church, Philadelphia, has accepted an invitation to deliver an oration on the occasion.

—— On the 10th inst. the dwelling house of Mr. Nathan Russell, of Greenfield, caught fire on the top, and would have been consumed but for the prompt action of a daughter of Mr. Russell, aged 20 years, who was the only member of the family at home. She procured a ladder, and with difficulty raised it to the top of the house; she then mounted to the roof, and with buckets of water kept the fire checked for an hour, when help arrived.

——Messrs. H. Forsaith and J. F. Woodbury are getting up in Manchester a company of rangers, to be attached to some regiment as skirmishers. They are to be armed with a superior rifle and sabre.

—— The 9th Regiment is now fully organized, the vacant Majorship having been filled by the appointment of George W. Everett, Esq., of New London. Mr. Everett is at present Solicitor for Merrimack county.

—— The store of Messrs. Stickney and Smith, of Epping, was entered through a back window one day last week, while the proprietors were absent, and $300 stolen from the drawer.

—— Hon. Thomas Pearson, formerly Judge of the Police Court of Nashua, has been appointed to a first-class clerkship in the Pension Bureau at Washington.

—— Capt. E. C. Currier, of Danville, Co. K, Fourth Regiment, died of fever on the 13th inst., in the hospital at Hilton Head.

——Rev. Ebenezer Newhall has resigned his charge of the Presbyterian church in Litchfield.

☞ The following report of the stations of men-of-war on the Southern coast, was brought by the U. S. steamer Massachusetts, at New York from Port Royal:—

At Port Royal—Steamers Henry Andrews, Valparaiso and Planter; flag ship Wabash; liner Vermont; steamers Keystone State and Alabama; sloop-of-war Dale.

At Stono Inlet—Steamers Pawnee, Ottawa and Ellen.

At Charleston—Steamers James Adger, Augusta, Marbehead, Bienville, Flag, Paul Jones and Huron; corvette Vandalia; barques Fernandina and Onward; schooner Blunt.

Warsaw Inlet — Steamers Sebago and Seneca.

At St. Simon's—Steamers Florida, Madgie, Patroon, J. P. Hale and Western World.

At St. John's—Steamers Uncas and E. B. Hale.

At Ossabaw — Steamers Unadilla and Pembina.

At Fernandina—Steamers Dawn and Sumter.

At Mosquito Inlet—Steamer South Carolina.

The officers and crews of all these vessels were well.

☞ Owing to some disaffection among the troops of the Empire Brigade at East New York, considerable disturbance occurred on Saturday afternoon. Barracks were torn down, hotel gutted, several officers beaten, and many soldiers badly hurt. A military company and one hundred marines were sent to aid the police in quelling it.—One of the members of the militia company fired into the crowd, killing the Sergeant Major of one of the regiments. Many police officers were injured. The troops generally stampeded to Brooklyn and New York cities. Many have been arrested and returned by the police. The affair is said to have been caused by the non-reception of promised bounties.

ITALY.—Garibaldi volunteers are all the rage now in the Sicilian cities, and if other places imitate Palermo, the old hero will soon head 50,000 men, though the present number is under 10,000. It is believed that he will march on Rome in spite of the remonstrance from Turin. Garibaldi has positively refused to obey Victor Emanuel's proclamation.

Gen. McCall has returned from Richmond with this motto:—'Instant submission on the part of the rebels, or their extermination.' That's always been our motto, without going to Richmond.—Hartford Post.

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

A late New York Tribune contained a long letter from Mr. Greeley, the editor, to President Lincoln, in the form of a prayer for emancipation. To this letter the President has given the following public reply.

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
Washington, Aug. 22, 1862.

Hon. Horace Greeley:

DEAR SIR:—I have just read yours of the 19th, addressed to myself through the New York Tribune. If there be in it any statements or assumptions of fact which I may know to be erroneous, I do not now and here controvert them. If there be in it any inferences which I may believe to be falsely drawn, I do not now and here argue against them. If there be perceptible in it an impatient and dictatorial tone, I waive it in deference to an old friend whose heart I have always supposed to be right.

As to the policy I "seem to be pursuing," as you say, I have not meant to leave any one in doubt. I would save the Union, and I would save it in the shortest way, under the Constitution.

The sooner the national authority can be restored, the nearer the Union will be to the Union as it was.

If there be those who would not save the Union, unless they could at the same time save slavery, I do not agree with them.

If there be those who would not save the Union unless they could at the same time destroy slavery, I do not agree with them.

My paramount object in this struggle is to save the Union, and is not to save or destroy slavery. If I could save the Union without freeing any slaves, I would do it; and if I could save it by freeing all slaves, I would do it. If I could save it by freeing some and leaving others alone, I would also do that. What I do about slavery and the colored race, I do because I believe it will help me save the Union; and what I forbear I forbear because I do not believe it would help me save the Union. I shall do less whenever I shall believe what I am doing hurts the cause; and I shall do more whenever I shall believe that doing more will help the cause. I shall try to correct errors when shown to be errors, and I shall adopt new views so fast as they shall appear to be true views.

I have here stated my purpose according to my view of official duty, and I intend no modification of my often expressed personal wish that all men everywhere could be free.

Yours, A. LINCOLN.

THE MONEY POWER AND THE WAR. A subscription for three million dollars of 7 3-10ths Treasury notes was opened at the New York Sub-Treasury Wednesday, and was immediately filled up at four and one-half premium. This is a striking proof of the continued confidence of the money power of the community in the ability of the Government to crush out this rebellion. Negotiations like this are not intended as patriotic sacrifices,for when men contribute their means to the support of the war, they choose other and more direct methods. It is a pure business transaction in open market. It is, therefore, an expression of financial opinion on the part of sagacious and cool heads. In some respects it is much more favorable than the feeling of the moneyed community one year ago, when the 7 3-10ths notes were first issued. The fact speaks volumes in testimony to the strength of the Government, and expresses the general conviction that we have already passed through our severest trials, and that the day of final success is not far ahead.

☞ The Indian troubles in Minnesota are very serious. Scouts estimate the number of whites already killed at 500. It is believed that all the missionaries have been killed. The dispatch says the "civilized" Indians exceed their savage brothers in atrocities. Ex-Gov. Sibley, with 1200 troops, is marching to the relief of Fort Ridgely, which is being attacked by the Indians.

☞ Advices from St. Paul, Minnesota, confirm the reports of murders by the Indians in the Northwest. Not only have nearly all the whites in one settlement been murdered, and their buildings and grain destroyed, but a force sent against the Indians, was attacked and but a few of the number returned. Many of the persons killed were terribly mutilated. Gov. Ramsey has ordered out a militia force.

☞ The steamer Acacia ran on a snag 60 miles below Memphis at 1 o'clock Thursday morning, and sunk in a few minutes. She had 150 passengers, 6 of whom were ladies; also a cargo of 75 tons of sutler's goods. In five minutes after she struck she capsized, and the upper deck floated off. Many of the passengers who clung to it were saved, but many were in their berths asleep and were lost. Most of the passengers were soldiers returning to their regiments. Not less than 75 or 80 persons perished. The captain and most of the crew were saved.

☞ Speaking of the election in North Carolina, the Richmond Examiner claims the election of Vance over Johnson by from 30,000 to 40,000 majority. It says no important principles respecting the settlement of the present war have been decided; that the platform of principles of both parties are identical.

☞ A collision took place near the mouth of the Rappahannock river, on Wednesday night, between the steamers Belvidere and Elm City, the last laden with troops. Both boats were badly damaged, but fortunately no lives were lost.

☞ The Treasury Department construes the word "peddler," as used in the excise law, to be a person who gains a livelihood by travelling from place to place and selling goods and wares; and whose occupation is to sell goods while travelling from place to place. A farmer who sells his own products while travelling from house to house, is not a peddler in the same sense of the law.

☞ A young woman named Adelaide Coes, who has been for some time working on army coats and blouses, in Hartford, has, by rubbing her eyes with her fingers, discolored by the cloth, completely destroyed one of her eyes, and seriously injured the other. There must be some powerful poison in the dye of the cloth.

☞ Mr. C. M. Woodward, Principal of the Brown High School, Newburyport, has asked and obtained from the School Committee, leave of absence for nine months, and has volunteered for the war under the last call for men.

☞ Advices from Rio Janeiro, July 14, state that the government of Brazil has decided that after two years the Amazon and its tributaries shall be opened to the commerce of all nations.

☞ Gen. Corcoran and his staff are expected to visit Boston on Friday next, 29th inst.

THE BOUNTY. — Messrs. Editors :—I learn that the City Council was to have a meeting last Saturday evening, to raise the bounty to $400 in accordance with the wishes of the voters of Portsmouth, as expressed at the meeting held for that purpose at Jefferson Hall, Saturday noon.—But, gentlemen, I learn further, that a majority of the Council kept away from this meeting called by the Mayor—for the purpose of preventing a quorum, so as to defeat the wishes of the people and the cause of the country. I hope they will face the music and raise the bounty, or at any rate vote on the question, or else resign and let decent men take their places, who will not outrage public opinion by such a cowardly and traitorous course. I hope the right will prevail, and that the peace and good name of our city will not be disgraced by a "draft" when men are ready to enlist for a fair compensation. "A word to the wise is sufficient." OUR COUNTRY.

For the Chronicle.

WHO IS TO BLAME?—Messrs. Editors : I think that those who do the work, and are willing to do it, should have their share of the glory. Those men who are designated the wealthy men of Portsmouth—some of them—have had a meeting; and the disposition of the meeting was that there should be no drafting in Portsmouth, if money could prevent it. But by the interference of a citizen who is at present a determent to our recruiting officers, the meeting was broken up. One of the wealthiest men present at that meeting was heard to say that if it cost one hundred thousand dollars to obtain volunteers enough to prevent drafting, they should be obtained! I mention these facts, in justice to those persons who have been so much abused of late.

CITIZEN.

PATRIOTIC SONS OF REUBEN. — Mr. Chronicle :—Mr. Reuben Randell of this city, who served in the war of 1812 and did his country good service, has six sons between the ages of 23 and 39 years, all with families. Four of them have already enlisted, and if necessary the other two are ready and willing to do their country service, although they are needed at home to look after the welfare of the others' families. Their average height is six feet, and their average weight is 175 lbs.,—hale and hearty. Yours truly, GRIT.

☞ The Manchester papers contain glowing accounts of the Excursion from that city to Portsmouth. Steel Spring Saddle Horse,

(From the Home Journal:)

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like galloping on live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design, and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and academy throughout the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. Swett's PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. NO other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintance, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach right by emetics, which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since. CAROLINE H. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.
SIMEON SWETT.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD,

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me, and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOUR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or Box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

This is a new and invaluable preparation for preserving and beautifying the hair.

The wonderful virtues of Arnica in allaying and removing inflammation are universally known.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is a combination of these virtues, with other tried and excellent ingredients.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS stimulates and invigorates the hair, prevents it from falling out—restores it when lost—promotes its growth and strength—renders it proof against all diseases.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS permanently cures all irritations and eruptions of the scalp, and makes it healthy and fertile. For the removal of dandruff it has no equal. Its operations in this particular are magical and permanent.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is unequalled as a hair-dressing compound. It not only cleanses the scalp and invigorates the hair, but it renders the latter charmingly soft and lustrous. Its odor is particularly delicate and fragrant—the proprietor having taken especial pains to secure this result.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS is the very best preparation for the hair ever discovered.

ARNICA HAIR GLOSS, notwithstanding its surpassing merits—is retailed at only twenty-five cents a bottle, by all Druggists.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable,—and, as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

☞ The Bath Times states that on Saturday forenoon, Daniel Hunter, living in Topsham, Me., committed a most murderous assault upon the person of his daughter, Helen A. Hunter, aged 19 years. He was in the habit of hiding his money about his premises, sometimes in the corn or beans, or like places. It seems that a sum of money had been taken from one of his hiding places, and he charged his daughter, who was alone with him in the house, with having taken it. Terrified by his acts and manner, she told him it was under a hogshead in the yard, hoping to gain time to escape while he should be looking there for it. He was too quick for her, however; for, hastily examining the place indicated, he attacked her with what must have been the ferocity of a tiger. One single scream of murder was heard by gentlemen near, who instantly sprang to their carriage, and drove with the utmost speed to the house, where they found the wretch still clutching his daughter by the throat and beating her with the violence of blind rage. They stopped his murderous doings and putting him aside raised the blackened, mangled, and apparently lifeless form of his daughter. Her injuries were very severe. Hunter was arrested at his house in Topsham, on Saturday evening about eight o'clock.

☞ A correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, writing from Great Salt Lake City, under date of July 31, says:—

Utah is fast changing from its former character and position. I do not blame exclusiveness. With the army came bitterness, spite and vindictiveness that threatened everything, and the most corrupt of camp followers and black-legs were set loose up on the community. With the departure of the army there was a "cleaning out," and Utah is at the present time decidedly the most peaceable community on the continent of America, and a very agreeable relationship exists between the Gentiles who would be esteemed elsewhere and the Mormon chiefs. Just fancy the Mormons keeping Uncle Sam's army out in the mountains all the winter of '57, and at the present moment these same Mormons are sending forward their teams and wagons to Carson, in order to freight in the army supplies and army luggage, baggage and ammunition for the California volunteers! There is a change there! So, also, the chief—President Young—is the principal contractor for both the eastern divisions of the Overland Mail line, in supplying "feed" for the stock on nearly a thousand miles.

☞ Among the latest English improvements is the new mountain barometer by means of which the height of mountains is approximately ascertained without calculation, and correctly so by a single multiplication of figures.

A correspondent of the New York Post who "holds in reserve" his theological views on the cometary system, ventures the suggestion that the aurora borealis "is nothing but a fire issuing from the ends of the earth's axle caused by a want of grease on the wheels."

☞ The President has written a letter to Horace Greeley in reply to one addressed to himself through the columns of the N. Y. Tribune.

☞ Commander Wm. D. Porter, the destroyer of the Arkansas has been made a Commodore.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1862.

ORDER FOR A DRAFT.

Governor Berry on Monday issued an order directing a draft Sept. 3d, for 5053 nine months' men. Surgeons will be appointed forthwith in each county to examine applicants for exemption on account of disability; also commissioners to determine upon applications for exemption. The exempts having been stricken off, the numbers on the revised lists are to be at once reported to the Adj. General. The order for the draft will be strictly complied with in such places as fail to furnish their full quota by volunteer enlistments. The Governor says "it is hoped that all civil authorities, and good citizens generally, will interest themselves, specially, to fill up the quota in their respective localities, in order that a draft every where may be avoided, if possible." The Adj. General will immediately furnish an approximate estimate of the quota of each town, and as soon as the enrollment lists have been revised, the exact quota will be duly published.

☞ The Boston Transcript, one of the most earnest of the war papers, well says:

"Thousands at the South entertain the erroneous impression that an unprincipled, cruel, nay savage foe to all they hold dear—their property, liberty, homes—is at their door,—that the war on our part is a war of invasion, characterized by the most barbarous purposes and the most barbarous acts. If this were not the fact, the rebellion could have had no such energy, audacity and unity as it has exhibited. These are born of a wide spread delusion; and that delusion is the result of fostered prejudices, stimulated passions, industriously circulated falsehoods. To a very large extent the South are a deceived people; partly by their own perversity in refusing to seek and know the truth for themselves, and still more by long continued and systematic misrepresentations and appeals to their pride, their jealousy, their fears and mistaken self-interests."

This is true, no doubt, to a considerable extent; but yet we have seen no evidence that the North understood or now understands the South any better. We think the entire charges are "just, take either side, or both sides;" and that but for mutual "fostered prejudice, stimulated passions, industriously circulated falsehoods," there never could have been any attempt at secession, or any civil war among us.

☞ A correspondent who has been up the Mississippi river, writes that three planters in Louisiana have nine square miles of Indian corn in one piece;—and that corn fields in Mississippi are continuous on both sides of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad for scores of miles in length, and as wide each way as the eye can reach, when the observer stands on the top of a car.—This is in accordance with the policy of the rebels this year, to employ their slaves in raising food for the men and horses in their army, rather than in cultivating cotton, to be burnt. In this they act wisely. Why may not we learn wisdom from them, and take away the staff on which they lean?

BLACK MAIL.—A New York correspondent of the Boston Post offers the following suggestions on the Intervention "hash" of some London and Paris papers.

"It has been a standing wonder to everybody who has brains, that the leading papers of London, Paris, and other European capitals, were permitted to drift into supporting Secession without any endeavor on the part of loyal officials, here, to counteract these sharp traitors, who secured for their cause this great advantage. The remark was made by Prince Napoleon, when in Boston, that the Union cause might easily have had the support of these influential presses; and the Prince expressed his astonishment at the apathy on our part which had lost the chance. The truth is, Mr. Seward was urged in March, 1861, to take prompt and practical measures in this very direction; but, in response, he treated the matter as of small importance and unworthy of his attention. Does any one suppose that if he had taken the advice, we should have been bothered so constantly by the intervention phantom?"

If the writer means that the rebel emissaries hired the above mentioned presses to favor the rebellion, and the rebels, he is probably not far from being right;—but if he means to add, that our government ought therefore to have done a similar thing on the other side, perhaps he is not so clearly right. If we can just make our people understand that these things are paid for,—half their fame is lost.

—— Messrs. Holden have purchased a water-privilege in Concord, west of their present factory, and will immediately proceed in the erection of an edifice of brick, 125 feet long, 36 wide, and three stories high, in which to manufacture woolen goods.

THE REBELLION.

The National Intelligencer states that the total number of volunteers arrived in Washington since the 15th inst., up to 6 o'clock on Friday evening, including recruits for old regiments, was 19,860.

It is rumored that when our forces in Virginia are fully concentrated, Gen. Halleck will take the field in person as Commander-in-Chief.

Gen. Brown, at Springfield, Mo., has required all the persons in the district to take the oath of allegiance and to give sufficient bonds for its faithful observance.

Col. Mason, with nearly 300 Federal troops, who surrendered to the guerrillas at Clarksville, Ky., without firing a gun, arrived at St. Louis, Sunday. They go to Camp Chase.

It is said that Gen. Curtis has been relieved of his command in Arkansas. His successor is not indicated.

The N. Y. Tribune's Rappahannock correspondent states that the greatest crisis of this war occurred between Thursday morning and Saturday night. It is passed and we are safe. Fitz John Porter, with a very heavy force, joined Gen. Pope on Friday evening, and a host of regiments have joined and are joining him now by way of Alexandria. Gen. Burnside has massed a large army at Fredericksburg, and Gen. Pope is nearly or quite as strong as Lee and Jackson. 250 guerrillas, who made a sudden raid upon Catlett's station at night, destroyed twenty supply trains and injured their contents. They also took a hundred prisoners and many horses; but what is far more serious, they seized all the private papers and letters of Gen. Pope, all dispatches received from the President, Halleck and the War department, maps and topographical charts, containing information of the greatest value,—in a word the whole history and plan of the campaign, and the numbers and disposition of troops. The correspondent states that the whole might have been saved and the attack repulsed if there had been pickets or even sentries about the camp; but there has not been a guard mounting at Headquarters since Gen. Pope took the field. [The whole story, however, seems very improbable.]

Passengers from Virginia report engagements at Warrenton on Saturday, in which our forces were successful, driving the rebels out of the town.

The new regiments are being sent forward to join the army.

Fort Donelson has not been evacuated. The rebels, under Col. Woodward, attacked it on the 25th, but were repulsed with a loss of 30 killed and wounded.

☞ In a late Scotch paper appears the following curious correction of a reporter's error:

"Sir,—In your report of a meeting of the New Monkland Parochial Board, in the Advertiser of Saturday last, you represent me to have said: 'We've all slang had a very drunken set o' officials.' Although true, it's not what I said. I said, 'We've all slang had a very drunken set o' paupers in our parish.' I am, sir, your obedient servant, ALEX. MONTGOMERY.

ITALY.—Garibaldi returned to Tealtamarta on the morning of the 18th, and left again the same evening for Grovani. It was believed at Palermo that he still intends to embark at Messina.

The moderate journals of Italy unanimously condemn the proceedings of Garibaldi.

It is supposed that the 15th of Aug. is fixed upon for a demonstration hostile to France throughout Italy.

The London Times' Turin correspondent says there was still an inconceivable swarming of volunteers from all parts towards the South, and it is only with the greatest difficulty the government authorities prevent their landing on the Sicilian soil.

☞ The Navy Department has issued a general order to the Navy and the Marine Corps, announcing the death of Rear Admiral Read. The usual marks of respect are ordered. Thirteen minute guns will be fired at all the Navy Yards on the day after the receipt of the order. Officers of the Navy and Marine Corps will wear crape on the left arm for thirty days.

☞ Peter Thompson, a resident of Newbury, Mass., was killed by the freight train on Saturday night, on the Newburyport and Georgetown road. He was not discovered till Sunday morning.

☞ The Washington Star has the highest authority for stating that the rumors of a disposition on the part of General McClellan to retire from active service in the field are without foundation, and very unjust to him.

☞ The Governor of Maine gives public notice that the time for making the draft in that State is extended to Wednesday, September 10th.

☞ The Washington Republican states that Long Bridge, across the Potomac, broke down last Sunday, letting an engine through on to the frame work. A regiment of soldiers that were in the train then marched over. Travel is now suspended—probably meaning car and team travel.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Not an officer in the Ninth received pay before leaving. It was a hard case for most of them. They had no bounty, had been recruiting some three months and used up all their money to get their men, and are obliged to leave their families to the mercy of friends.

—— A correspondent of the Mirror states that North Groton was visited by a powerful tornado, accompanied by a thunder storm, on Friday afternoon about half past five o'clock. Its track was due east, its greatest width not over 10 rods. It commenced about 50 rods west of the house of John Kidder. As it approached Mr. Kidder's house it was not over 3 rods in width. The buildings of Mr. K. are 176 feet long, running nearly east and west, consisting of a house, L, long shed, barn, small barn and shed, all attached. The whole of these buildings were completely shattered. The house was move south bodily about 10 feet on the west end, and 3 feet on the east end; the L was held to its foundation by a chimney, yet it was pressed over south about 3 feet, destroying the chimney to the top of the arch, and is a wreck; the long shed and barn were unroofed. The tornado then passed over a mountain.

—— Rev. Mr. Buckley, of Manchester, in a sermon on Sunday, stated that the U. S. Marshal recently denied his request to pass over into Canada that he might view the Niagara Falls from that side.

—— We are indebted to Superintendent J. P. Bancroft, of the N.H. Insane Asylum, for copies of the Annual Report of that institution, just published. The Superintendent's yearly report shows a favorable and improving condition of affairs; and the general report and history of the enterprise, by the Directors, is very interesting to every lover of the human race, as showing the great improvement produced in and by the Asylum, in the condition of the insane throughout the State.

—— Maj. George Marston, Paymaster, U. S. A., has been in Concord during the week past, and has paid the Ninth Regiment the amounts due them from the United States. Detachments sent to the old regiments have also been recipients of his attention.

—— Almost all the captains in the New Hampshire Second Regiment, except James W. Carr, have been promoted. The Concord Statesman says he is one of the most brave and worthy, but is wonderfully modest. A good many men have been almost ruined by modesty, but it hopes Carr may get his share of honors after a time.

☞ The Atlantic House, Rye Beach, has been largely patronized this season, as usual—perhaps more so. We sat down to dinner there, a few days since, on the first day of the week, with more than one hundred guests, a large portion of them being boarders. Among the great men present there was ex-Gov. Cummings of Utah; and ex-President Pierce is boarding at Little Boar's Head, half a mile off or so. Our host Philbrick is as attentive, and the quiet Atlantic as popular as ever. He has sometimes been called secesh, but not by those who understand him. He is opposed to war—all war, as are many others who firmly support the Government, believing "the best war is worse than the worst peace;" but we know him well enough to presume that he is always and ever a law-abiding man, and in favor of "the Union as it was, the Constitution as it is." We would as soon doubt the quality of "the Atlantic" itself, as to question the loyalty of its proprietor. We wish all who asperse him, were as true republicans and good citizens.

☞ The Port Royal correspondent of the Tribune states that the colored regiment, known as the 1st S. C. Volunteers, has been disbanded. He states, however, that all its men and officers are still within bugle-call of head-quarters, and can be re-formed on parade at any time within two hours after the proper authority for their organization shall have been received.

☞ In Maine, the Adjutant General has issued a General Order for drafting 9609 Militia, for nine months,—with particular directions for drafting, and for receiving volunteers for the quota of militia.

Among other items, the provisions for soldiers families, is said to extend to the drafted men, and to nine months' volunteers.

☞ Any of our readers wishing a copy of the New Militia Law of New Hampshire, can be supplied at the Chronicle Counting Room. Furnished to subscribers gratis to others at 2 cts. each.

A CARD.

The members of the Company enlisted under Capt Betton, in this city, deny any complicity in the PRODUCTION OF POSTING of the document displayed through our streets, calling for a special meeting to debate upon the subject of increased bounty.

They will decline no money honorably procured or honorably offered; but they do entirely disapprove of the system of coercion implied in the document above-mentioned.

The Salve is used for the following diseases:—Burns, Bruises, Felons, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Boils Scurvy, Sore Lips, Sore Ears, Swelled Nose, Ulcers, Lame Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Ringworm, Tetter, Sore Nipples, Erysipelas, Scalds, Stings of Venomous Insects, Piles, Bunions, Frozen Limbs, Nettle Rash, Sore Breast, Neuralgia, Old Sores, Fevers, Sore Throat, Coxes, Whitlows, Itch, Sties, Lame Wrist, and Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature, without leaving a scar. It will also cure pimples on the face, and beautify the Skin.

☞ The last enrollment shows that the whole number of able-bodied male citizens of Portsmouth, between the ages of 18 and 45 years, is 1190. The whole number of persons resident in this city, now in the military or naval service of the United States, is 351.

The enlistments for the quota of the 300,000 volunteers for three years, under the recent call by the President, on Saturday afternoon were as follows, as appears from reports made to the City Government:—Enlisted by Capt. G. W. Towle, 67; by Capt. M. T. Betton, 55; Capt. A. J. Hill, 4; Total 126. In addition to these, we learn that there have been enlisted subsequent to that time, by Mr. Wm. Gallagher, 10, and by Capt. Betton, 10. Two other residents have enlisted out of the city, making in all, at least 148 volunteers under the last call.

For the Chronicle

OUR CITY COUNCIL.—Messrs. Editors: You will confer a favor on the people, by publishing the yeas and nays on the various motions, in the Common Council, Saturday evening last. Let the people know the men who refuse to obey their instructions.

COM.

We learn the facts of the case to be, that there was not at any time on Saturday evening, a majority of the Board of Aldermen present at the special meeting ordered by the Mayor,—that the Common Council did have a majority in good season, and appointed a committee to draft an Ordinance to raise the $400 bounty; but the chairman of that committee refused or neglected to present the same to the Board in season, and another committee was appointed—that by the time a new bill could be drafted, a portion of the Common Council had left, there was no quorum, and it was too late at night for an officer to gather one.

It seems a little singular that any member of a City Government should be absent, except from absolute necessity, from a special meeting called to consider and act upon probably the most important measure ever presented to our City Government.

The only yeas and nays taken in the Common Council, we believe, were on a motion to adjourn,—made early in the evening of course,—to prevent all action on the subject.

As to the measure itself, we suppose that a large majority of our legal voters, perhaps a majority even of the heavy tax-payers, are in favor of it. Many object to the manner in which it was brought forward; while as many more, perhaps, applaud it; but all agree that the discussion and hesitation in settling it somehow, is productive of much harm and ill-feeling.—It is probable the matter will be disposed of next Thursday evening.

☞ Is it not ridiculous, that we are so long in getting our city and State quotas ready to answer the call of our President and our country? Suppose that when fire is called, our citizens should be as slow in their movements—how long should we have any city? It is useless to blame this one and that one—the whole public are not awake to the subject. The need of earnest effort and instant action is greater than if the city was on fire in many places. The State Government has furnished no statement of quotas for counties and towns to raise, yet, to be sure; but this is slow work, where there was no sort of enrollment to begin with. The Governor might have made an estimate of the number, and helped the matter much; and each town can estimate its percentage of quota near enough. August is waning fast, and drafting is fixed for the early part of September.

For the Chronicle

DISCOURAGING ENLISTMENTS.—Messrs. Editors:—Permit me through your columns to ask a few questions and state a few facts in reference to those in our midst who are openly discouraging enlistments in this hour of our country's peril. Last Sabbath, we are informed, a minister of the gospel dared, in a pulpit in this city, to declare this a "wicked, unholy war," and advised his hearers not to fight even if drafted; but let the "wordly people" fight it out. This treasonable language was not only permitted, but the lusty "Amens" of his audience attested their approval of his remarks! It has been rumored of late, that this society have unanimously voted never to take up arms in their country's cause; but rather suffer martyrdom! They prate about the horrors of war; and, living under a free government, dare to proclaim they will not obey its laws. Where is the Provost Marshal? Why do not our city authorities enforce the late orders of the Secretary of War, and arrest these mealy-mouthed, sanctimonious traitors, who, clothed in the holy garb of religion, would smite their country? Must the people take this matter into their own hands? or will the city officers awake from their lethargic sleep to a realization of the fact that there are traitors in our midst? A traitor, either in Church or State, has "no rights which a white man is bound to respect;" and if some of them were to suffer the coveted martyrdom, it would have a salutary effect on the rebel "sympathizers."

SIGMA.

REPORT OF JOINT SPECIAL COM.

Of the City Council on the Subject of Relief to Families of Volunteers.

To the City Council:—The Joint Committee "to inquire into the distribution of relief to families of Volunteers," respectfully report that they received every facility asked from the Relief Committee, to aid them in coming to a satisfactory understanding of the manner in which that committee, as the dispensers of the funds of the city to the families of Volunteers, have discharged their duty.

Your committee found on the records of the Board of Aldermen the following resolution, passed April 25, 1861:—

"Resolved, that the committee chosen to ascertain the wants of Volunteers and their families, are hereby authorized to pay in cash to the families of those that have and may enlist, the following sums, until otherwise ordered, to the wife, or mother, depending on the Volunteer for support, two dollars per week; to each child under ten years of age, seventy-five cents; and to each child over ten years old, one dollar per week—the pay to commence from Monday, April 22, 1861 for those who have enlisted."

The Relief Committee show, by their books, that they followed the instructions contained in the above resolution, until June 5, 1862, when they were further instructed by the Board of Aldermen, as follows:—

"Resolved, that the Relief Committee for the aid of the families of Volunteers, pay such sums as are authorized by the law of the State; and in cases where more is needed, they pay such additional sum as, in their opinion, is necessary, in all cases to have respect to the benevolent and patriotic intentions of the law."

The law of the State, referred to in the last resolution, was approved July 4, 1861. Of course it did not exist when the Relief Committee were instructed, April 25, 1861. The reason for the subsequent instructions of the Board of Aldermen was, obviously to conform their action to the letter of the law of the State, as they were in duty bound to do; and also to be in unison with the action of other towns and cities in the State.

The effect of the instructions of June 5, 1862, from the Board of Aldermen to the Relief Committee, was to reduce the relief paid to the wife or mother dependent on the volunteer for support, from two dollars per week to one.

Whether that reduction of pay to the wife or mother disappoints the expectations or violates any implied contract between the city and the volunteer, who enlisted previous to April 25, 1861, and what effect it may have upon raising, by enlistment, the city's quota of the 300,000 men now called for by the President of the United States, are questions for the immediate consideration of the City Council.

The Relief Committee have distributed, up to July 1, 1862, $7012.94. Their duty is an onerous task, without pay. They necessarily have some discretionary power, for the State law reads—"Provided, such persons are indigent, and stand in need of such relief." The Committee of Relief must, of necessity, be judges of the need. The best evidence of the full satisfaction the relief distributed in this city has given, is the fact that the Chairman of the Committee has heard no complaint from any one of the numerous parties with whom they have had to deal.

With regard to outside reports, that the Relief Committee have refused to make their payments in cash, and have been guilty of improper partiality in the sums awarded, or have neglected to award to those entitled to the benefit,—such reports your Committee will say in conclusion they believe to be simply untrue.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse.

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. Swett's PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my neighbors, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe pleasing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Dr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach properly for emetics, which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since.
CAROLINE A. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.
SIMEON SWETT.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure, as I have had no sign of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.
HANNAH ROWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all I took immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted I have been troubled with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day. I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and I would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that prior to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

"KISS ME, MOTHER, AND LET ME GO."

By the Author of "Over the River."

Have you heard the news that I heard to-day?
The news that trembles on every lip?
The sky is darker again, they say,
And breakers threaten the good old ship.
Our country calls on her sons again,
To strike, in her cause, at a bastard foe;
She asks for six hundred thousand men,
And I would be one, mother. Let me go;

Our flag, the flag of our hope and pride,
With its stars and stripes, and its field of blue,
Is mocked, insulted, torn down, defied,
And trampled upon by the rebel crew.
And England and France look on and sneer,
"Ha, queen of the earth, thou art fallen low,"
Earth's downtrodden millions weep and fear,
So kiss me, mother, and let me go.

Under the burning Southern skies,
Our brothers languish in hopeless pain,
They turn to us with their pleading eyes,
Oh, mother, say, shall they turn in vain?
Their hearts are thirsting from sun to sun,
Yet, bravely they hold at bay the foe;
Shall we let them die there, one by one?
Nay, kiss me, mother, and let me go.

Can you selfishly cling to your household joys,
Behind this smallest little to yield,
While thousands of mothers are sending boys
Beloved as yours, to the battle field?
Can you see my country call in vain,
And remain as one from the dreadful blow!
Not so; though your heart should break with pain,
You will kiss me, bless me, and bid me go.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at hi, office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Bostons on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrors and symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotins, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

April 7—1y 3taw.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranted in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints will yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of females and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country for advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7, Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow has also for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headaches so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell. John Sise, and others.

A CHAPTER FOR THE MEN.—Very frequently do I wonder why there is so much said to the women about making home happy and nothing said to the "lords of creation." Does any one suppose that they are so perfect that they do not need advice? Are they always kind and cheerful, and do they never speak cross? A woman may try to make her home pleasant and comfortable, and the children happy and contented, but it is all in vain if the husband comes in moody. A sudden chill is thrown over the merry group—the household is gloomy and silent, the cross man has cast his shadow. Why did he allow that frown to shade his brow as he entered? He did not need to speak cross to his wife and snap at his children—they surely did not deserve it. Such action only tends to alienate the affections of his family, and there is nothing worse than to lose the affections of one's house friends. I do wish for the sake of my sex, that those who have so much good advice to give would let the men have a little. I know many claim that needs more than these "rulers" of the household. Don't they fret and scold if the least thing is out of order, never noticing the thousand and ten things prepared expressly for their comfort? Don't they raise a row among the children, scolding one, boxing another, whipping a third, making music that is anything but pleasant to hear? Don't they have the sulks a week on a stretch, when nobody, not even themselves, knows any cause for it? I tell you the men are anything but perfect.—There are some noble exceptions, I admit, but they are few. I do not mean to condemn all for the faults of the majority. In more than half the families where there is discord and strife, men are the most to blame, and I hope we shall hear less scolding of the women for the errors of the "sterner sex."—A. R., in the Rural New Yorker.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 28, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Advices from Port Royal state that the excitement about the rebel ram at Savannah has subsided—deserters having reported that she is a failure—leaking badly and incapable of being steered.

It is reported that Gen. Morgan is in no danger, though the rebels have 15,000 men in front of him, and 30,000 in his rear, under Gens. Bragg and Kirby Smith. He has recently repulsed a large force of the rebels, on the other side of the Cumberland Gap, and has provisions and forage enough to last him thirty days.

Cassius M. Clay has left Cincinnati with his brigade. Gen. Nelson has relieved Gen. Lew. Wallace, who will take the field.

It is reported that Gen. Ricketts has, with his batteries, slaughtered about 1500 rebels in different attempts made by them to cross the railroad bridge over the Rappahannock on Saturday.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune gives currency to an extraordinary statement relative to the tenderness of the rebels toward Gen. McDowell. He states that during the late attack on Catlet's Station, Gen. Stewart gave positive orders to spare Gen. McDowell's staff and baggage train, but to seize Gen. Pope's and destroy what was not of public importance. The order was implicitly obeyed. Although the wagons of Gens. McDowell and King were close at hand, they were not disturbed, but everything in Gen. Pope's was turned out and his official papers sorted out and carried off. The Philadelphia Press has a rumor that Gen. Sigel shot McDowell through the head on the battle-field at Warrenton. But in the present scanty and unreliable state of our news from the seat of war, the people should carefully avoid accepting any exciting rumors, before they are sufficiently substantiated.

The Huntsville, Ala., correspondent of the Herald says it is currently believed that Magruder with 15,000 men is marching into Kentucky.

Correspondence of the Herald, dated Aransas, Texas, states that an expedition, under Capt. Kittredge of the U. S. barque Arthur, took possession of Aransas Bay on July 7th, and captured considerable cotton and one or two vessels.

The draft in Pennsylvania is postponed to Sept. 15.

A lieutenant of cavalry reports that on Sunday in an engagement at Fredericksburg, Va., our forces were victorious, and that we took 16 guns. He also states that a portion of Jackson's forces, in attempting to ford the Rappahannock, passed a part of Gen. McDowell's forces secreted in the woods on the south bank of the river. Gen. Pope's troops opened a destructive fire on them, and McDowell's men threw themselves on their rear, thus bringing them between two fires. The officer says that this portion of Jackson's forces, he can't say how many, were literally annihilated, and that the river was red with rebel blood.

An Alexandria correspondent, writing on the 25th, says "Gen. McClellan and staff are expected here this afternoon. It is not yet known whether he is to take command of his troops or is to be transferred to some other department. The Army of the Potomac is now intermingled with the Army of Virginia."

DISARMING THE PEOPLE OF NEW ORLEANS — EMANCIPATION.—On the 17th inst., Gen. Butler issued an order offering rewards varying from $3 to $10 for the discovery of guns, pistols, sabres, daggers, sword canes, &c., not held under a written permit from the United States authorities, but retained and concealed by the keepers thereof—the arms to be confiscated and the keepers of them imprisoned. The following significant paragraph occurs in the order, which was doubtless intended as a precautionary measure against a rebel insurrection, of which there have been hints:

"This crime, being an overt act of rebellion against the United States, whether by a citizen or an alien, works a forfeiture of the property of the offender; and, therefore, every slave giving information that shall discover the concealed arms of his or her master, shall be held to be emancipated."

☞ Rev. A. J. Patterson and G. J. Prescott, Esq., addressed a war meeting of the citizens of Stratham on Monday evening. The speeches were eloquent and inspiting, and since their delivery, a dozen recruits have come forward, where but one was found before the meeting.

☞ It is denied that the gunboat Tuscarora left Kingston by Government orders. It was rumored that she received a telegram from Liverpool that the steamer 290 was in the channel; hence her departure. She was expected back at Kingston.

☞ We regret to learn that Mr. James E. Seavey, of this city, a member of Co. K, 2d N. H. Regiment, was drowned while bathing at Aquia Creek, on Saturday last.

☞ The Attorney General of the State of New Jersey has fixed the trial of Radetski, for the murder of Fellner, for the 3d of September. A question of much interest to the medical jurists will be raised, and one which has not yet been passed upon in this country by any jury in a criminal court. The body of the murdered man had been in the water some days, and was found near the Shrewsbury river, in New Jersey. That State having only jurisdiction to try for murder committed within its limits, it will be incumbent on the prosecution to prove that the murder was committed where the body was found. This will be disputed, and it will be contended and endeavored to be substantiated by evidence, that the body had floated from some distant point.

One of the most remarkable criminal trials in England involved the same question. Mr. Spencer Cowper, the brother of Lord Chancellor Cowper, and who was afterwards made a judge, was tried for the murder of a lady of large fortune, to which, upon her death, he succeeded. Medical testimony was adduced on behalf of the accused, to prove that the body of the deceased had floated a long distance from the scene of the murder. The trial resulted in an acquittal. Mr. Edwin James is retained for the defence of Radetski.

☞ In Maine, the Governor says the State will receive Volunteers instead of Drafted men,—but will not receive any to whom the towns give even $20 bounty.

At a meeting in Belfast on Saturday, it was voted to order the City Government to pay each volunteer under the last requisition $20, and to their families or to some friend designated to receive it, $80 additional, thus making $100. At that meeting twenty-seven volunteered. The quota of the city is seventy-seven.

THE "RAPID AUN."—A writer in the New York Journal of Commerce says that the river in Virginia, which all the newspaper correspondents persist in calling the "Rapidan," is known in history and in the locality through which it runs as the "Rapid Aun." The name is said to have a very funny origin.

We saw recently in an exchange, a schooner named the Anacreon, reported as the Anna Creon.

☞ Mr. George Palmer, sergeant of one of the companies in the 19th regiment, preached at the Beacon Street Church, Bath, Me., Sunday forenoon. Rev. James W. Hathaway, Captain of Company A, of the same regiment, preached at the same church in the afternoon.

☞ It is said that Minister Dayton has requested to be recalled and that the President will comply with his request.

For the Chronicle.

OUR QUOTA.

Messrs. Editors:—From information received from various parts of the State, there seems to be but little room to doubt that the whole number of men required to fill the quota of New Hampshire for the three years' service, has been received.—Perhaps not every town has raised its full portion; but I think the number enlisted throughout the State is equal at least to the number required.

No assignment of quotas has yet been made to the towns; and there is reason to believe that the State authorities have not yet any data from which the quota of the towns and cities can be made up; we can of course only approximate to the facts.—But it seems clear to me that our proportion of the requisition for 300,000 men cannot much exceed four thousand. The 10th, 11th, 12th, and 13th Regiments have been officered, and it is understood that the men are fully raised;—these regiments will contain four thousand men. Besides these, numerous squads have been sent on to join the regiments now in the field; and recruiting officers for the old regiments are still at work in various parts of the State. Unless, therefore, more men have been required than enough to furnish our proportion of 300,000, it must be that the full quota of New Hampshire is already raised, and only awaits the energetic action of the Executive to put them in the field.

Presuming that the above estimate is correct, the quota of Portsmouth will be about 125 men; and the number already enlisted as belonging to this city is fully 150; so that it is probable that we have an excess of enlisted men beyond the number required for an army of 300,000.

From the enrolment just made, we learn that this city has already furnished 351 men, including the army and navy. If we add to this number 150 as the number now recruited, but not mustered into the service, we shall have a total of 500 Portsmouth men in the service of the country, engaged in putting down the rebellion—almost equal to one in three of all between 18 and 45 years of age, and no doubt equal to more than one in three, after the exempts are erased, and the roll brought down to the actual effective fighting force. A like proportion throughout the loyal states would put into the field and into our navy a grand force of at least one million two hundred thousand men.

There can therefore be no fears that our number is not raised; it must be that it is already raised and more. And we urgently call upon the State authorities to give us an opportunity to enlist our nine months' men. Our young men are ready, willing and anxious: no draft is needed here; our whole quota will be furnished in a very few days. We do not ask for an extension of time; we ask for no favors; only tell us how many we must send, and give us an opportunity to go to work, and the men will be found, as easily, as readily as in any town in the Union. ☞ It was George N. Saunders, not Yancey, who escaped across to the Clifton House. He left Richmond on the 11th inst., and sailed from Quebec on Saturday.

☞ The Providence City Council have offered a bounty of $400 to three years' men and $225 to nine months' men for the Union army.

☞ The Boston Traveller sums up American fighting thus: battles of the Revolution, 36; of the war of 1812, 18; in Mexico, 12; during this rebellion, 47.

☞ The Augusta Age does not see its way clear to support Bion Bradbury for Governor, unless Gen. Jameson declines, and not then, unless on a change of the political platform made for him by the convention.

☞ Gov. Morton of Indiana, with that interest for the soldiers which is characteristic of him, borrowed the money and paid the men the bounty due by the national government, before they left Kentucky.—This advance will be reimbursed, within a few days, by the government.

☞ A correspondent of the Cairo Gazette relates a fiendish outrage committed by a party of guerillas in Haywood county, Tenn. They visited a farmer's house, took the old man prisoner, outraged his daughter and then burnt the house. The poor girl perished in the flames.

☞ A son of the late Douglas Jerrold, the English wit, is a private in a New Jersey Regiment.

☞ The inner bark of the "sweet gum tree" which grows in profusion in the Southern States, steeped and drank, is said to be a sure cure for dysentery, and all similar diseases. If this be so, our soldiers will do well to remember it.

☞ The correspondent of the Philadelphia Enquirer says that the officers and soldiers of our army in Virginia are forbidden to write home to relatives, and no mails will be taken from the army. The officers have refused to give lists of those killed, as it is against orders, although six hundred have been lost in the recent skirmishes.

☞ Even the National Intelligencer asks a trial for Gen. Stone, in order to prove or disprove the charges that have been made against him.

WORK TO BE DONE.

Messrs. Editors:—In the Chronicle of Wednesday morning appeared a notice of Gov. Berry's Order demanding a draft to be made of more than 5000 men, on the 3d of September—in less than a week's time. It is manifestly not the time now to complain of the slow movements of the State Executive; for though they may richly deserve blame, the people cannot stop to criticise, but must go to work.

Our quota from Portsmouth is rising one hundred men, and we ought to have that whole number volunteers for the nine months' service, without resorting to a draft. The thing can be done, if we go to work about it in the right way.

In the first place, the unfortunate and ill-timed dispute about the city bounty (which has been thrust upon us by an intermeddling that, in our opinion, should have been promptly answered by an arrest, on the charge of "discouraging enlistments") must be settled once for all,—one way or the other. If the City Council had acted like men, with opinions of their own, they would have decided the matter days ago.—It is not now too late. Let us know how large a bounty three years' men are to have, and how much will be given to nine months' men. Fix the sum at what in your opinion, gentlemen, is proper, and then if men don't choose to enlist,—"let them wait and stand the draft, that's all!"

In the next place, let us have one more War meeting, of the very best kind, like the first that was held after the President's call, for men was received here. In our opinion there will be plenty of good men all ready and eager to enlist for nine months, and let us have a meeting and give them the sympathy of the public. We are led to believe that a first-class recruiting officer will take hold of this matter, to get up a crack company from Portsmouth, and by all means let our citizens give the movement every encouragement in their power.

We would suggest that steps be taken today, to have a War meeting to-morrow evening, which shall be a meeting for work, and not for boys' play and ill-tempered quarreling about bounty money. ACTION.

THE CONCERT at the North Church, tonight, "needs no bush." It will no doubt be one of the finest entertainments of the sort which we have had for a long time;—and is eminently worthy of attention for several reasons. The performance itself will be varied, brilliant and excellent; the cause commends itself especially to every member of the North Parish, and sympathetically to our whole community; and the fact that so fine a club of our best home singers should at last favor the public with such an opportunity to hear them, should be promptly and liberally acknowledged and encouraged by all interested in the cause of music.

LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,

PASSED JUNE SESSION, 1862.

Whereas, the President of the United States, concurring in the patriotic representations of the Governors of the loyal states of the Union, has decided to call into the service of the United States an additional force of 300,000 men, in order to restore and increase the national forces in the field, to follow up the recent successes of the federal arms, and by prompt and vigorous measures to speedily crush out the Southern Rebellion, therefore,

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled: That this wise determination and energetic action on the part of the state and federal executives, meet our earnest approbation; that we believe the people of the country demand that the whole resources of the nation should be at once supplied for the immediate destruction of the armies of the rebels; that the people of New Hampshire will respond with alacrity to this new call upon her patriotic sons to go forth to the battle-field; and that we pledge the faith of this Legislature and of this state to the National Government, that New Hampshire will not be behind her sister States in fulfilling the requirements of patriotism, but will continue to pour out her treasure, and send out her citizen soldiers, until the last trace of rebellion has passed away, and peace and prosperity, the Constitution and the Union of the states, are fully and permanently restored.

Resolved, That His Excellency, the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, be requested forthwith to issue the proclamation, calling upon the people of the State to raise the regiments required by the present emergency, and to make every possible exertion, with the co-operation of all other State officials and all patriotic citizens, to animate the sons of New Hampshire to another and final uprising in behalf of the imperiled government of our beloved country.

Resolved, That, as a means to accomplish the end aforesaid, we recommend that the Executive of the state, by proclamation, call upon the people of public meetings in the different towns and cities, and the appointment by such towns and cities, of committees of vigilance, who shall not less than double the delegation of such towns or cities in the Legislature, to encourage enlistments, and by correspondence, or otherwise, impart any and all intelligence which may be desired to the Executive, and communicate any information from the Executive to the inhabitants of such town or city.

Approved July 9, 1862.

AN ACT to alter the times of holding the terms of the Supreme Judicial Court in the Western Judicial District of the county of Grafton, and in the county of Coos.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened:

SECTION 1. That the trial terms of the Supreme Judicial Court, now required by law to be holden in the Western Judicial District of the county of Grafton, and in the county of Coos, shall hereafter be holden as follows: At Haverhill, on the fourth Tuesday of March, instead of the first Tuesday of April; and on the fourth Tuesday of September, instead of the first Tuesday of October, for the Western Judicial District of the county of Grafton; and at Lancaster, on the fourth Tuesday of April, and on the first Tuesday of November, for the county of Coos.

SEC. 2. So much of chapter 2211, of the Pamphlet Laws, passed at the June session, 1859, entitled "An act reorganizing the Judiciary," as is inconsistent with this act, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect on the 10th day of July, 1862. Approved July 9, 1862.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened: That proprietors of newspapers printing orders of notice on the bills entitled "An act to provide for the more equitable distribution of the estate of insolvent debtors," and "An act to repeal all laws providing for the settlement of paupers," be allowed each, in full for their said accounts, the sum of fifteen dollars. Approved June 25, 1862.

Resolved, &c., That the Secretary of State be directed forthwith to procure and transmit to the selectmen of each town, and the mayor of each city, two copies of the act entitled "An act for the immediate enrollment of the militia."

Approved July 9, 1862.

THE INDIAN TROUBLES.—The savages are determined not to be outdone by the rebels. Some of the atrocities of guerillas and bushwackers had thrown the former Indian massacres completely into the shade, but the late cold-blooded murders in Minnesota cannot be beaten even by civilized rebels. What should have caused the Indians of that section to dig up the tomahawk just at this time, we are not thoroughly informed, but it is believed by some that the secessionists are at the bottom of this horror, which is only exceeded by the war rebels themselves wage against the Union. If this horrible massacre of defenceless women and children is traced to the seditious labors of the secessionists, it may furnish a clue to the proper conduct of the war hereafter, which will bring a speedy solution of the rebellion question. We shall make war against the indians of course. Our troops have already marched against them. We shall probably reduce them to utter submission, or exterminate them. We shall not guard their property, if they have any, or pay gold for what they are willing to sell to us. We think it very doubtful if we "give them the oath and let them go," when they are in our hands. Now the crime of the rebels is as much worse than that of the Indians as we can possibly think. They have great reasons to give allegiance to the flag. The Indians have none, but may well consider themselves our natural enemies. The rebels owe everything to the Union. The Indians owe it nothing, but all they had has been robbed from them under the authority of the Union. All we ask is that the war against the rebels shall be conducted on the same leading principle as the war against the Indians—with a determination to reduce them to submission or make the territory of the rebel States vacant for loyal settlers.—Boston Herald.

☞ The National Intelligencer states that the resignation of Gen. Phelps, of Gen. Butler's Department, was promptly accepted as soon as it arrived, and that it had been determined beforehand to recall him.

☞ A letter from Nassau, N. P., states that the American Consul's flag has been repeatedly hauled down and trampled upon by the Secesh sympathizers in that 'neutral' English city.

IN PORTSMOUTH,

To commence on the 15th of September,

AND CONTINUE FIVE DAYS.

The proceeds, over and above the expenses, to be expended to aid our volunteers.

As this is to be a STATE instead of a County Fair, we would like to have EVERY PART OF THE STATE represented by some specimens of the industry and ingenuity of her sons and daughters.

The most liberal arrangements will be made with the Railroads, for the transportation of articles for exhibition and visitors on the occasion. Connected with the other, in connection with the above, there will be a Hall fitted expressly for an EXHIBITION of

GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE!

A Sure Relief for the Sufferer!

This Salve is a vegetable preparation, invented in the 16th century by Dr. J. W. Grace, a military surgeon in King James' army. Through its agency he cured thousands of most serious sores and wounds that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of his day; and was regarded by all who knew him as a public benefactor. The Salve is used for the following diseases:—Burns, Bruises, Felons, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Boils, Scurvy, Sore Lips, Sore Ears, Swelled Nose, Ulcers, Lame Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Ringworm, Sprains, Flesh Wounds, Erysipelas, Scalds, Stings of Venomous Insects, Piles, Bunions, Frozen Limbs, Nettle Rash, Sore Breast, Wens, Eruptions, Festers, Felons, Cancers, Whitlows, Itch, Stiles, Lame Wrist, and Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature, without leaving a scar. It will also cure pimples on the face, and beautify the Skin.

There are thousands who are suffering for months and even years in consequence of Sores and wounds that might be cured in a short time by the use of this great external Salve. It has proved to effect a speedy cure when properly applied. This Salve has none of the irritating heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand, for it will save them trouble, suffering and money; and in many cases it has saved life itself. The manufacturer receives testimonials daily, from some of our most distinguished citizens, expressing benefits derived from its use. This Salve is warranted to give perfect satisfaction in every disease that it professes to cure; if not, the money will be refunded.

Price 25 cts. per box. Manufactured by WM. GRACE, Amesbury, Essex Co., Mass.

For the Chronicle.

FAIR PLAY.—Mr. Editor:—Your correspondent "Sigma," in Wednesday's Chronicle, is very indignant at the anti-war preaching of a certain clergyman in this city, and thinks that strong measures should be resorted to, to stop the reverend gentleman's mouth. I do not perceive that you had any apology to make for the clergyman; but in another column, a certain tavern-keeper is represented by you as having the same anti-war sentiments, yet is apologised for by you, and his patriotism is vouched for, and you "presume he is true." Why is the tavern-keeper sustained, and the clergyman condemned? Will you explain?

B. M.

Answer.—We published "Sigma's" communication, as we publish this, and almost any and every well-written and reasonable article, whether we agree with it or not,—because we believe in giving every man a hearing. But we did not endorse his article, any more than we do this, which is incorrect in several of its statements and inferences. We did not "apologize for" the tavern-keeper, nor defend him in any disloyal word or act, if he was ever guilty of any. We have known him intimately for years, and feel assured that no man would rejoice more than he to see the rebellion crushed and the Union restored. But like the Peace Society, and many others whose loyalty is beyond question, he wants some better means of settling national disputes, than war. And while we have no doubt he feels in duty bound to support his Government, and we "presume" finds no fault that it uses the best and only means to sustain itself,—force,—the sword,—he and such as he, wish for the establishment or creation of a better means, such as, for instance, a Congress of Nations, for all Governments to resort to in cases of need.—But he is amply able to speak for himself, and needs, and would ask no "apology" from us.

As to the clergyman and Society, if "Sigma" is correct, they openly preach, and talk, and vote, against the Government and the war, and use their influence, whatever they may have, against both. If anybody is punished for this, why not they? Have we "explained"?—Ed. Chron.

TO NEW VOLUNTEERS.—Volunteers are notified that before their application for relief can be acted upon by the Relief Committee of this city, they must procure from the City Clerk a blank certificate, to be filled by the recruiting officer and the captain of the company in which said volunteer is mustered. Certificates can be had at the City Clerk's office during business hours.

☞ Ezekiel F. Mann, formerly of this city, who enlisted as a private in the 17th Massachusetts regiment, has been twice promoted, and is now a 1st Lieutenant in that regiment.

☞ Gov. Andrew, of Massachusetts, has appointed William H. Hackett, Esq., of this city, a Commissioner of deeds for that Commonwealth.

☞ The Proprietors of Portsmouth Pier are making extensive repairs upon the wharves at the foot of State Street.

☞ See yon fair maiden in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y.

GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE.—The following is a testimonial from J. H. Davis, Principal of the High School at Amesbury:

This certifies that I have used in my family Grace's Salve, with very satisfactory results. It is in my opinion the best salve I have ever used, and worthy of a place in every family.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse.

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to be obliged to fret cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a fire horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE!

RYE, N.H., Feb. 28, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Healing Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENKINS.

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prepared, and using twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since. CAROLINE B. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.

SIMON SWETT.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors salt rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a cure, for I was free from its signs of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.

HANNAH ROWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating; and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of those complaints since, and I rejoice in it. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest, night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26tf

Morning Chronicle.

☞ John J. Crittenden intends to decline a renomination. He is said to have declared that all he asked was to get out of Congress and the present troubles of public life, just as quickly as possible. And we should naturally suppose he would. "Old men for counsel, young men for war;" but when the counsel of the most learned and patriotic of the old statesmen is unheeded, no wonder they get tired of casting pearls of wisdom where they are not appreciated nor valued.

The Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle says that some one asked Jackson's old negro body servant how he came to be so much in the confidence of his master. "Lord sir," said he, "massa never tells me nuffin; but the way I knows is this—massa says his prayers (we a day, morning and night; but he gets out of bed twice or three times in the night to pray, you see I just commence packing my havercack, for I knows there will be the devil to pay next day."

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (as per the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to procure Patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SLATTERY APPEALS REVIEW, in which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodeling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

MATHEWS'
VENETIAN LIQUID
HAIR DYE.
☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1846; since that time it has been used by THOUSANDS, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONE FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.
THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.
THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.
THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL SOFTNESS OF THE HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

The Chronicle.

THE CHURCH MILITANT IN PENNSYLVANIA.—A few evenings ago, the Rev. Mr. Clark, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church in Alleghany, Pennsylvania, urged in a prayer-meeting upon the young men of his congregation, the necessity of enlisting. At the close of his address, one young man arose and said: "Sir, if you will agree to lead us into the battle field, I for one will follow." The minister immediately responded to the challenge, and recorded his name as a volunteer for the war. Before the adjournment of the meeting, more than thirty young men enrolled their names, and by the next day the whole company was made up, and the pastor was elected their captain.—The work did not stop here, however, for within the next 36 hours a second full company was organized, and by Saturday morning a third one, entire and complete, was sworn into the service.

☞ An extraordinary attempt has been made to extort money from Baron Rothschild. In May last a letter was received by the Baron Lionel Rothschild, soliciting a loan of £500, and threatening that if the request were not complied with, he would be assassinated. No notice was taken of the letter, which was signed "A and B," and in June another letter was received, making a similar request, and that if the Baron would comply with the request, he should advertise in one of the daily papers to that effect. This was done, and after other correspondence had passed the Baron was desired to send the money, which, under the advice of the police, he had promised to lend, to a coffee house in St. Martin's-le-grand, addressed to "Mr. Johnson." A letter was sent, and a man who calls himself Reynolds, but whose real name is Davis, was seen by the police to obtain it. He was taken in custody.

MANUFACTURE OF SHOT.—The Dubuque shot tower having been purchased and closed up by a St. Louis house, in order to remove its competition, the citizens of Dubuque became indignant, and commenced experimenting to make shot by dropping metal down the deserted lead mine shafts, and with the most satisfactory results. They are now going into the business quite strongly, having decided that there is no necessity of building fifteen thousand dollar towers, when a hole in the ground, with an expenditure of $500 will do as well.

☞ Father Dunne, a very estimable Catholic priest of Chicago, has volunteered in the service of the Union, and has been appointed to the command of a regiment. Col. Mulligan, the hero of Lexington, writing his congratulations, says:

"To be a priest according to the Order of Melchisedek is a great thing; but to be a colonel according to the act of Congress is, speaking mildly, 'bully.'"

☞ An old man, sixty or seventy years of age, run his horse into the train from Lewiston, on the Androscoggin road, near Brunswick, last Saturday. The horse was killed, the wagon knocked into fragments, but the old man, whose name we understand is Williams, was uninjured, although he made a sudden ascent of ten or fifteen feet, alighting in a sand bank.

A tablet has lately been placed over the grave of Lord Macaulay in Westminster Abbey. It is devoid of all ornament, and it bears a simple inscription recording the dates of the birth and death of the great historian, with the appropriate sentence:—"His body is buried in peace, but his name liveth for evermore."

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

The combined expedition, under Gen. Curtis and Com. Davis, from Helena, Ark., was quite a success. The official report states that the rebel transport Fair Play was captured, with 1200 new Enfield rifles, 4000 new muskets with accutrements complete, a large quantity of field ammunition, 4 field guns, (mounted howitzers,) and some small arms. Col. Ward landed and captured the encampment of the 31st Louisiana Regiment, with all their arms, the enemy flying before him. He captured another camp, with tents, baggage and provisions, burning the depot and eight cars and destroying the telegraph. The expedition proceeded up the Yazoo river, where it captured a battery consisting of a 32-pounder and a 42-pounder gun; also a 24-pounder and a 12-pounder field piece, with 7000 pounds of powder and 1000 shot, shell and grapnel.

There is a fierce quarrel between Bragg and the Mobile and Vicksburg papers. A manufactory of Colt's revolvers has just been started at Macon, Ga. The Vicksburg Whig says the Federal gunboats have taken away six heavy guns from Maquas Bluff, on the Yazoo river.

400 guerrillas, on Saturday last, destroyed a train on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, near Courland, Tenn.

The reports from the army in Virginia are very contradictory. The Tribune's Washington correspondent asserts that the Rappahannock line is abandoned, and that our forces have fallen back to a position ten miles in the rear. The Washington Star, however, states that most of the officers believe that on Saturday last Lee, Longstreet and Jackson quietly took the back track, going somewhere, but no one knows whither, probably to Gordonsville, but a small rebel force being in our front to keep up the appearance of an opposing force there. But the correspondents all agree in declaring that the movement on the part of the rebels has been a fai-ure.—Pope being found in position on the north side of the Rappahannock instead of being caught upon the banks of the Rapidan as designed. It is said that the entire rebel force that marched east from Gordonsville was not more than 30,000 men.

Guerrilla parties seem to be springing up in every direction in Virginia. The World's Washington dispatch states that two gentlemen from Philadelphia, who were bringing the body of Gen. Bohler toward Washington, were attacked by guerrillas and forced to abandon it on the road, barely making an escape with their own lives, having been fired upon. The Philadelphia Bulletin states that the rebels made a raid on Bristow and Manassas station, and captured the 11th N. Y. Battery, destroyed four empty trains, tore up the track, and demolished the telegraph.

☞ We see by the Boston papers, that our old friend, Mr. Charles H. Woodwell, latterly of the Transcript, has enlisted among the nine mos. men. We shouldn't like to undertake to march him "down." We remember when we were compositors together in the Newburyport Herald office, (and when among other things, he was accustomed to eat junks of aloes "right down," as a medicine,—agh!) that he, though apparently frail, was the last to tire out, on a long pull of work; and when we walked to the White Mountains, and walked back also, in company with the now junior of the Portsmouth Journal,—footing it exclusively, some 300 miles or so, in a fortnight—Woodwell didn't lose any flesh, at any rate, for he had none to lose—but we others thought he gained considerably, and the scales showed that he did.

In those days, he was a subscriber to and believer in the "Democratic" Boston Post, while we (the writer of this) delved over and swore by the New York Tribune. Now he has long been a free-soiler, and the Post has almost followed him in sentiment; while we have lost our love for and faith in the Tribune and its radicalisms.

We are making quite a long and discursive story, out of what was begun for an item of a couple of lines; but, Mr. Woodwell, as a prominent member of the Boston Franklin Typographical Society, and at one time President, merits mention from the craft, in his patriotic devotion to his country; and besides, as one of our most intimate personal friends for years, and one of the most intelligent, worthy and reliable young men we ever met, and as genial a companion as could be desired anywhere, we wish to bid him God speed and a safe return. If he marches far enough, we have no doubt he will come home in condition for an alderman, as far as phisique is concerned.

"When will mother be home? cried a child, bursting into tears. "She will be home after dinner," was the reply. "After dinner! then let us eat dinner now," he returned, growing brighter at the overcome difficulty.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The American says it is announced that the 13th Regiment has been organized by the appointment of Robert Wilson of Keene, (brother to Long Jim,) as Colonel, and Samuel A. Duncan, of Meriden, recently Tutor in Dartmouth College, as Major. No appointment of Lieut. Col. has been published. It is understood that Capt. Barker will be Lieut. Colonel, in case he can get discharged from the Second.—If this Regiment goes into the field for three years it will be all, and it seems to us more than can be demanded of our State, unless the 2000 men for the old Regiments constitute an extra quota, for it will make 16,000 that we have furnished for three years.

—— Mr. William Sanborn, of Tamworth, has six sons, five of whom are now in the service, the other having recently returned from the war disabled.

—— The September term of the Supreme Judicial Court will commence its session in Dover, on Tuesday, Sept. 2d.

—— The 7th Regiment has been ordered to St. Augustine, Fla., and the seven companies of the 4th Regiment now there, have been ordered to Hilton Head, S. C.

—— Maj. Josiah Stevens of the 2d Regiment has resigned his commision and been honorably discharged. Maj. S. is a gallant officer, too valuable to lose from the service, and we trust he may be soon physically able to occupy such a position as he merits in the army.

—— Hon. Charles W. Morrison, of Nashua, formerly one of the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of this State, has been appointed Major of the Eleventh Regiment.

—— On Saturday evening as three soldiers were passing along in front of Eagle Hotel, Concord, one of them by accident dropped a loaded revolver upon the sidewalk. It was discharged and the ball entered the thigh of one of the soldiers, and lodged among the muscles of the groin.—The wounded man was from Francestown.

—— A dispatch from Washington to the New York papers stated that Maj. G. P. Folsom, of Dover, Paymaster in Burnside's Division, had been arrested for refusing to deposite coin in the Treasury instead of bills, as required. The Washington Chronicle explains the matter by saying "it is a misapprehension to suppose that Major Folsom was arrested because of any suspicion that he was a defaulter. He was only arrested because he had deposited Government specie in a bank for safe keeping instead of the Treasury. No paymaster stands higher in the pay department, for ability and integrity, than Major Folsom."

—— It is probable that the total enrollment in the State will be from 48,000 to 50,000. The total number of troops thus far called for from this State (exclusive of the three months men) is about 19,000.—With these figures, and the number of enrolled men in any town, the problem of the quota for such town can be easily solved with sufficient exactness for all practical purposes. Thus if a town has 250 enrolled men, and the enrollment of the State is put at 50,000 men, the town's quota will be one-two-hundredth part of the State's quota of 19,000, or 95 men. If there be deducted from this, the number of residents of the town already in the service or enlisted therein, the remainder will be the number still to be raised.

There need be no draft in this State, if everybody will do his duty. It can hardly come off on the 3d of September, from lack of the proper arrangements. The machinery will hardly be in working order by that time. Moreover, if a proper extension of time shall be given, the men can be raised by voluntary enlistment, and much more satisfactorily, if not more expeditiously.—Concord Ind. Democrat.

☞ We learn from Hampton, that Rev. Frank K. Stratton, of the Methodist Church in that town, has been appointed Chaplain in one of the new New Hampshire Regiments; and that his Society have given him leave of absence, and allow him to employ a supply for his pulpit during his absence.

☞ John W. Hobbs, Esq., latterly of Boston, but a native of North Hampton, and whose family is now residing in the old parsonage at that place—is building a large and elegant residence on his old homestead site, just beyond the Lafayette House, better known as Marm Hobbs's tavern. The new buildings and grounds will make one of the most attractive estates in this vicinity.

☞ Three boys, named Robert Hall, of this city, Martin Clement and Charles Swanson, of Manchester, escaped from the Reform School, a day or two since, and were arrested on Monday in Greenland, after a prolonged and vigorous chase, by Officer Johnson.

☞ The brig Balear and the schooner Torro Colorado, both from New York for Tampico, were seized off the Mexican coast by a French blockader and taken to Vera Cruz as prizes. They assumed Mexican colors to avoid rebel pirates.

☞ The National Intelligencer says the President will enforce the Confiscation and Emancipation act to the best of his ability.

☞ A mob destroyed the Bloomington, Iowa, Times for its secesh sympathies.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

From our Regular Correspondent.

HARLEM TERRACE, N. Y., Aug. 25.

Dear Chronicle:—Wandering rustics from Boston, Philadelphia, and the other small places which constitute the uncivilized world, emerging on Friday last from any of the conveyances on the many lines of transit which centre in Gotham, and unfamiliar with the whimsical impulsiveness of the denizens of this great metropolis, would have been more than amazed at the appearance which our principal streets presented, with their densely congregated populace, (in which the Celtic element strongly predominated,) with their massive marble and brown-stone palaces studded with faces of sparkling beauty—flags festooned from windows, stretched across the streets, and floating from pole and eaves—stage-drivers striving to force their way through the crowd, with many whip-cuts and a multitude of hasty profane expressions—policemen pushing, driving and clubbing the crowd in the "way they should go"—firemen with their red shirts and fire caps, and "don't-care-a-bit" swagger, marching along to join the procession, followed by a division of military, a civic society or a body of marshals, all environed by thousands upon thousands of pushing, joggling and jostling humanity, each one struggling to get the first view of the approaching pageant, every one on tip-toe, especially short folks, and all in consequence of the anticipated arrival of our newly-appointed brigadier general from the Emerald Isle—Corcoran.

After a three hours' delay, always one of the most prominent features in every public celebration, the procession, consisting of a couple thousand military, with good bands of music; 3000 firemen, in red shirts, black pants and fire caps; about one hundred carriages containing all politicians who could get a chance to ride at the city's expense; and a dozen or more Irish societies, numbering four or five thousand men, marched up Broadway. This extended escort and the enthusiastic ovation accorded him by the masses, must have been fully as gratifying to the gallant soldier, as his release from durance vile. He is now preparing to organize a brigade, which he can do quicker than any other man in the country.

About 1200 of Spinola's Empire Brigade, stationed at East New York, enjoyed a general melee on Saturday, overpowered the officers and about 200 police, and until the arrival of a squad of marines and a Brooklyn Regiment, exercised their assumed rights in a very promiscuous manner; broke into hotels and people's heads, and did their best to "put down the liquor business," as the old temperance deacon said when caught with a glass of ardent to his lips.

On Monday thirty-five hundred firemen paraded in reception of Capt. Downey of the Fire Zouaves, one of the released prisoners. They were in uniform, attended by fine bands, and made an attractive display.

The fruit market is completely overrun with peaches, plums and apples, and pears are apparent on every corner. Prices almost nothing.

A conundrum for you—Why are flies like opticians? Because they make specks! With the re-spects of your correspondent,

NEWINGTON.

A YANKEE TRICK.—It was a source of considerable alarm when it was ascertained that the rebels had tapped the wires between Moscow and Memphis, and had become possessed of many important dispatches from our generals. But smart as the rebel operator was, says a correspondent of the New York Tribune, the Yankees got the better of him in the end. By an understanding between the two ends of the line, a series of bogus dispatches were prepared, not at all calculated to keep the rebels, in whose hands they were sure to fall, in an easy frame of mind. These were sent daily for a while, and kept the rebels in a state of constant fear and excitement, much to the amusement of the Yankee operators.

REBELLION RECORD.—The 21st part of this valuable publication, is embellished with fine portraits of Col. Baker and Sec. Stanton. The publication still continues to present a vast amount of matter relating to the rebellion, in a most convenient form for binding. Published by G. P. Putnam, New York, in monthly parts, at 50 cents each.

☞ Elaborate tables in the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, show that for the seven months ending July 31, the imports show a gain on the previous year of nearly twenty millions in merchandise, and a decrease of thirty-two millions in specie.

☞ The town of Scarboro, Me., has voted to pay each member of her last quota, whether drafted or enlisted, the sum of one hundred and twenty five dollars. The vote was almost unanimous.

We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambuci Wine lately, in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. Our druggists have just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

☞ The Peter Funk tribe, especially those who have been employed in business in the vicinity of Maiden Lane, New York, for some time past, are now suffering severely from disconsolation. The last of their number, in a business point of view, became defunct on Friday. Special Officer Wells, who has had the matter of breaking up the mock auction snares of these fellows, has succeeded in making them all shut up shop.

THE WIND blows, according to the observations of Prof. Airy in England, only from eight points of the compass—namely, the S S W, the W S W, a point between the W and N W, another between the N and E, another between the E and S S W, the N, the W, and the E. The wind never blows directly from the south.

☞ Immense War meetings were held in Boston and New York, on Wednesday.

THAT SECESSION CHURCH.—Messrs. Editors:—Allow me to reply to your patriotic correspondent "Sigma," who has attempted to state a "few facts" in relation to those in our midst who are openly "discouraging enlistments." He states that "he is informed that a minister of the gospel, in a pulpit in this city, last Sunday, dared to declare this a 'wicked and unholy war,' and advised his hearers not to fight even if drafted." As there is no church in this city, of which I am informed, whose minister does not openly advocate war, excepting the Advent Church,—I therefore justly conclude that reference is made to this one. I was present at that meeting last Sabbath, and I do not remember hearing the preacher make such a statement; and I have interrogated a number who were present, and they do not remember hearing such language used. And furthermore, in relation to "this society having voted unanimously never to take up arms in their country's cause," I can state most emphatically that this, like the other, is void of "Truth," and without the least foundation in fact, as no such vote has ever been passed by this society.

I will here remark that as for myself, I have not the remotest feelings of sympathy with the rebellion; neither have I any feelings averse to the government under which we live, but esteem it as the best one on the face of the earth. And I presume these are the feelings of most of my brethren and sisters. I do not think the church is responsible for the private sentiments of any one of its members, any more than the Church of England is accountable for the convictions of the Hindoo or Arab. The Constitution of the United States guarantees to all the right to "worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences;" and while there is a temporal government remaining on the face of the earth, I hope that this world-wide and time-honored document may never be impaired by traitors' hands. I regard those who are opposed to the present war solely on account of political prejudices, or old party feelings of envy, as nothing less than political bigots.

I deem it my duty to make this statement, in defence of those "meaty mouthed, sanctimonious traitors (so called) clothed in the holy garb of religion," that the public may not be misinformed in regard to the matter. If any further information is required, it can be forthcoming. It is an old maxim, often repeated,—"tell the truth and shame the devil," if he is not beyond the reach of shame. Let truth be your correspondent's motto hereafter.

Yours, T. E. WOOD.

Portsmouth, Aug. 28, 1862.

☞ A large Poster was stuck up at our street corners, a few days since, calling for the $400 bounty for Volunteers for three years, and $200 for those for nine months, and urging the City Government to call another citizens' meeting to vote on the subject. The bill had only the signature of "Many Volunteers," and must hence pass for what it is worth, like other anonymous productions; but Capt. Betton's Volunteers have already advertised in our columns, that it did not emanate from them, nor have their approval. While we wish for the greatest possible liberality to be shown all the Union soldiers, we also, with all other good citizens, regret that this matter could not have been decided without outside pressure or intimidation of any sort.

☞ The managers of those unequalled dollar Lake Excursions request us to say that there will probably be a fourth in a couple of weeks or so. The tickets for the third were limited to 450, (there were many more in the others,) and were all taken up, and still the demand not satisfied. No Excursions about here ever "took" like these, before—and none were ever so cheap and attractive. The Camp Meeting at Newmarket next week, (for which special trains will be run on one or two days) will occupy the road, to the exclusion of the Lake Excursion, which has almost come to be a regular institution among us.

☞ Capt. Towle, with about ninety volunteers, will probably leave this city this afternoon, for Manchester, to join the 10th regiment, Col. Donahoe.

A correspondent says: We hope our citizens will make some public demonstration in honor of these brave men, who are to go forth and fight in obedience to their country's call. We hope all business will be suspended for an hour or two during the afternoon; that a procession will be formed, headed by our bands of music, and that our citizens, one and all, will unite in paying respect to our brave volunteers.

☞ Dr. Robert O. Treadwell, of this city, has made a medical examination of a large number of volunteers during the past week, having been appointed by the Governor Surgeon for that purpose.

☞ We learn that on and after Monday next, Sept. 1, a passenger train will leave Great Falls, about 7 o'clock in the morning, connecting by the Branch road and the P. S. & P. railroad, with the first train from this city to Boston, over the Eastern road.

CITY COUNCIL.—The Board of Aldermen, on Thursday evening, passed an ordinance extending the benefit of the relief fund to the families of those enlisted in the Navy from this city. Passed by the Common Council in concurrence.

The committee on the Fire Department was instructed to locate the new reservoir in Haymarket Square near the gas light in the centre, and to proceed with its construction forthwith.

It was voted that the City Government, with such citizens as may join the procession, tender our escort to Capt. Towle's company of volunteers on their departure this (Friday) afternoon; and a joint committee of arrangements be appointed. The Common Council concurred.

An ordinance was passed, giving a bounty of $150 to the nine months' volunteers; passed by the Common Council in concurrence.

An ordinance giving a bounty of $400 to the three years' volunteers, was read in the Common Council, and in accordance with the rules, laid over to the next meeting.

☞ The citizens of Portsmouth are requested to meet at Jefferson Hall this afternoon at half-past 3 o'clock precisely, for the purpose of forming a Procession with the City Government, to escort the Company of Volunteers to the depot, on their departure for camp.

The military portion of the procession is requested to meet on Market Square, with the right resting on Pleasant Street.

The members of the City Government are requested to meet at their respective rooms at the above hour.

TO NEW VOLUNTEERS.—Volunteers are notified that before their application for relief can be acted upon by the Relief Committee of this city, they must procure from the City Clerk a blank certificate, to be filled by the recruiting officer and the captain of the company in which each volunteer is mustered. Certificates can be had at the City Clerk's office during business hours.

☞ General Pope's own commissions as Brigadier General and Major General were among the effects taken by Stuart's cavalry, and a little item of $40,000 is also mentioned.

☞ They say things are working badly in Maryland. The rebels are so thoroughly organized there and so well armed that decisive measures will be necessary.

☞ See you fair maiden in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families, in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. ly

Steel Spring Saddle Horse,

(From the Home Journal.)

"OF all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and the action is like the gallop of fire horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design, and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pleasure, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended in the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as the cure was effected more than one year ago. No other medicine can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have told it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH GENNESS.

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe pleuritic pain, and took advice about it, thinking it might broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach purgated, smoothing which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no return from it since.

STEPHEN SWETT.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. A. LOND.

RYE, Feb. 24, 1858. DR. SWETT:—Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me, and would add that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine ever used for humors and consumptive complaints.

WM. P. LAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT:—Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that I know of, for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

A LETTER FROM HOME.

BY C. HENRY ST. JOHN.

Some were sitting—some were standing—
Some were fishing in the lake;
Some were sound asleep and dreaming;
Some were dreaming wide awake;
Some were patching up their tatters,
Some were polishing their guns;
Some were reading ragged letters;
Some were popping sorry puns;—

Each was using his endeavor
Thus to pass the time away;
All were anxious, all were ready,
All were sighing for the "fray,"
When soon there came a murmur,
Like the rising of a gale,—
"Corporal Jones has got a letter
From his sister, by the mail!"

"A letter, boys! a letter!"
And each man was on his feet,
"Corporal Jones has got a letter!"
How we scampered up the "street!"
A letter from New England!
'Twas an angel from the skies.
Some came with eager questions,
Not a few with tearful eyes.

"Now please to read it, Corporal,
Let us hear it—every word."
Yet nothing but the cradle
Of the paper could be heard;
But that alone was music,
And no sweeter seemed to be—
For it brought the leafy rustle
Of our dear old trysting tree!

With frequent interruption
Does he read it line by line.—
How the corn-crop is progressing,
And how flourishes the vine;
Then all that f-ther's doing,
And something mother's;
How Sally Brown is wedded,
And Mary Smith is dead.

Too soon the sheet is ended;
How very brief it seems!
But it sets us long a-talking,
And it lengthens out our dreams.
For our feet in fancy wander
Over the hills we know so well,
And we linger 'neath the roof-tree
Where our heart's affections dwell!

Oh, ye who may not shoulder
A musket in the strife—
Each mother, daughter, sister,
Each matron, maiden, wife—
Let every gale come laden
With the perfume of your love,
And spirits faint and drooping
I'will to deeds of valor move!

—Sar. Eve. Gaz.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

Also on hand, the celebrated and unequalled

MATHEWS' VENETIAN LIQUID HAIR DYE.
☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1840; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.
THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.
THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired,—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.
THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL SOFTNESS OF THE HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

CELEBRATION AT FORT POPHAM, ME. Under the auspices of the Maine Historical Society, the founding of the Popham Colony, at the mouth of the Kennebec river in Maine, on the 19th of August, 1607, (O. S.) will be celebrated August 29, 1862. A memorial stone, bearing a suitable inscription, is being prepared to be inserted in the walls of Fort Popham, near the site of which, on the Peninsula of Sabino, the ancient Fort St. George was erected, in the autumn of 1607, around which clustered 50 dwellings, and in the midst of which a small church was built. There will be a formal and public celebration at the placing of this memorial stone, at the fort, Aug. 29, 1862, and a dinner or a collation afterward, under a tent. The most distinguished men, not only of Maine, but of the United States, are invited, and there will be delegations or representative men from Canada, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and other British Provinces. The celebration is to be historical rather than local, and international so far as to embrace those who speak the English language or live under English institutions.

THE LAST FRANKLIN EXPEDITION.—The barque George Henry, of New London, has arrived at St. John's from Frobishers Bay, with Mr. Hall, who went out to search for remains of the Franklin Expedition, on board. Mr. Hall reports that in consequence of the loss of some of his craft, he was unable to prosecute his mission to the extent of his purpose. He has probably determined the fate of two boats's crews of Sir John Franklin's expedition, who perished in endeavoring to return. Mr. Hall explored over one thousand miles of the coast, including the so-called Frobisher's straits, which prove to be a deep bay. He also discovered a great glacier and mountain of fossils, between Hudson's Straits and Frobisher's Bay.

FORWARD AND BACK.—The pilgrimage of a famous religious body, called the Jumpers, has just come off at Echternach, in Germany. The pilgrimage consisted of 8438 Jumpers, among whom are 60 beggars, 78 musicians, 170 singers, and 25 ecclesiastics. The fun of the thing—we beg pardon, the religious proceeding—is to jump two paces forward and one back, all the way to the place of pilgrimage.

☞ Lake Halloula, in Algeria, covering 4500 acres, has been drained, and the bottom, which is to be devoted to agriculture, is found to be covered by a deep and immensely fertile deposite, similar to the Nile mud. Apprehensions were felt that the putrefaction of the vast numbers of fish, left to perish by the drainage of this sheet of water, would breed disease, but immense flocks of vultures swarmed upon the bottom, as the water flowed off, and devoured them all.

☞ The Western papers confirm the horrible details of Indian butcheries on the frontiers, reported by telegraph. The carnage was dreadful, and calls for the most summary and terrible punishment. Hole-in-the-Day, the Chippowa chief, was shot as he tried to escape with his wives.

☞ The State Department has received official news of the death of Dr. Charles C. Brownell, volunteer botanist in the expedition to the sources of the Nile, under Mr. Petherick. He died of fever, when the expedition had reached within about 500 miles of the equator.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Blunt's expedition, with 1500 men, from Fort Scott, had been very successful. They marched nearly three hundred miles in six days. The enemy declined as engagement and commenced a retreat. They were hotly pursued by Gen. Blunt, and driven in utter confusion across the Osage, with a loss of all their transportation and equipments, besides numerous arms, prisoners, &c. It is considered that the expedition saved the Missouri towns and the Western border from devastation, and it is thought quite likely that the rebels' main force will be forced to surrender.

A pilot from Hilton Head reports that on the night of the 23d of August, an attack was made by a Georgia regiment upon Co. H, 3d N. H. volunteers, on Fenwick's Island. Thirty-five of the New Hampshire men were taken prisoners, and fifteen escaped wounded. Second Lieut. Wiggin, who was in command of the company, was killed by the rebels. He had nine bullets shot through him, and his face was completely mashed in by a blow from the breech of a musket. He was found on the field dead, with two privates. Two more of the company have died since. The 7th Connecticut regiment has been ordered to guarrison Fenwick's Island.

The rebels made a raid on Manassas Junction on Tuesday, capturing quartermasters' stores valued at half a million dollars. The rebels were still in possession of the Junction Wednesday morning. It is said that the rebels had with them flying artillery and that they used it against a railroad train arriving from Alexandria.—The rebels destroyed all the buildings, public and private, and the station houses and store houses. In the meantime, the Capital is without communication with the army by rail or telegraph.

These rebel 'dashes' seem to be a very serious matter. That on Manassas was made by Ewell's whole division, comprising infantry, artillery and cavalry. They took many prisoners and nine cannon, and a large number of our soldiers are killed, wounded or missing. It is thought quite probable that Fairfax has been burned: the enemy occupied it on Wednesday. The Washington Star says the enemy were encamped, 20,000 or 30,000 strong, at Gainesville, near Manassas Junction. All enlistlisted men in New Jersey have been ordered to Washington at once, whether equipped or not. Gen. McClellan assumed command of the army of Virginia on Thursday morning. Gen. Burnside is to command the army of the Potomac, and Gen. Pope the army of the Rappahannock.

☞ One of the greatest arts of all newspaper work, is the ability to make "items,"—short, pithy paragraphs, of news or what not. A pleasing and popular lady writer and editor once told us, that she would give almost anything, to be able to write items. She can write good stories, essays, sermons, books; but has not the knack of getting up the three or six line scraps of news. And good item-makers are a sine qua non in the newspaper office; and many a man who would think it the easiest thing in the world to write an item, on trial often finds it altogether beyond his powers to put anything he may wish to communicate, in brief and satisfactory shape for print.

☞ A great outrage was committed at Rutland, Vt., on Saturday. Thirty-two of the best and most costly monuments in the grave yard, in the western part of the village, were overturned, and many of them grossly mutilated and broken and all damaged more or less. Monuments costing from over one hundred to four hundred dollars, were so injured as to be nearly worthless.

☞ Oregon dates of the 19th announce the arrival of Lieut. Miller with 50 men and 11 wagons at Fort Wallar from Fort Bentton. A number of emigrants accompanied the train. Emigrants from Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, &c., are also arriving in considerable numbers at Dalles. Some of them complain of unexpected hardships on the plains.

The people of Oregon continue excited over the mining reports from all directions.

☞ Among the persons lost by the destruction of the steamer Acacia, were Mrs. Robert Dale Owen, and Mrs. Richardson, wife of Capt. Richardson of the 53d Ohio. It is ascertained that not more than thirty persons perished.

☞ A woman named Parisot, in Paris, has been sentenced to twenty years' hard labor for killing the rival of her "lover"—the latter a pensioner with a wooden leg and the weight of 76 years to carry with it!

☞ There have been filed in the Pension Bureau, under the Act of July 14, 1862, about 2,200 applications of invalids for pensions, growing out of services in the current war.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——The American has obtained the quotas of about thirty towns in this State, and from it we take the following:

	3 yrs.	9 mos.	Already raised
Manchester,	1010	337	1442
Nashua,	575	191	844
Concord,	565	188	621
Dover,	420	140	488
Auburn,	55	18	42
Candia,	73	24	31
Chester,	62	20	57
Derry,	76	25	76
Londonderry,	69	23	77
Deerfield,	95	32	55

—— The Concord correspondent of the Boston Journal says the second enrollment contained about 2500 more names than the first. The entire militia in the State, and the soldiers who have gone forth, amount to 51,421 men. The number of men called for by all the proclamations of the President amounts to about 40 per cent. of this number. All men thus far furnished are credited to the several towns. The aggregate number of the three years' and the nine months' men in a few towns in this vicinity is as follows:

Portsmouth,	607
Exeter,	222
Epping,	103
Newmarket,	117
Kingston,	84
Nottingham,	80

The nine months' men amount to just one fourth of these aggregate quotas, and are easily obtained. The towns' quotas can be obtained by taking 40 per cent. of the available militia at home and in the field.—Drafting in this State has been deferred until the 15th of September. The State bounty, except for soldiers who join regiments in the field, will close on the 1st of September. For this class it will be kept open till Sept. 15.

—— The enrollment of Dover presents the following result:—Number subject to a draft, 856; now in service, 488; enlisted, but not mustered in, 97; total, 1441.

The Nashua enrollment shows the full number to be 1966; now in service, 844; liable, 1122,—besides some enlisted for the 10th and 13th Regiments since the enrollment.

—— Dr. J. B. Greeley, Surgeon in the Cavalry, volunteered to attend to those wounded in the engagement on the Rappahannock, on Thursday of last week. While moving his hospital to avoid danger, which became imminent, his horse was shot, and he received a slight flesh wound in the side, and was struck by a rifle ball, which badly shattered his arm. The ball was extracted, and it is thought that the arm will be saved. Dr. G. returned to his residence in Nashua on Tuesday.

—— The line officers of the 12th Regiment met on Tuesday last, and elected the following field officers, and have sent in their report to the Governor and Council for their approval;—Colonel, Thomas J. Whipple; Lieut. Colonel, George W. Stevens; Major, George D. Savage, of Alton; Adjutant, Daniel S. Beede, Sandwich;—Quartermaster, Isaiah Winch, Meredith; Chaplain, J. M. Durgin, Gilmanton.

——The American states that Rev. Mr. Jones, Methodist, has been appointed Chaplain of the 13th, and Lieut. Geo. H. Gillis of Nashua, Adjutant.

—— The incendiary shell which set the ram Arkansas on fire, was invented by Mr. A. M. George, of Nashua. He obtained a patent on it in 1856.

—— Major Daniel Smith, of the 7th Regiment, was buried in Dover on Thursday, with military honors. Four military companies were present, commanded by Major Angell, of the 10th Regiment.

—— Steamer Leslie, which arrived at Washington on Wednesday morning last, brought up the body of the wife of Lieut. Col. C. Scott, of the N. H. 6th, who was drowned in the collision on the Potomac.—The body had been found floating, by some persons crossing the river, who had buried it on shore.

—— At a special session of the Supreme Court held at Plymouth on Tuesday, Barnet Page was arraigned for the murder of a man by the name of Avery, in Thornton, in May, 1860. The prisoner waived the reading of the indictment and pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree. Extenuating circumstances have been shown; the Court sentenced the prisoner to imprisonment for fifteen years in the State Prison.

—— The Eagle says it is believed that the full quota of Claremont for the 600,000 has been raised. The draft therefore has no terrors for the timid or indisposed within the precincts. The enlisting goes on just the same.

☞ The new iron-clad ship Ironsides arrived at Fortress Monroe on Tuesday evening. Her performance is reported to have been very satisfactory.

☞ The new census of San Francisco gives a population of 80,000 against 33,000 last year. The city is in a very prosperous condition.

☞ The War Department has forbidden engaging or advertising for substitutes in anticipation of the draft.

☞ Newburyport has raised her quotas, and has men to spare.

SUNSHINE.

If there's a pleasant little nook
Where all is green and fair,
Then maybe we very sure indeed
The sunshine has been there.

If there's a tree that's laden with
Ripe fruit, fine, rich and rare,
You never need to doubt the fact,
That sunshine has been there.

If there's a field of golden grain,
That is not scarce nor spare,
Look up to God with thankful hearts,
For sending sunshine there.

If there's a face that's glad with smiles,
The heart may know its care,
But broadly shining over all
You may see sunshine there.

If there's a joyous happy band,
Whose hearts are full of mirth,
Dark clouds dare throw no shadows there,
Where sunshine's round the hearth.

God bless the sunshine on the hill,
The sunshine in the heart,
It warmly through our heart doth thrill,
And dulls the sharpest dart.

THE BOSTON AND MAINE.—The Annual Report of the managers of this road has been printed and will be presented to the stockholders at the ensuing meeting which is to be held at Haverhill, Sept. 10. The gross revenue for the year ending May 31, 1862, was $732,428.64, and the expenditures during the same period $442,021.14, leaving the net earnings $290,406.50. The report states that the comparatively unfavorable state of their annual exhibit is caused by the deranged state of public affairs, which affects also the other roads connected with the Boston and Maine whence a revenue is wont to be had from their surplus earnings. The removal of the coasting steamers eastward by the government also tended to depreciate the earning of the road, which are less by $110,016.36, or equal to $2.50 on each share of the stock. The condition of the road is represented to be good as is also that of the rolling stock, and the directors express entire confidence, notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the times, in the comparative value of the property.

MASSACHUSETTS STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.—At a meeting of the State Temperance Alliance, in Boston, Wednesday, it was voted to hold a mass Temperance Convention in Boston, on the last Wednesday in September. It was stated at this meeting, that the towns which filled their quotas for the army first, were, for the most part, free from rum shops. The existence of liquor places in Boston was thought to be a great hindrance to recruiting. It is well known that we have two thousand open places where intoxicating drinks are sold.—Traveller.

A DETERMINED DESERTER.—In the Transcript of Thursday we gave an account of a person who had cut his fingers off to escape going to war. The person alluded to was Stephen Salisbury Williams. Yesterday morning he was started for Fort Warren by officer Sawtell. On the way down when the cars were at full speed he leaped from the platform, the officer leaping after him. Williams was rolled over half a dozen times, but was immediately seized and brought back in a battered condition to the cars, which were stopped for his express benefit. He was then safely carried to Boston and forwarded to Fort Warren. Williams has a family in this city.—Worcester Transcript.

☞ A thunder storm in Worcester destroyed seven thousand panes of glass in D. W. Lincoln's conservatory in that place.

TO NEW VOLUNTEERS.—Volunteers are notified that before their application for relief can be acted upon by the Relief Committee of this city, they must procure from the City Clerk a blank certificate, to be filled by the recruiting officer and the captain of the company in which said volunteer is mustered. Certificates can be had at the City Clerk's office during business hours. Portsmouth, Aug. 28, 1862.

☞ See yon fair maiden in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. ly.

NEW HAMPSHIRE
MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

NOTICE TO THE
Citizens of the State of New Hampshire.

There is to be a MECHANIC & INDUSTRIAL FAIR, for the encouragement of the Mechanic Arts, holden
IN PORTSMOUTH,
To commence on the 15th of September,
AND CONTINUE FIVE DAYS.

The proceeds, over and above the expenses, to be expended to aid our volunteers.

There will be competent and impartial Committees chosen to decide on the merits of the various articles on exhibition, and liberal PREMIUMS will be awarded in the various departments.

As this is the first Exhibition of the kind ever held in this State, we are determined it shall be successful. There is no possible reason why New Hampshire may not get up as good a show as any other State. We have as GOOD MATERIAL, INTELLECT and MEMORY as the best. As this is to be a STATE instead of a County Fair, we would like to have EVERY PART OF THE STATE represented by some specimens of the industry and ingenuity of her sons and daughters.

The most liberal arrangements will be made with the Railroads, for the transportation of articles for exhibition and visitors on the occasion.

N. B.—The best of care will be taken of all Articles sent in.

To the Ladies.

We ask for specimens of Needle Work, such as Embroidery, Worsted Work, Quilts, &c. Also specimens of Weaving, Spinning, Knitting, Crochet Work, Hair Work, Drawings, Paintings, Shell work, Cone and Leather Frames, and all kinds of Fancy Work.

☞ The Dramatic Cantata, "Belshazzar's Feast, or the Fall of Babylon," was performed at the North Church in this city, on Thursday evening. The impersonations were by some of the best singers in the city, to the number of fourteen. J. P. Bartlett, Esq., was King; Miss Lizzie Ham, Queen; and Mr. Wingate N. Insley, High Priest. The skillful lady organist of the North Church played the accompaniment, which in some parts was exceedingly beautiful.

Dr. Goodall, who managed the whole matter has been indefatigable in bringing out this concert; and the affair was certainly a musical success—for we have rarely seen a concert pass off so smoothly from begining to end. Notwithstanding the extremely broken and varied character of the music, and the short time for rehearsal, each and all were well up in their parts.

Where all did so well, it were perhaps useless to particularize; but we may as well do a little homage to the royal couple on the occasion—whose performances were indeed a rare treat. The Queen's last solo was the gem of the evening, and admirably contrasted with the splendid closing chorus. The King's bass, unlike the baseness of his namesake, is better the more you have of it, and we thought he sang even better than he did a score of years ago.—His voice and personnel are finely adapted for the part. Long may he reign!—"Daniel" was true to his part, and careful and accurate in performance, as usual; but his voice, like all others, is so much more pleasant when kept within its easy compass, that it is rarely worth while to crowd above the natural register. All were glad to hear the "High Priest" once more—and such a bass, and such an entire choir, ought not to be allowed to hang their harps upon the willow so much. If "Hananiah's" voice was as fine as his capacity for using it, and his knowledge and appreciation of classical music are, he could hardly have done more for the cause than he did. The "Lord of the Court," as usual, acted well his part, with the pleasing modesty and unpretending exactness to be expected from a gentleman of his standing, with six such "Ladies of the Court" to look after. And all we have to say is, that if he can't select one worthy of all court, he ought to be drafted into some less pleasing, if more patriotic service. The solo, "Arouse ye, arouse," from an unseen "Lady," was perhaps the finest bit of the dramatic during the evening.—That sub-alto Hebrew maiden, we never heard sing so finely before; and it was because she subdued and modulated her voice with more care. Her companion sang sweetly and pleasantly as ever. The "Lady's" solo, "Fill Zion's golden goblets high," was finely given—her friends said she never sang better. And all, all did well,—and choruses, solos, and all parts evinced careful study and much interest of all the participants.

The orchestra, organ, &c., were very tastefully decorated with flowers; and with the appropriately-costumed and charming ladies, (and we would say fine-looking quintet of gentlemen, if it were not for flattering them,) presented a very beautiful scene, in that elegant and well-lighted gallery. A thunder-shower arose during the evening, and there were some sublime discharges of heaven's artillery, with the accompanying brilliant flashes—which, however, rather interrupted the minor performances inside the church.

Such a composition as this Cantata, and indeed almost any other, needs to be heard more than once before you begin to appreciate it; and we doubt if it ever could be made "popular," even with the lovers and appreciators of music. It seems to us there is a sameness in characther throughout, a lack of startling changes and marked variety, which render it a little monotonous, and which not even the excellence of performance could overcome. But we would return all praise to the public spirit, skill and labor which brought out so fine an entertainment; and would, in behalf of the public and the cause of music, venture to hope we may have more of the kind.

As to the attendance, we must say we were greatly disappointed. We expected the church would not be large enough to contain the audience—whereas, though eminently respectable and appreciative, the hearers numbered hardly more than three hundred, we should judge. We thought that of course almost everybody in the North Society would insist on being there; and so we could hardly see where outsiders were going to find room. Then we supposed that the concert-goers, in general, would not let pass so rare an opportunity to see and hear one of our best home choirs in so attractive shape. But "white folks are very onsartin," and none more so than "the musical public." Those who didn't go, missed it, however; for "the picture" presented was worth the ticket, not to mention the music. Let Babylon fall.

☞ Rev. Edward Everett Hale, of Boston, will preach at the Unitarian Church to-morrow.

☞ Capt. Towle's company of Volunteers, on Friday afternoon, on the occasion of their departure for Manchester to join the 10th regiment,—were escorted to the depot by Capt. Betton's company, and other volunteers; the Portsmouth Light Guards; Engine Cos. Nos. 1 and 2, the members of the City Government, and a large number of our citizens, with the Portsmouth Cornet Band and Knight's Brass Band.

Capt. Towle's company were received at the South Mill Bridge, and escorted to the P. & C. depot, where brief addresses were made to them by Mayor Simes, and Rev. Messrs. Humphries and Patterson, who bade them God speed on their way. Capt. Towle responded briefly and feelingly in behalf of his men; and amid the cheers of the large crowd the train passed out of the depot.

Nearly if not quite all the stores in the city were closed at three o'clock; flags were very generally displayed; and our citizens were united in the desire and determination to do honor to our brave Volunteers.

☞ The following is a list of the names of Capt. Towle's Company of Volunteers. Sixty-seven of them are residents of this city; the remainder were enlisted in Greenland and other towns in this vicinity.

☞ The Mendelssohn Club, whose concert we advertise this morning, needs no commendation from this writer or any other man. They are capable of blowing their own horns—and have done it so long and so well, that all our music-loving readers need not to be told of their excellence.—Of Miss Pearson, the new vocalist, our exchanges speak only in terms of praise. "She is yet young, but promises well, and displays a flexibility of voice and a trueness of intonation, that older vocalists might envy. It is seldom that an American voice can so well conquer the difficulties of Italian music. We do not mean to assert that she is without faults; but she sings well, wonderfully well, for one so young and so briefly under instruction, and gives promise of a brilliant future. Her manner and address are all in her favor."

☞ By an item in another column, it will be seen that the quota of this city, under all the calls of the President, is, as near as can now be ascertained, 607 men. We have already furnished for the Army and Navy at least 500 men, and our quota for three years' men must be quite full. We have, therefore, to enlist 107 men for nine months,—just one company,—and from the well known character of the gentlemen who have undertaken the matter, we doubt not they will be raised very speedily.

☞ Messrs. J. H. Thacher, George T. Wildes and Wm. A. Haven have opened an office in this city, for the enlistment of volunteers for nine months. We are glad that so strong a team has engaged in the good work. There is not a doubt of their entire success. Their office is at Thacher's apothecary store, corner of State and Pleasant streets.

ONLY TO-DAY.—Volunteers should remember that to-day (Saturday) is the last on which they can obtain the $200 bounty from the city. If you wish the $200 bounty, enlist to-day for three years, and thus secure it.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse,

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended in the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several boxes of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's medicine in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prescribed, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since.

CATHARINE M. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.

SIMEON SWETT.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called the scrofula, or salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure; as I have had no sign of the disease since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.

HANNAH ROWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with Histress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and had tried medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1859. Dr Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."

WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

From the Journal

LATE JAMES P. P. MARDEN.—In our paper of the 16th was recorded the death of Sergeant James P. P. Marden, at New Orleans, at the age of 27. Mr. Marden was the youngest son of the late Mr. Daniel Marden, of this city, and was well known and highly esteemed by a large circle of friends in his native place. He was residing at Lowell when the call was made for volunteers, and feeling it his duty to give his services to his country, he enlisted in Company B. 2d Massachusetts Cavalry, which, under Gen. Butler, was ordered to New-Orleans. He was appointed Sergeant, performed his duties with acceptance, and did honor to his position. He died of the acclimating fever.

JAMES E. SEAVEY.—We had scarcely finished writing the above paragraph, when we read the intelligence that another of the worthy sons of Portsmouth is no more. James E. Seavey, aged 22, son of the widow of William Seavey, enlisted in the Portsmouth company, 2d Regiment, to do service for his country. He had passed unharmed through several battles, and having a good constitution, strengthed by sound moral habits, he had escaped sickness to which many had been exposed, and bid fair to be carried through the conflict. Last Saturday afternoon, a steamer with passengers from Harrison's Landing, arrived at Aquia Creek, and he, with many of the soldiers, went into the water for bathing. Either by exhaustion or cramp, he sank and was seen no more. As a friend, a son, and a brother, his loss will be deeply felt.

Although the remains of either cannot be brought here to receive the honorable attention of their friends, yet their names should be prominently recorded among those of our citizens who have sacrificed their lives in defence of their country.

"How sleep the brave who sink to rest,
"By all their country's wishes blest."

"BELSHAZZAR'S FEAST."—"Our blessings brighten as they take their flight."—We admire Miss Wentworth as she now shines a luminous star in the constellation of public singers, just as we should appreciate the charming voices that have not as yet a name in the public roll of vocalists, remaining as they do to the delight simply of the home circle of Portsmouth friends. It is with feelings like these that we listen to such concerts as that of Thursday evening in the North Church. It was superb, as a general thing. "Bright, particular stars" performed solos that would doubtless have drawn great applause from a Boston audience; and the choruses, especially the grand closing chorus, "Magnify, extol and exalt," were powerful, admirably balanced, and finely performed. The concert is worthy of a repetition, and we would respectfully suggest that if given in aid of the Soldiers' Aid Fund, a crowded house would doubtless be present.

LIBERAL.—Hon. Joseph A. Gilmore, a few weeks ago, offered two hundred and twenty-five dollars for nine men to fill up Capt. Allen's company of the Third Regiment. Col. Gilmore also offered a general bounty of $500 to be divided among those who may enlist at Concord. Such liberality should be borne in mind—it shows the liberality of one to whom the State is now looking as its next candidate for its chief magistracy.

FOREIGNERS NOT TO BE EMPLOYED AT THE NAVY YARDS.—An order has been promulgated at the Portsmouth and other Navy Yards of the United States, that none but citizens will hereafter be employed as workmen in these yards. This word "citizens" includes not only natives but foreigners who have taken out their final naturalization papers, and who have also sworn true allegiance to the Government of the United States.—The order now promulgated was adopted many years ago, but was never enforced to any great extent.

WESTMINISTER.—Leonard Scott & Co.'s reprint of this quarterly has been received. Its contents are as follows: The Life and Policy of Pitt; Dr. Davison's Introduction to the Old Testament; Election Expenses; Sir William Hamilton: his Doctrines of Preception and Judgment; English Rule in India; Celebrated Literary Friendships; The Dawn of Animal Life; Contemporary Literature. The Reviews have evidently learned wisdom from experience, and are chary of the American question.

HONORING THE OLD HOMESTEAD.—In an interesting seaboard sketch, the Statesman says, that in North Hampton, a gentleman is building one of the best establishments in the state. The house is large, well-modeled, and beautiful at every point of view. The outbuildings are spacious, and as good as can be erected—all of the most modern character. The farm is an excellent one. In the yard stands a small, one-story, gambrel-roofed cottage, bearing evident marks of the tooth of Time. It is perhaps 15 by 20 feet in area, and presents a striking contrast to the fine mansion nearly completed beside it. The little cot is the birthpace of the gentleman who is building the stately dwelling. When a boy he shouldered his pack and left its hearth for the city, and now he proposes that the humble dwelling shall remain beside the more pretentious one. The proprietor is John W. F. Home, Esq., of Boston, who has acquired a handsome competence in the ownership of lines of city stages.

Mr. Charles C. Harvey, formerly of Portsmouth, (late of the firm of Learnard, Chandler & Co.,) and M. A. Parker, (late of Henry Callender & Co.) have formed a co-partnership and taken the store No. 8 South Market street, Boston, for the purpose of carrying on a general produce business.

MILITARY.—Thomas Simes Dennett, of Dorchester, Mass., late Inspector of the Boston Custom House, and son of Nathaniel Dennett, of Portsmouth, has been appointed by the President, Assistant Quartermaster of Volunteers, with the rank of Captain. We copy the following notice from the Taunton Gazette:—

"We notice with sincere pleasure the appointment of Mr. Dennett, as he is both deserving and capable. The spirit in which it has been made is a good one and the appointment is one of the best that could be made.

THE WREATH OF THE BRAVE.

When the bright star of peace from my country was clouded,
Hope fondly presaged it would soon reappear,
But still, dark its gloom the horizon is shrouded,
And the beacon of war blazes dreadfully near;
And fled are the charms which the heart have delighted;
Forgot the enjoyments tranquility gave—
Every flow'ret is withered, each blossom is blighted,
But the wreath which encircles the brow of the brave;

But spurned be the coal to true feeling a stranger,
That refuses to valor the meed it has won;
The a prize dearly earned amid peril and danger,
And shall bloom till eternity's march is begun.
Be the arm ever hallowed for Freedom contending
Where the star-adorned banners of Liberty wave;
For the Heaven-blest cause which that arm is defending,
Makes sacred the wreath which encircles the brave.

Though delightful that wreath to the votary of glory,
Who soars on the pinions of Victory to fame;
The each patriot bosom beats high at the story
That emblazons with honor America's name;
Yet, 'tis only in blood that the laurel is flourish,
'Tis Hooper's red trophy, 'tis plucked from the grave;
And the tears of the widow and orphans must nourish
The wreath that encircles the brow of the brave.

Yet blame not the bard that with human aversion,
He shuddering turns when the battle-storm lowers,
And exults that the aim of the patriot's exertion,
Peace, sanctioned by Honor, ere long shall be ours.
Then the warrior shall sheathe, with a smile of devotion,
His sword that he wielded his country to save,
And the wreaths they have won on the field and the ocean,
Immortal shall bloom on the brow of the brave.

☞ A dispatch received at the Post Office Department, dated Salt Lake City, says: "A general war with all the Indian tribes east of the Missouri River is close at hand. An interruption of the Overland Mail is daily expected. Nothing but prompt and decisive action on the part of Government will prevent it." The Post Office Department has instructed Postmasters to send the California mails by way of New York until further directed.

☞ A dispatch from the War Department to Gov. Curtin, states that no advanced pay or bounty can be allowed recruits for new regiments after the period specified in the order of the Department heretofore issued. If the regiments are full by the 1st of September they will be accepted, but without bounty to those recruits enlisted after the specified date. The condition of enlistments with the different States requires the order of the Department to remain unchanged.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world;—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,

MATHEWS'
VENETIAN LIQUID
HAIR DYE.
☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE—this celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1846; since that time it has been used by thousands, and in no instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.
THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY AND CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.
THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.
THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL GROWTH OF THE HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent dye ever used.

Daily Morning Chronicle

VOL. 21. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. MONDAY, SEPT. 1, 1862 NO. 27.

The Chronicle.

☞ A Ballot correspondent truly states that "at no period for years have so many substantial residences been in process of erection in Portsmouth as at the present time. The elegant mansion being erected on Middle Street, for John J. Pickering, Esq., is probably unsurpassed in style and convenience by any private residence in the State. The brick block on Mulberry St., corner of State, to be completed in the Fall, is the best building of the kind that has been erected here for a quarter of a century. Mr. T. E. Call will have a spacious residence at the corner of Court and Pleasant Sts. Mrs. E. W. Hills is erecting a substantial house on Islington St., just above Gov. Goodwin's. Mr. Tuckerman and Mrs. Townsend are engaged in erecting a double house on State St. near Winter St. Mr. H. S. Hartshorn has just built a large house at Sagamore; and Mr. Edward D. Coffin is about completing a substantial residence on Cabot St. These buildings, with others in the course of remodelling and repairs, keep our carpenters busily at work."

Among other alterations, we notice great improvements have been made and are still progressing, in the fine old Ladd estate on Market Street, which is to be the residence of A. H. Ladd, Esq. It only needs now, that the unsightly high close fence, in the rear, on High St., be replaced with something more befitting the premises of a gentleman of taste, to render this still more evidently one of the most elegant estates in the city, having then a fine front and rear aspect. And, by the way, when this may be done, High street right at this narrow point, be widened, to great advantage, by moving back the bounds of this garden a couple of feet or so. We have understood that the owner is ready to co-operate with the City in making this great improvement, which would conduce not a little to the good appearance of our city, and promote the comfort of residents and travellers in that street, at a very small outlay.

FRUCTIDOR.
BY A LONDON BARRISTER.

The swollen pear, smooth tapering to its stalk,
Drops large and juicy as it lies in the generous sun;
The crumbling medlars on the garden walk,
Ray-sodden limps, fall brownly one by one;
And, pierced by beak of linnet, in a flood,
The darkling damson drips with ruby blood.

All tingling hot the sultry wall o'erspread
By snakelike branches writhed and interlaced,
Sustains the peach whose cheek of darkened red
The enamored wild-bee's kisses have defiaed—
Pink-veined from rugged stone to tender peel
All faintly powdered with a pearly meal.

See, pensile, quivering from the jewelled stems
Redundant cherries twinkle moist in air;
Lo, deep in umbrage that the day contemns,
The soft sig blackens in its sylvan lair;
Behold in clumps that trail the dingle sod
The pebble nibert in its shaggy pod.

☞ The ill-feeling between the Irish and colored people of Cincinnati still continues, and on Sunday there were numerous collisions, so that at night the station-houses were filled with riotous people.

☞ A correspondent of the N. Y. Commercial suggests that after this war is over it might be advisable to send a few men to Nassau and shovel that little island nuisance into the sea.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

Gen Rosseau has taken command of Nashville. Strong fortifications commanding the city have been erected.

The rebels have evacuated Chattanooga and gone to Knoxville. Price is said to have joined Bragg. Breckinridge is at Jackson, Miss.

Reliable reports say that Morgan, with 200 men, entered Glasgow, Ky., on Friday morning, and seized the Provost Marshal.—The remainder of his force were within a mile and a half of Glasgow and proceeding toward that place.

The New Orleans correspondent of the N. Y. Times states that Baton Rouge is to be evacuated and probably destroyed; preparations are making for the accommodation of Gov. Shepley at New Orleans. He says Breckinridge has sent a note to Col. Paine, commanding at Baton Rouge, threatening to raise the black flag, and to neither give nor ask quarter.

Gen. Pope reports to Gen. Halleck, under date of Manassas Junction, 10 o'clock, Thursday evening, that as soon as he discovered that a large force of the enemy was turning his right towards Manassas, the division ordered there two days previous not having arrived, he immediately broke up his camps at Warrenton Junction and Warrenton, and marched rapidly back in three columns, led by himself, Gens. McDowell and Reno. These divisions successfully reached Manassas Junction, Gainesville and Greenwich respectively. Longstreet who had passed through Thoroughfare Gap, was driven back to the west side by Gen. McDowell. Gen. Hooker's division, while marching towards Manassas came upon the enemy near Kettle Run, on the 27th, and after a severe skirmish routed them completely, killing and wounding 300, capturing their camps and baggage and many stands of arms. On Thursday morning the command pushed rapidly towards Manassas Junction, which Jackson had evacuated three hours in advance. He was met 6 miles west of Centreville by McDowell and Sigel late on Thursday afternoon.—A severe fight took place, which was terminated by darkness. The enemy was driven back at all points, and thus affairs rested at night. We captured 1000 prisoners, many arms and one piece of artillery. Other reports, declared reliable, state that Generals Burnside and Pope successfully cut their way through the rebel forces to Manassas, and formed a junction with the Army of Virginia, under Gen. McClellan, this side of Centreville. There has been a severe engagement with the rebels by the divisions under the command of Generals Hooker, Sturgis and Sumner, in which the rebels were completely routed and driven back from the vicinity of Manassas and Bull Run, through the passes of the Bull Run Mountains. The loss of life on both sides is said to have been heavy.

The Washington Star says:—

The rebel force at Manassas, on Tuesday night last, was the army of Jackson, and Stuart's Cavalry corps. They consisted of infantry and artillery, and marched, about 30,000 strong, from near Waterloo to Manassas, about forty miles in two days, leaving their baggage of every description to be transported with the other army corps of Lee, which was following. Instead of fighting merely a portion of Stuart's cavalry at Manassas, Taylor's brigade were confronted by the greater part of Jackson's corps. Maj. Gens. Jackson, Ewell, Taliaferro, A. P. Hill and Stuart and the General-in-Chief, Robert Lee, or his son, Brig. Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, were present. Maj. Gen. Pope, by half past nine Thursday morning, had concentrated his very large army so as to have McDowell's force, including Gen. Sigel's probably, between Jackson's rear and Longstreet's front, and also all the rest of the army well up within supporting distance. We may add that Gen. McClellan is disposing of his heavy Union force around Washington and Alexandria and the fortifications, which will soon play an important part in the drama of the hour.

Gen. Pope reports that a terrific battle was fought, on Friday, at Groveton, near Gainesville, Va., against the combined forces of the enemy. It lasted with continuous fury from daylight until after dark, when the enemy was driven from the field, which our troops occupied. Our troops were too exhausted to push matters, but would do so on Saturday morning, as soon as Gen. Fitz John Porter's forces came up to Manassas. The enemy was still on our front, but badly used up. We have lost not less than 8000 men, killed and wounded. From the appearance of the field, the enemy have lost at least two to our one. Our troops behaved splendidly. The battle was fought in the corner battle-field of Bull Run, which greatly increased the enthusiasm of our men. Gen. Pope closes with the statement that news had just reached him that the enemy was retreating towards the mountains. We have made great captures;—he was unable, as yet, to form any idea of their extent.

The dispatch received on Sunday by Messrs. Hutchings, Isley and others, stated that the rebels, having been reinforced, attacked Gen. Pope on Saturday. The fight continued through most of the day, and Gen. Pope was driven back to Centreville, but retired in good order. Saturday night he was reinforced by Franklin's division, and Sumner was also marching to his aid. He was in a strong position at Centreville, and with his reinforcements would renew the battle on Sunday forenoon.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Statesman's Washington correspondent says that the N. H. Battalion of Cavalry shared in the honors of the desperate encounter at Cedar Mountain, and in the bloody results also. Capt. Prentiss' company, he thinks, lost two killed and one or two mortally wounded. After Dr. Gresley was wounded, he was sent to Washington, and, with his fractured arm in a sling, went to the Surgeon General and solicited to be put on duty there in any way in which he could be useful. He was advised by the Surgeon General, however, to go home, and gather vigor while his arm was healing.—The N. H. Battery was also at Cedar Mountain, and Capt. Gerrish is covering himself and command with distinguished honor in the field. The correspondent states that he has often heard this battery mentioned in the most honorable terms.

—— The Hilton Head correspondent of the New York Times says that it was thro' sheer carelessness that on the 23d, the rebels surprised a portion of a company of the 3d N. H., killing Lieut. Wiggin, privates N. Downs and G. W. Adams, and wounding C. O. Ring, C. Morgan, H. H. Nichols, and capturing 35 others. The enemy then retreated.

—— Seven companies of the 11th Regiment were in camp in Concord on Friday. The entire regiment is to be in camp on Friday, and is expected to leave for the war as early as Sept. 10. Arms and clothing only are necessary to secure its prompt departure.

—— The 12th Regiment will go into camp this week. The field officers had not been commissioned on Friday, although the choice of the regiment is understood to be quite decidedly expressed.

—— Hon. A. H. Cragin has drawn up the following form of pledge, or agreement for nine months' volunteers in Lebanon.—It might be used in other towns. The form is similar to the one used in Vermont, where they have nearly raised their full quota.—The towns join and form a company, take the roll to the Governor, and they are accepted.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

We, the undersigned, residents of the town of , in the County of , in the State of New-Hampshire, do hereby voluntarily enlist, and offer ourselves to serve in a company of militia, in the service of the United States, for the term of nine months, unless sooner discharged, in lieu of the drafted Militia for the State of New-Hampshire, under the recent call of the President of the United States, dated Aug. 4, 1862, for a draft of 300,000 militia.

And we do hereby severally agree, that we will accept the pay, rations and allowances to which drafted militia are entitled under the laws of this State and of the United States, and do take upon ourselves all the duties and obligations to which drafted men are subject.

ORDINATION.—On Thursday last, Brs. Thomas W. Silloway of Boston, and Benjamin Kimball Russ of Somerville, were ordained to the work of the gospel ministry, by the Rockingham Association of Universalists, who were holding their Annual Meeting in Kensington, at the Union Meeting House.

The exercises were, Reading of the Scriptures by Br. Hawes; Invocation by Br. Danion; Sermon by Br. Usher of Medford; Ordaining Prayer by Br. T. H. Miller; Charge and delivery of Scriptures by Br. S. S. Fletcher; Right Hand of Fellowship by Br. Patterson.

☞ It is not true that Gen. McClellan has been appointed or placed in command of the Army of Virginia. Maj. Gen. Halleck is General-in-Chief, and the other Generals command their divisions.

☞ The people of Boston gave Gen. Corcoran a most general and hearty welcome on Friday. The city was ablaze with enthusiasm that must have made the noble soldier's heart throb with honest pride.

☞ It is denied, on the authority of the private Secretary to Gen. Pope, that the rebels obtained any private or valuable papers in the capture of the General's baggage. Nothing of any special value was lost.

☞ Horace Parnel Tuttle, of the Harvard College Observatory, the well-known discoverer of planets, &c., has enlisted in the Fourth Battalion in Boston. The Transcript says he is considered the best rifle shot in Massachusetts.

OUR COUNTY QUOTA.—The following is the official statement of the estimated total quotas of the several towns and cities in Rockingham County, under the calls of the President for three years' volunteers and nine months' militia. Such towns as have furnished an excess of three years' volunteers, will be credited with such excess toward their quota for nine months' men.

Enlisting papers will be forwarded to the selectmen of towns, and mayors and aldermen of cities, who will forthwith adopt such measures to fill their respective quotas as they may deem advisable, and report to the Adjutant General, on or before the 15th day of September next, the number mustered into the service from their respective towns and cities, and the number then ready to be mustered into service; and such towns and cities as shall have raised their full quota as above, will be exempted from the draft. Organized full companies will be accepted, with two officers designated for commission.

The State bounty of $60 will be continued until Sept. 15, to such as enlist in the old regiments for the term of three years or during the war.

☞ In the Richmond Congress Yancey has introduced a bill justifying the use of arms by any one in the South against the invaders; and if taken and treated otherwise than prisoners of war, Jeff. Davis must retaliate.

Kansas is claimed as in the Southern Confederacy.

☞ The steamer British Queen, from Nassau 25th, arrived in New York, Thursday night. The steamer Oreto had been discharged by the Admiralty Court for want of sufficient positive evidence, each party to pay its own costs, in the suit.

☞ The Cadet Regiment of Boston, has invited the Rev. A. L. Stone to serve as their Chaplain for nine months. Mr. Stone will accept the invitation if his congregation will consent to release him for that length of time.

☞ A curious theory advanced in Mr. T. B. Aldrich's book "Out of his head," is confirmed by the case of an Englishman named Burton, who murdered a boy of 9 years old at Chatham, and immediately surrendered himself, avowing that he had long wished to be hanged, and that this morbid desire was the sole motive for the crime.

ARREST OF A NEW HAMPSHIRE SECESSIONIST. — Quite an excitement was created in this city and vicinity, on Saturday, by the report that Dr. Nat Batchelder, of Epping, had been arrested by U. S. Marshal Ela, by order of Gov. Berry, and placed in charge of Deputy Marshal Adams in this city. Coming as this report did, at the same time with the brighter news from Virginia, the cloud caused by the reports of the previous week's operations was quickly dispelled, and all true patriots "thanked God and took new courage."

Our Epping correspondent had already stated in the Chronicle, some days ago, that "the Epping secessionist" had been expelled from a citizens' meeting there; and we learn the facts to be, that Dr. Batchelder has long made himself very offensive to all true Union men in that town, and that at the meeting referred to, he was making a rank secesh talk and rant, as usual, when a volunteer present, connected with some of the best families in the State, took him in his arms and quietly carried him from the house. For this "assault" the valiant old Dr. had the young volunteer and a companion arrested; but they were defended by Mr. Frink of this city, and two warrants ruled out for defects.

A petition was then got up, and numerously signed by the most prominent citizens of Epping, asking the Governor for the arrest of Dr. Batchelder; upon which Gov. Berry issued an order to Marshal Ela for his arrest, and he is at present time of writing, confined in Portsmouth jail.

It is not known what disposition will be made of him, pending the receipt of instructions from the War Department. It is reported that he requested to be taken before an eminent counsellor in this city, and applied for a writ of habeas corpus, but was told that the law was suspended. [Many of our excited citizens would rejoice if all who express such sentiments as are attributed to the doughty Dr., were also "suspended."]

A report that one of our most respectable and loyal citizens, an old acquaintance of the prisoner, had visited him at his request, and show him some civilities, caused great indignation.

P. S.—We understand that on Saturday afternoon Dr. Batchelder was transferred to Fort Constitution, for safe keeping.

☞ Portsmouth has been ordered to raise a total of 607 men,—455 three years men and 152 nine months' men. We have already enlisted over 500 for the army and navy, leaving, if we are credited with the whole number, 107 nine months' men now to be raised. If the naval recruits, however, don't "count," we must yet enlist 126 men for three years, and also 126 men for nine months.

☞ At a special meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of Portsmouth, on Saturday morning, Messrs. Joseph H. Thacher and Frank D. Webster, of this city, were appointed Recruiting Officers for the nine months' Militia,—each with power to enlist a Company here for the same.

☞ Among the recruits in Capt. Betton's Company of three years' men, is Mr. E. A. Tilton, teacher of music in this city for the past year or two, and a young man of many excellent qualities, including true patriotism. Such "a raw recruit" as he, will help keep a camp lively. He is Orderly Sergeant of the recruits at present.

OUR GERMAN CITIZENS.—Messrs. Editors:—Will you please state in the Chronicle that the Germans in Portsmouth send more volunteers to the war, in proportion to their number, than any other nation?—From the few families living here, there have enlisted 7 volunteers. S. K.

The building on State Street, Boston, formerly occupied by the Daily Journal is now rented by the Daily Advertiser. It has recently been purchased by a wealthy gentleman of Portsmouth, who paid $29,000 for it as an investment.

A happy wedding came off at the Stone Church in Portsmouth on Tuesday. The door of the church was closed to all except those having cards of admission. As "the entire free list was suspended" on that occasion, the crowd was of course less than is usually seen on such public union demonstrations.—Concord Statesman.

☞ An exchange says:—"Miss Pearson's talent found a fine opportunity for its display in the first piece assigned to her, upon the programme. This was exquisitely rendered. We have heard frequently of the 'flute-like' notes of vocalists, but never realized so completely the appropriateness of the expression, as in hearing her accord with the flute accompaniment in this piece. It was frequently difficult to determine which was the voice and which the instrument, and the effect of the combination was truly ravishing melody. We doubt if it is in the power of any American vocalist to surpass the sweetness, grace and finish with which Miss Pearson gave us this song."—It will be remembered that this Miss Pearson is announced to sing at the Mendelssohn Club's concert, Wednesday night.

For the Chronicle.

"SIGMA" AGAIN.—Messrs. Editors:—Mr. T. E. Wood, in his communication published in Friday's Chronicle, in reply to "sigma's" communication on "Discouraging Enlistments," very properly "justly concludes" that the Advent Church is the one referred to. He "does not remember" hearing the preacher make the statement that this was "a wicked and unholy war," nor has he in the course of his wanderings found any among those who were present at that meeting, who "remembered hearing such language used." The expression used by the preacher may not have been exactly reported; but does Mr. W. pretend to say that the whole discourse was not calculated to deter enlistments? And if so, is the Government to be openly opposed and defied by clergymen or their societies with impunity?

Mr. W. condescendingly says that he has no feelings averse to this Government, but esteems it as the best on the face of the earth! How refreshing! Certainly, persons have a right to "worship God" (or the devil, either, for that matter) "according to the dictates of their own consciences," subject to the Constitution of the United States, as Douglas has it in his speeches.—He hopes this "world-wide and time-honored" document may not be impaired by traitors' hands." Oh! no; but just stand back and let some one else do the fighting, and when it is once more peaceful, we'll step in and enjoy the privileges won by the free people by dint of hard fighting in defence of their country, while these persons, whose mission is peace, have been at home, throwing obstacles in the way of those who would "conquer a peace." O! no; they are too holy, too good, to be called upon by their country in her hour of peril, to protect her as she has protected them. We presume if they had been in heaven when Satan got up a rebellion, they would have cried out upon the wickedness of waging war for the purpose of expelling those rebels from the face of God,—and would have been unceremoniously kicked out.

In this hour of our country's trial, there are but two paths to choose—one the loyal, the other leading directly into the traitors' camp. "He that is not for me, is against me." If any class of persons are to be exempt from a draft—why may not those "who are opposed to the present war on account of political prejudices," &c., &c., and have thoughts of skedaddling, join this church, and so have their fears banished of ever being compelled to stop a secession bullet!

Mr. W. denies that his society have voted "never to take up arms in their country's cause." Our information was derived from a trustworthy person, who states that a member of the above mentioned society made the statement to him, that at a meeting, formal or informal, of a large portion of the society, on this question being brought up for decision, 75 persons announced their determination to stand by this declaration—that they "would never, even if drafted, fight for their country;"—one person held out against it, but after considerable persuasion gave in his adhesion. We leave the question of veracity for Mr. W. and the member of the society referred to, to settle,—and would advise your correspondent to have for his motto, "God and our Country," even if it does "shame the devil."

If Mr. T. E. Wood, "or any other man," doubts the truth of the above statements, by inquiring at the Chronicle office, he can learn the name of our informant, the church-member, or of your humble correspondent, SIGMA.

☞ By a special order from the War Department, the clergymen and physicians, of this State, have been made exempt from the draft. The enrollment of this city, when sent to Concord, contained 1540 names.—Thirty three names were struck off by the State authorities,—including those residents employed upon the railroads.

We understand that two of our city clergymen have applied for the position of Chaplain in New Hampshire regiments, and another is among those who have conditionally pledged themselves to enlist.—None of them have regularly enlisted as yet.

YOUNG MEN, ATTENTION.—Young men of Portsmouth, the call comes to you from the hard fought fields of Manassas; for three days have our brethren in arms been contending with the death struggles of the rebel foe. The sound of the booming cannon was our last advice, telling how fearful is the contest, when freemen fight to turn back the demons of tyranny and slavery. Such is the crisis that calls you to defend your country, your homes and your right to yourself,—all are menaced. Arouse ye, and hasten to the aid of your countrymen in arms,—and the God of battles will go with you and crown you with victory.

Dr. Joseph H. Thacher received his papers last Saturday, we learn, to enlist nine months' men to fill up the quota for this city. He needs no introduction to the community. High-minded, in the right sense of the term; of an unimpeachable moral character,—he is, in our opinion, just the man to raise a full Company of the flower of the young men of Portsmouth, and has the martial bearing to lead them on the battle field. His associates announced are also of the best repute.

☞ The Maine 20th Regiment will pass through this city this (Monday) morning.—The train is announced to leave Portland at 8 o'clock.

☞ Those having business with the Relief Committee of this city, are referred to the advertisement in another column.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse,

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design, and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

☞ ATTENTION, THE WHOLE! ☜

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "Thereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended by the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since. CAROLINE B. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.
SIMEON SWETT.
Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure, as I have had no sign of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.
HANNAH ROWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with disease of my stomach, loss of appetite, and I have vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWE.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1863. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved, therefore I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. F. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

Dr. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1839, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow worse till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26ly

From the Journal

At an informal meeting of the citizens on Saturday last, called by the City Council by a notice issued on that morning, a vote was passed requesting the City Council to appropriate a sufficient sum to pay the volunteers for the Portsmouth quota of 300,000 men, $400 each. J. B. Adams was chairman of the meeting, and J. P. Morse, Sec.

On the proceedings of this meeting, a correspondent of the Ballot remarks that :—

"The city expenditures on account of the war are growing to an enormous extent, and a large debt and heavy taxes are in prospect. There are those among us who believe that the money to pay this will come out of the rich men in the shape of taxes, but that will not be the case; the middling interest, persons of real estate who pay tithes of all they possess, and whose property is exposed to be taxed, are the ones who will bear this burthen. The same shrewdness that helps a man get rich, teaches him how to escape the vigilance of the assessor. But if our rich men are not willing to let their sons go to war, they must by bounties and other means of payment secure substitutes."

Thus intimating that a draft, if necessary, is better than the offer of larger bounties than already granted. This matter is well understood elsewhere. Manchester pays but $50. Boston, with all its wealth, pays but $100 bounty. Nor does any city pay a much higher sum, and they obtain as many recruits, in proportion, as those smaller places which offer five times that amount. It is a curious fact that some of the most profuse in enlarging the offers in some towns in this vicinity, were the opponents to the war, and seem to take this method to destroy the patriotic feelings of the soldier, and make the work a mere matter of dollars and cents;—and any opposition to their views is followed by the popular sensation cry, which will excite any assembly, "The rich oppressing the poor!" A cry which is rarely raised except by men who are the first to claim popular favor on election day, and the last to appear on a subscription paper to the soldiers' aid.

"No man shall go to war on his own charges" is the sentiment of every true patriot—and we believe is the sentiment of the tax payers of Portsmouth. The pay given to those who volunteer in the service of their country, should be equal not only to what they can earn at home, but also to the risk of life and limb to which they are exposed.

The country which we are called upon to defend is of equal value to every free man, no matter what his property may be. The millionair and the man who only pays his poll tax have the same equal vote in the election of public officers, —the same interest in the government,—and in the deprivation of personal rights one is as much a loser as the other. To say that our present unhappy warfare is for the property of the country only, is placing those who are now doing service on the battle ground in a state of degradation where they do not rightly belong. Every true man feels that he has claims to be himself an American citizen—no Hessian on a foreign soil. Such is the spirit of the card published by some of the volunteers here a few days since.

THE HAVEN SCHOOL FUND.

This fund, bequeathed by Horace A. Haven in 1843, for the purpose of distributing prizes annually to the best scholars in certain branches of study, which was originally eight hundred dollars, has now accumulated to $1520. In one town in this neighborhood nineteen volunteers were received and each paid $200. It afterwards appeared that they were enrolled in other towns which had filled their quota of the 300,000. These towns still retaining their names, it has become necessary to enlist nineteen others to take their places. Whether the $3800 is lost to the town, is not yet ascertained.

Among the newly commissioned Rear Admirals is George W. Storer of this city, who stands near the head of the list. When the rebellion first commenced, says the Ballot, Admiral Storer did not wait even to write to the Navy Department, but packed his trunk and started for Washington to personally offer his services to the Department for any duty that might be required of him. Admiral Storer has been since October last on constant duty as President of a Naval Board of Inquiry convened at Brooklyn, to report upon the qualifications of various officers of the naval service.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The fire or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the best generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 20 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

MATHEWS'
VENETIAN LIQUID
HAIR DYE.
☞ MATHEWS' VENETIAN HAIR DYE.—This celebrated Dye was first prepared in 1845; since that time it has been USED BY THOUSANDS, and in NO instance has it failed to give PERFECT SATISFACTION.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the cheapest in the world. Its price is ONLY FIFTY CENTS, and each bottle contains DOUBLE THE QUANTITY OF DYE, contained in those usually sold for ONE DOLLAR.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the safest composition of its class. It is WARRANTED NOT TO INJURE the hair, or the scalp, in the least.
THE VENETIAN DYE works with RAPIDITY and CERTAINTY. It causes no annoyance or trouble to those who use it.
THE VENETIAN DYE produces any shade that may be desired—one that will not fade, crock, nor wash out,—one that is as permanent as the hair itself.
THE VENETIAN DYE does not, in any manner, interfere with the NATURAL softness of the HAIR,—it neither scorches nor dries it.
THE VENETIAN DYE is the best, cheapest, safest, most convenient, most successful, and most permanent Dye ever used.

The Chronicle.

☞ The Chaplains of three regiments at Beaufort, S. C., have written a letter, urging upon the people of the North the duty of writing letters to the soldiers.—They say:

"Both our experience and observation clearly demonstrate to us that, in connection with our religious services in the camp, Christian correspondence from home is doing more for the morals and spiritual advancement of our men in the army than any other instrumentality employed.

We would say then, parents, write to your sons; wives, write to your husbands; sisters, write to your brothers; children, write to your parents;—write often, cheerfully, encouragingly. We do not solicit long and studied essays, but simple, homelike, cheerful, Christian letters. Write to all your friends and acquaintances who have gone forth to battle for our country. Christian young ladies, write; let no feelings of false delicacy in the matter hinder you; and in writing, seek to blend the endearments of home and the neighborhood with the story of the Cross."

"The women of Homer?" said a verdant gentleman inquiringly, while looking at a magazine article bearing the above caption—"the women of Homer!—was Homer one of those sort of fellows?"—This reminds us (as Honest Abe would say) of a little story that Starr King used to tell. He had written a lecture about the life and times of Pericles. It was entitled "The Age of Pericles," and was so put in the posters. One day he saw a man gazing at the words printed in capitals on a wall in the city of R——, and heard him exclaim, "The Age of Perikels!" (so he pronounced the last word)—who the d—l cares how old he was?"—Boston Post.

SENATOR HALE ON THE WAR.—Hon. John P. Hale was entertained at a clambake at Newport, R. I., and made a speech on the occasion, of which we copy the subjoined paragraph from the Providence Journal:

I don't know what to think of the war.—I don't know when it will end. But I will say (and perhaps I may be sent to Fort Warren for it,) that nothing has equalled the energy of the rebels, except the weakness with which we have opposed them.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent in America by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL; AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot procure more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, for which PATENTS have already been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend my friends to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, for which PATENTS have already been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend my friends to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

A dispatch from the Adj. General's office gives the following statement of the commanders of the armies operating in Virginia:—

Gen. Burnside commands his own corps, except those that have been temporarily detached and assigned to Gen. Pope.

Gen. McClellan commands that portion of the army on the Potomac that has not been sent forward to Gen. Pope's command.

Gen. Pope commands the army of Virginia and all the forces temporarily attached to it.

All the forces are under the command of Major General Halleck, General-in-Chief.

A battle occurred near Richmond, Ky., on Saturday. The Federal force was between 8000 and 9000, under command of Gen. Nelson. They drove the rebels until 4 o'clock, when the rebels were largely reinforced, and crossed the Kentucky river, capturing nearly all our artillery and routing our men. The rebel force is estimated at from 15,000 to 20,000 men. Our loss was from 150 to 200 men, in killed and wounded. The rebel loss is not known, but is said to be heavy. Gen. Nelson was wounded slightly.

There was little if any fighting by Gen. Pope's army on Sunday. Col. Fletcher Webster, of the Mass. 12th, was wounded in the lungs and is a prisoner. Capt. George A. Gerrish, of this city, and Lieut. John Wadleigh, of Manchester, both of the N. H. Battery, are reported wounded.—Lieut. Col. Tileston, 11th Mass., is missing and supposed to have been killed. Gen. Stahl was killed; Gen. Hatch and Gen Ricketts wounded—the latter in three places. Lieut. Samuel Fessenden, son of Hon. Wm. Pitt Fessenden, and on Gen. Ricketts' staff, is reported wounded. Col. Roberts, of the 2d Maine, is reported killed. A dispatch from Washington, Sunday afternoon, to the N. Y. Tribune, states that a telegram, dated Fairfax Station 10:30 A. M., speaks of heavy guns being heard in the neighborhood of Bristow Station. This was heard in the highest quarters there, to be the noise caused by the blowing up of his train by Gen. Banks, who is, it is feared, cut off with his whole corps. A dispatch from Philadelphia, however, states that the Government has ordered the Tribune office to be closed, for publishing unfounded rumors. [If true, this probably is on account of the above, and a report in relation to Gen. McClellan.]

The correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, states that on Sunday afternoon, our whole army was massed 10 miles south of Centreville, beyond Bull Run, and although the rebel army has been so largely reinforced, we are driving them at every point. Jackson would certainly be driven to the mountains, but cannot pass through Thoroughfare Gap, for Gen. Heintzleman is guarding the road, and he cannot break through that brave corps, especially with our grand armies at his heels. But dispatches from Fairfax Court House, 7 miles from Centreville, state that no firing had been heard up to 12 o'clock, Monday noon. Gen. Banks' force were heard from Sunday night, in a favorable position for joining Gen. Pope's army.

4000 rebels, who attacked some Ohio troops at Bolivar, Tenn., Saturday, were defeated, losing over 100 men. We lost 25, killed and wounded. It is reported that 3000 rebels were completely routed at the same place on the 25th.

☞ The Ladies of Portsmouth are requested to look over their chests of clothes, rag-bags, and clothes presses, this morning, to find lint and bandages, or the material to make them; also shirts and other articles for wounded men.

Then it is suggested that the ladies of each religious society meet at 11 or 12 o'clock, in their respective Vestries or Sunday School Rooms, and go to work to get the things ready as soon as possible:—and the gentleman at whose request we offer this suggestion, will forward the articles promptly. Let it be done at once.

☞ Dr. Lewis A. Sayre, Surgeon of Bellevue Hospital, has just published his reasons for preferring picked oakum to lint, for dressing gunshot wounds,—viz. because oakum is much better, and because it is vastly cheaper.—Let us send some oakum, with our lint, from Portsmouth.

THE N. H. NINTH.—Letters received in this city, from the 9th Regt. N. H. V., state that it is located very pleasantly in Fort Albany, on Arlington Heights, a mile or two from Washington—where it may remain a couple of months or more, for drill. Forty regiments entered Washington the same week with the 9th.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——Permanent barracks, sufficient to accommodate 3000 men, are being erected on the Fair Grounds in Concord, under the directions of Quartermaster McKim, U.S.A. It appears that with the exception of the Tenth, all regiments now forming or hereafter to be organized, are to be quartered in Concord.

—— A Concord correspondent of the Mirror says:—Master John W. Merrill, aged 12 years, son of Prof. Merrill, of the Methodist Institute, accompanied the Ninth Regiment to the seat of war, without the knowledge or permission of any member of the family. His kindred have been much alarmed for several days,—but they have just received a letter from "Young America," who states that he is "on the track of the rebels, and earning five dollars a month." Pretty good spunk for a twelve-year old.

—— The same correspondent states that Hon. Mason W. Tappan, of Bradford, late Colonel of the First Regiment, is urged to take the command of the Fifteenth Regiment, to be composed of nine months' men.

—— A two-story building on Walnut street, Manchester, was burnt on Saturday afternoon. It was owned by the New Perpetual Loan Fund Association, and was occupied by three families, who saved the greater portion of their furniture. Loss about $2000; insured.

—— The Hilton Head correspondent of the Mirror gives an account of the capture of the Amoskeag Rifles, 3d N. H. Regiment, on Pinckney Island. He writes:

"Rumor says the surprise was so skillfully made, that the rebels entered a portion of the quarters before the whole of the company was awakened. One rebel, while leading Corporal Dow away, was shot by his own party, and Dow escaped by secreting himself in the bushes. Sergeant Kelsea and six men also made their escape. It is said the rebels took the uniforms of the pickets to wear to the quarters of the company, and it is plain that the success of the enemy was more on account of their shrewd management than from any dereliction of duty on the part of our men. They undoubtedly had learned from the three villains (Chas. H. Drew, Joseph Witham and James S. Wallace,) who deserted Aug. 6th, the location of each picket and our strength on the island."

—— The Pemigewassett House, at Plymouth, Henry Greeley proprietor, was burnt at 4 o'clock Friday morning.

—— The Manchester Mirror says "it is reported that Hon. Allen Tenny, our very popular Secretary of State, is going into the northern part of New Hampshire to raise a regiment, and will receive a Colonel's commission." But we learn directly from the gentleman himself, that the report is incorrect—and that he will not leave his post of Secretary of State at present. Well, New Hampshire can't spare all her best men at once—but couldn't Tenny raise a noble regiment?

—— Mr. John K. Cilley, of Exeter, has been appointed Commissary of the 11th Regiment. He is a son of Joseph L. Cilley, Esq., and the News Letter states that "a more competent young man for the office could not be found in New Hampshire."

A GOOD SPECULATION.—The town of Stratham pays $500 bounty. Two brothers by the name of Huntress enlisted, received the bounty from the town and State, amounting to $1100, which they deposited for accommodation while they are in the army. They were mechanics, and by their trade could not have realized so large an amount in three years as they do by enlisting.—Manchester American.

☞ The machinery for the new steam sloop-of-war Sacramento, at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, is rapidly approaching completion at the Locomotive Works, Taunton, Mass.

☞ The Odd Fellows of Manchester are anticipating an excursion to Portsmouth the last of this week.

☞ Ten persons were arrested in New York on Friday, for attempting to procure substitutes for persons liable to be drafted.

☞ George W. Childs, of Philadelphia, will soon publish the prison experience of Col. Corcoran.

☞ Ex-Gov. Hicks, of Maryland, has joined a company forming in Cambridge, Md., as a private.

☞ Lord Huntingtower has been fined £12 10s for smoking a segar in a first class railway carriage in England.

☞ Over 6000 troops left New York on Saturday, including recruits for veteran regiments.

☞ The New Orleans secesh ladies still carry knife and pistol.

☞ Brig. Gen. Stone is at Washington, ready to be assigned to duty.

NAVAL.—Iron-clad frigate New Ironsides has been ordered back to Philadelphia from her recent expedition. Capt. Turner has made a very favorable report of the vessel, but objects to going to sea without her spars. The New Ironsides had her spars removed for an expected emergency in James River, at City Point, but she will now receive them and sail for the South.

The new iron-clad battery, Passaic, the second of the nine "Monitors" ordered from Captain Ericsson, by the Government, was launched at Greenpoint, L. I., on Saturday, having been built on the same plan as the original Ericsson battery. She differs little from her.

SAILORS AND THE DRAFT.—Governor Sprague sent a message to the Rhode Island Legislature on Friday last, in which he says:

"The Governor of Massachusetts has this day desired me to unite with him in a request to the War Department to give credit in the draft for seamen who have enlisted in the naval service of the United States from the several States. To this request I shall accede."

☞ Jackson, Jeff. Davis' coachman, who escaped from Richmond sometime ago, is in Boston. He is one of the most intelligent slaves that have escaped from bondage. A meeting for him in Tremont Temple, to give the public an opportunity to hear him, will probably be held in a few days.—He says the slaves in Richmond have secret meetings for consultation about the war, and that they are well informed about what is transpiring all over the country.

☞ An Indiana paper relates that at a meeting held for the purpose of getting volunteers, a young lady went to her bethrothed, took him by the hand, and led him up to the stand where the recruiting officers were taking the names of those who desired to enlist in the service of their country, and then, without seeming in the least abashed in the presence of the large assemblage, kissed him, and laid his hand on the roll for him to sign his name.

☞ Col. Mulligan was arrested on the 21st inst. by order of the War Department, charged with having permitted rebel prisoners to enlist in his brigade, and failing to report his command to the War Department in accordance with an order recently issued, requiring all commandants of regiments to report the number of available men in their respective commands.

TRAITORS.—Our Epping correspondent writes us, that "F. O. J. Smith, Esq., truely said, that those men who were traitors would be found in a quarrel with their families. One citizen just arrested has no family, his wife and daughter having left him after her grant for a divorce."

☞ At a town meeting in South Berwick, Me., on Friday, Hon. John N. Goodwin made a proposition to raise 101 men—50 more than the quota—which was put to vote and carried unanimously. Both the quotas have been filled and many more have enlisted.

☞ About 250 rebel prisoners, including Belle Boyd, were removed from the Old Capitol prison on Friday afternoon, for transportation to Eastern Virginia, to be exchanged.

☞ In a communication to the War Department the Adjutant General of Illinois reports that on Thursday last 45,000 men had been enlisted—10,000 more than the quota of the State under both calls.

☞ The Amesbury (Mass.) Villager says that the new mill to be erected by the Salisbury Company, is to be five stories high, with a frontage of 134 feet on Maine street and 308 on Friend street. It will be a splendid factory.

RATS.—Mr. Rundlett, master of the Newburyport Almshouse, in taking up a stable floor, on Friday, found a nest of white rats, and took the mother and five young ones, which were sent to the Boston Museum, "alive and kicking."

☞ One of the leading hospital doctors in New York, says experience teaches him that oakum is much better than lint, for wounds of any sort—and it is far cheaper, and easier to be obtained also.

☞ The Surgeon General of the Army appeals to the loyal women and children of the United States to furnish a supply of lint for the use of the wounded soldiers, the stock on hand being almost exhausted.

☞ A boy 14 years old, named Howard, was sentenced to jail for ten days by the City Court of Portland, for stealing one copy of the newspaper called the Daily Press. Thieves, beware.

MINISTERS NOT EXEMPT.—Gov. Tod, of Ohio, has notified the clergymen of that State that they will not be exempted from the draft.

BRECKINRIDGE is about to raise the black flag. If theft, perjury, treason piracy and murder can make a flag black, the Confederate flag is already worthy of the distinction, without any change in the color. —Boston Transcript.

☞ One of the chaps at New Fairhaven, Ct., who cut off a finger to escape the draft, has since died of lockjaw.

☞ Dr. Batchelder, the Epping secessionist, is still (on Monday afternoon) in Fort Constitution—quiet and comfortable quarters. And many people think there are some other folks in this State, County and city, who ought to be there, or somewhere not so agreeable, also.

☞ A Methodist camp meeting is being held at Newmarket Junction the present week. On Wednesday afternoon it is intended to hold a religious war meeting on the ground; Gov. Berry and Adj. General Colby will be among the speakers. It will be seen that the C. & P. Railroad run an extra train daily.

☞ See yon fair maiden in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y.

GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE!

A Sure Relief for the Sufferer!

This Salve is a vegetable preparation, invented in the 15th century by Dr. WM. GRACE, surgeon in King James' army. Through its agency he cured thousands of most serious sores and wounds that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of his day; and was regarded by all who knew him as a public benefactor. The Salve is used for the following diseases:—Burns, Bruises, Felons, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Boils Scurvy, Sore Lips, Sore Ears, Swelled Nose, Ulcers, Lame Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Ringworms, Sprains, Fresh Wounds, Erysipelas, Scalds, Stings of Venomous Insects, Piles, Bunions, Frozen Limbs, Nettle Rash, Sore Breast, Wens, Eruptions, Festers, Shingles, Cancers, Whitlows, Itch, Stiff, Lame Wrist, and Sore and Wounds of the most serious nature, without leaving a scar. It will also cure pimples on the face, and beautify the Skin.

There are thousands who are suffering for months and even years in consequence of Sores and wounds that might be cured in a short time by the use of this great external salve. It has never failed to effect a speedy cure when properly applied. This Salve has none of the irritating heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses and heals the most malignant Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those containing children, should keep a box on hand, for it will save them trouble, suffering and money; and in many cases it has saved life itself. The manufacturer receives testimonials daily, from some of our most distinguished citizens, expressing benefits derived from its use. ☞ We see by the advertisement in another column, that Mr. Frank D. Webster has associated with him Messrs. Wm. B. Randall and J. H. Norcross. Mr. Randall is well known in this city as a military officer, and recently held a position as Commissary General of this State, and was always a popular officer.

☞ One of the Recruiting Offices in this city is labelled, "Citizens, to the rescue;"—and also, "To Canada, 200 miles." Another bears the inscription, "Come in, out of the Draft!"

☞ The annual meeting of the proprietors of the Portsmouth Steam Factory will be held in the Court House in this city this (Tuesday) morning, at 11 o'clock.

☞ The 20th Maine Regiment was not ready to leave as soon as was anticipated. It is now announced that it will leave Portland this (Tuesday) morning, at 5 o'clock, passing over the Eastern Railroad.

☞ We notice that Mr. Wm. H. Laws has just procured a new and handsome team, to do the work in this city, of his Portsmouth and Boston Express.

☞ Mr. James R. May, who (since graduating from Harvard College in 1861) has been studying medicine with Dr. Robert O. Treadwell, leaves this city to-day (Tuesday) for hospital service at Washington.

☞ Messrs. Henry C. Brown and Samuel P. Dame, both of Exeter, will go out as Hospital nurses,—the former to the Second, and the latter in the Eleventh N. H. Regiment. They were examined for their qualifications, in this city on Tuesday.

☞ Don't forget the Concert, Wednesday evening.

AN IMPORTANT MOVEMENT.—A foraging party captured.—Such sturdy yells were heard upon Market Square early one afternoon last week, that the passers-by had half a misgiving that the rebels had really made a fearful raid upon us. But it turned out to be "the other way"; for that loyal and energetic officer, our City Collector and Treasurer, was busy in "crushing out rebellion"—in the way of frightening two young rascals who had been caught committing depredations on his and neighboring gardens. The Captain, by a masterly strategic movement, had captured the enemy, and held them in a trap—under his arm. One of the pilferers had an armful of apples, which he hastily dropped, and the other had set up a screaming that would have done credit to a Louisiana Tiger Zouave. Whether it was the captain's plan to "swear them and let them go," we know not, but by some process of kicking and squirming, they managed to break loose, one in full retreat in one direction, and the other skeddadling with equal rapidity in the opposite. The captain followed up pretty briskly through Market street, with an attempt to get his umbrella in range, which would have done fearful execution, had the manœuvre succeeded. But the enemy was decidedly superior on the double quick, and the gallant champion of justice was obliged to give up the pursuit.

The Captain doesn't expect any more raids upon his premises, for this campaign, at least. SPECTATOR.

For the Chronicle.

THE ADVENT CHURCH.—Messrs. Editors:—I notice in your paper of Monday, that your correspondent "Sigma" again refers to the subject of "discouraging enlistments," &c. I will here briefly state that I have no desire for a personal controversy about the matter, neither do I wish to enter into a discussion as to the right or justice of "war in heaven or on earth."

The communication which I presented in reply to "Sigma" was intended simply to refute the statements made by him in regard to the before-named church and its preacher, &c., which are as far from the 'truth' today, as they were then; and I expect to be able shortly to substantiate the position I have taken with sufficient evidence to satisfy the public, his references to the contrary notwithstanding. The preacher referred to, and a number of members of the church are now out of the city, (gone to the camp meeting;) when they return you may publicly hear as to the truthfulness of my position. Yours, T. E. WOOD.

PORTSMOUTH RECRUITS.—A company of 80 fine volunteers from Portsmouth, accompanied by the Portsmouth Cornet Band, sixteen pieces, reached Manch ster on Friday night. Their arrival being unexpected, no preparations were made for their reception at the depot, or for accommodating them. The men, however, were furnished with a substantial supper, provided with blankets, and quartered in the City Hall for the night.

The Band, under the direction of Mr. George E. Kidder, (well known as one of the best musicians in the old Manchester Cornet Band, and now second leader of the Portsmouth Band,) discoursed excellent music as they marched up the street. During the evening Col. Donohoe, Maj. Angell and others of the city were complimented with a serenade by the Portsmouth Band.—Manchester Mirror.

☞ On Friday afternoon, while Capt. Towle's company of volunteers, and the large crowd present, were listening to Rev. Mr. Patterson's remarks at the Concord depot, in this city, a large American Eagle was seen by several persons, to come sailing slowly along, far above them, and then to rest for a while in mid air, apparently gazing down upon the interesting scene below. It was a magnificent sight, and those who witnessed it, looked upward with a kind of sacred awe as if impressed with the thought that it must indeed prove a bird of good omen.

A similar incident occurred on the same afternoon at Oxford, Me., while the inhabitants were assembled in mass meeting out of doors, to encourage enlistments, and just as her patriotic young men commenced enrolling their names to fill up her quota under the last call.

RAILROAD FARES.—The advance on railroad fares, made by the different roads in this section, to pay the taxes levied by the government, commenced on Monday, Sept. 1st. The increase on the fare from here to Boston, Concord or Portland is five cents, and the same to other places on the routes,—5 cts. for each passenger, anywhere, as we understand the matter.

MARRIAGES.

DEATHS.

IN Newmarket, at his son's residence, Mr. C. P. Moses, August 27th, Mr. THEODORE MOSES, aged 95 years and 10 months, formerly of Exeter.

Mr. Moses was born in Portsmouth. He went to Exeter about 65 years ago where he was engaged in several kinds of business;—his last was that of a merchant, and by his industry and strict attention to business, has left a handsome property. He has left seven children and a large number of grand and great-grand children.

Steel Spring Saddle Horse.

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crundall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. Every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

Different sizes of these Horses may be seen at the store of the subscriber, who is agent for the sale of them in this city.

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it; since I have acted as agent: for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the dependant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since. CAROLINE B. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.
SIMEON SWETT.
Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure, as I have had no sign of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.
HANNAH ROWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I now enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet sleep night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. P. LEAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his cases, or be worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26g

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

☞ The Rockingham Association of Universalists met at Kensington this year, holding their session through Wednesday and Saturday, August 27 and 28. Sermons were preached by Rev. Messrs. Hanson, Silloway and Usher, the Occasional sermon being delivered by Mr. Silloway.—Conference meetings were held on Wednesday evening and Thursday afternoon.—Ordination services took place on Thursday forenoon, when Messrs. Silloway and Russ were consecrated to the ministry.—Twelve ministers were present, including one or two of other churches,—with a good choir and orchestra, and a full and attentive congregation.

Besides the usual resolutions of the association as to its local affairs, the following, on National concerns, was unanimously adopted:—

Resolved, That the condition of our Nation entitles it to the sympathy and co-operation of every christian church and christian patriot, and that we pledge it our prayers and exertions for the speedy suppression of this wicked rebellion, and the permanent establishment of peace in justice and liberality.

The next annual meeting is to be at East Kingston.

—— The Statesman is doleful over the fact that officers who have held commissions in our ornamental militia are exempted from draft. It mourns because the State is exceedingly likely to lose the services of the very men it has prepared for the emergencies of war. It seems a pity to lose all this military experience.

—— At a town meeting held in Littleton on the 16th inst. it was unanimously voted, that the names of those individuals claiming to be citizens of that town who had fled to Canada to escape a draft, should be published in the People's Journal, and a reward of five cents be offered for their recovery.

—— Three deserters are reported from the New Hampshire Fourth Regiment.—They are said to have gone over to the enemy. Their names are Charles H. Drew, of Concord, Joseph Witham, and James S. Wallace, of Manchester.

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

YEAR AFTER YEAR.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "JOHN HALIFAX, GENTLEMAN."

Year after year the cowslips fill the meadow,
Year after year the skylarks thrill the air,
Year after year, in sunshine or in shadow,
Rolls the world round, love, and finds us as we were.

Year after year, as sure as birds returning,
Or flowers blossoming among the wintry wold,
Year after year, in work, or mirth, or mourning,
Love with love's own youth, that never can grow old.

Sweetheart and lady-love, queen of boyish passion,
Strong hope of manhood, content of age begun;
Loved in a hundred ways, each in different fashion,
Yet loved supremely, sole-y, as we cannot love save one.

Dearest and bonniest! though blenched those curling tresses,
Though loose clings the wedding ring to that thin hand of thine—
Brightest of all eyes the eye that love expresses,
Sweetest of all lips the lips long since kissed mine!

So let the world go round with all its sighs and sinning,
It's mad shout o'er fancied bliss, its howl o'er pleasures past;
That which it calls love's end, to us was love's beginning—
I clasp my arms about thy neck, and love thee to the end.

☞ The Committee of the New York City Government will receive our thanks for copies of the noble and valuable Oration of Hon. Hiram Walbridge, delivered before that government and a large audience at the Cooper Institute.—It is a loyal document, full of interest;—and it has another recommendation, viz: that the city government is republican, while Gen. Walbridge is a distinguished democrat,—so that it is a Union oration of the first class.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the act of 1837.)
75 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries: Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unexpressed by, it not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE, than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse".
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending, both unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend the inventor to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at more reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 3, 1862.

THE REBELLION.

The rebels are reported to be marching on Fort Donelson.

Reinforcements have been ordered to Jamestown Island. City Point has been demolished by our gunboats, it being the rendezvous of the rebels, whence they have fired upon our transports.

We have some further accounts of Saturday's fight at Bull Run. According to all accounts Stonewall Jackson succeeded in forcing his way through the Federal troops surrounding him, and effected a junction with the remainder of the rebel forces. This result was not obtained without a fearful loss on both sides. The corps of Generals McDowell, Heintzelman, Porter and Sigel seem to have been engaged. The enemy occupied the battle ground.—We, however, took many prisoners, 1500 having already been sent to Washington. Jackson himself is said to have narrowly escaped capture. Our teamsters created a stampede on Saturday, while on the battle field in large numbers to carry away the wounded, but the guards rushed forth and by threats to shoot the drivers unless they returned, they prevented a panic.—The Washington Star, of Monday evening reports that the rebel Gen. Ewell was killed and Stonewall Jackson badly wounded. A large proportion of Generals and other field officers were wounded. Gen. Sigel was wounded in the hand. It appears to be probable that Col. Fletcher Webster was killed. Pope is said to have been reinforced by 60,000 men, including Franklin's and Sumner's forces and some of the new levies.

It is reported that Gen. Buell fought the rebels at Chattanooga on Wednesday and Thursday. The first day no advantage was gained on either side. On the second day the enemy were repulsed. Buell is reported to have captured 7000 prisoners.

Fredericksburg was evacuated on the 31st, by Gen. Burnside's forces, who fell back to Aquia Creek. They are now protected by the gunboats on the Potomac, and a large portion of his forces can be sent, if necessary, to the assistance of Gen. Pope. The machine shop at Fredericksburg was blown up, all the bridges were burnt, and all the government property not taken away was destroyed. The same was done at Falmouth. The correspondence of the Herald says since Gen. Pope left the Rappahannock, fifteen separate battles have been fought.

A dispatch to the Philadelphia Inquirer says:

Gen. Banks succeeded in bringing off his entire command and wagon train uninjured, his only encounters with the enemy being an occasional interchange of shots. He reached Centreville about noon on Sunday. The fact that the enemy did not undertake more seriously to oppose his junction with Pope, shows how terribly the rebels were crippled in the recent battle.

Humphrey Marshall was reported on Tuesday to be marching on Cynthiana, 35 miles south of Cincinnati. Our troops were preparing to evacuate the place. There was much excitement at Cincinnati, in consequence; the railroad cars had stopped running, and the people were quietly but actively organizing for defence. There was much excitement but no panic. Gen. Wallace, by order of Maj. Gen. Wright, assumed command of Cincinnati, Covington, and Newport. He informed the citizens that an active, daring, and powerful enemy threatened them with every consequence of war, and ordered all places of business to be closed at 9 o'clock. The citizens were directed to assemble, within an hour after, in public places, ready for orders, and as soon as possible they would be assigned to their work. Martial law was proclaimed in the three cities until they could be relieved by the military. No male citizen was allowed to leave, and ferry boats were ordered to cease plying the river until further notice. All places where liquor is sold were ordered to be closed at 4 o'clock A.M. and the soldiers were ordered to seize and confiscate for sanitary purposes, the stock of any dealer refusing to obey the order.—Paris, Ky., was evacuated on Monday night, our troops falling back on Cynthiana.

Buckhannon, Western Virginia, has been taken by rebel cavalry, and there was great alarm at Clarksburg on Sunday, which place the rebels were reported to be advancing against.

All of Porter's mortar fleet and the gunboats on Tuesday came down the James river; part of the flotilla is to go immediately to the Potomac. Troops were brought from Norfolk the same morning by the mail boat and placed aboard the Baltic. The boat returned immediately for more. There was, apparently, much secret excitement among the Federal officers at Fortress Monroe, and the secesh were rejoicing over what they claimed to be a defeat in the late army movements under Gen. Pope.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— At a recent meeting of the officers and members of the Belknap County Agricultural Society, it was voted to indefinitely postpone the Fair and Cattle Show announced to take place next week. War matters crowd out everything else.

—— Rev. James M. Durgin, of Gilmanton, recently enlisted as a private in the Belknap County regiment. He has since been promoted to a First Lieutenancy.—The Laconia Gazette says the Elder is a rousing war advocate, and among his other capabilities can fight, preach, pray and stump the State.

—— The Manchester Mirror tells another of its "third-story window" stories, as follows:—

A Mrs. Carter, complained of for being a common drunkard, was arrested Saturday afternoon, and put in the room over the Marshal's office, in the City Hall, third story. She got out and descended by a smooth wall, one story—how, it is impossible to guess. When found there she was told to wait, and a ladder would be got for her. Drunk and desperate, she swung herself out over the stone stairways to the underground lobby and fell, a distance of about 20 feet. To the astonishment of all who saw her, she was only bruised.

—— Exeter has voted $200 bounty "to every resident who has enlisted or may enlist in the 9th or any subsequent regiment; and $125 to each who has or may enlist in any earlier regiment." Also $100 to each resident who has or may enlist in the Navy.

—— B. F. Haley, of Newmarket, has a contract to make 2000 Infantry Frocks for the State.

—— "An Act relative to the keeping of dogs," passed by the last Legislature, makes it "the duty of the selectmen or assessors of every town or city in this State, when making the annual invoice of taxable estates, to ascertain the number of dogs owned or kept within their respective towns or cities; and they shall annually assess for every male dog of the age of one year or upward, the sum of one dollar, and for every female dog of the same age, the sum of two dollars; to be collected and paid into the treasury of the town or city, as assessments upon taxable property are now done by law."—We should suppose this would relieve the community of a large part of the canine curs(e.)

—— The Lancaster stage while on its way to Littleton on the 14th ult., was upset in consequence of the horses taking fright by a runaway horse attached to a single wagon. The coach was filled with passengers, several of whom were bruised, but none seriously injured.

ALARMING FOR LOAFERS—WARNING TO THE SIDEWALK DIVISION.—The New York Spirit of the Times "learns, on reliable authority, that the Police of that city have been busy for the past week in taking the names of all the standard idlers around taverns and cigar stores of the prominent streets, and particularly of Broadway; it is the intention to offer them the choice of enlistment in the army, or a term on Blackwell's Island, to which those are amenable who have no established residences or visible means of living. This is a good move and will be attended with a great relief to society. An habitual idler is a glaring criminal during the present condition of the country."

☞ We regret to learn from the Nashua Telegraph, of the serious illness of Maj. Albin Beard, editor of that paper, formerly Mayor and now Postmaster of Nashua,—who has been visiting Rye Beach and Saratoga this summer for his health, with no avail. The intimation of danger to one so genial and warm-hearted, will give pain to the hosts of friends in whose regard he is close held. Br. Beard has been excessively overworked, like many another country editor.

☞ Robert Smalls, the negro pilot who brought the rebel steamer Planter out of Charleston, delivered to our naval forces nine men, five women and three children; and to the government of the United States, the Planter, a gunboat which cost nearly $30,000, together with six large guns. He and his crew are all now in the navy, he says, "under the command of our true friend, Rear Admiral Dupont, where we wish to serve till the rebellion and slavery are alike crushed together."

☞ A volunteer company in Lawrence, Mass., is officered by Eben Colby, paymaster of the Pacific Mills, for Captain; Geo. S. Morrill, editor of the American, and Postmaster of Lawrence, 1st Lieutenant; and John K. Tarbox, editor of the Sentinel, and a talented lawyer, 2d Lieutenant. All the officers leave social callings and lucrative pursuits to answer the call of their country. Honor to such men.

☞ Frank O. French, Esq., of Exeter, son-in-law of Hon. Amos Tuck, Naval Officer, has been appointed Deputy Naval Officer at Boston, in place of C. Danielson Lincoln.

"Can you spell the word Saloon?" was asked of a cockney by a Philadelphian.

"Certainly," said the Londoner, with a look of triumph, "there's a bess, and a hay, and a hell, and two bees and a hen."

☞ A Virginia correspondent of the Boston Transcript says:

"We (the Union army) are sadly deficient in cavalry, the men of this arm being untrained to the same, while the rebel cavalry are admirably mounted upon the best horses of Virginia and Kentucky, and the riders have been practising on horseback all their lives. From this cause have come nearly all our disasters. These reported successful dashes of the enemy upon our lines, do much to inspirit the enemy's troops and dispirit our own, besides the losses and disarrangement of plans which they involve. They should be stopped, if there is valor and skill enough in the free States to accomplish the work. It is probable that Pope and the Generals associated with him were unable to prevent the enemy's breaking through the lines."

At the beginning of the rebellion, the sporting editors at the North predicted this very state of things—that the superior horses and riders of the South would render their cavalry infinitely more terrible and effective than ours. And it is a little noticeable that the same mistaken idea which led to the abolishment of nearly all militia systems in this section, also frowned down horse-racing at the North—by which alone has been or can be fostered the love for owning, breeding and riding pure blood horses.

We recollect seeing, in a Southern paper, a statement that the South had always ruled the North, through the superior strength and stamina of her sporting gentlemen, developed in athletic out-door sports. And there is no doubt something of truth in the idea; but the Northern "gentlemen" have of late been developing their capacity for out-door sports, too—and what is "sport" for them will be death to all rebels.

THE TRUE SPIRIT OF PATRIOTISM.—A gentleman in the city of Salem, whose liberality and nobleness of character are only equalled by his patriotic love of country, contributed during the past week, in aid of recruiting and other military objects in that city—the sum of eighteen hundred dollars. His contributions heretofore to the cause of the country have been made with no stinted hands.

☞ Rev. J. Sella Martin, the colored Boston clergyman, while in England advocating the Union cause, was honored with the friendship of many leading and influential sympathizers with his views, who became interested in his personal history, and collected about $2300 for the purpose of enabling him to purchase his sister and her two children. He has just returned from Kentucky, where, through the means of an agent, he purchased them, paying for them the sum of $2000.

BOSTON TAXES.—The city and county tax for 1862 is $8.41 per $1000,—and the State tax, including the national direct tax, $2.90—a total of $11.31. The Sat. Eve. Gazette of last week contains a list of many hundreds, probably thousands, of estates, advertised to be sold for taxes—long enough to fill one entire side of the Chronicle.

☞ According to the New York Evening Post, one of the soldiers of a Maine regiment, who was in the battle of Baton Rouge, boasted after the fight that he had the pleasure of leveling his musket at the man who had been his favorite candidate for the Presidency. He was only too far off, the soldier added, to appreciate the full force of the compliment.

☞ Bonner, of the New York Ledger, has got a gray mare which has trotted her mile to wagon in 2 min. 23 1-4 sec., the best time ever made; and two miles in 4 min. 59 sec., beating queen Flora's best time by 8 seconds. Geo. Wilkes, of the Spirit of the Times, has well named her "Peerless."

☞ The Concord, Manchester & Lawrence R. R. have recently constructed in their machine shop a new locomotive, now running, called the Monitor. The name is, perhaps, suggested because the new engine runs alongside the Merrimack.

☞ A dispatch states that a positive and peremptory enforcement of the Maine law in Washington would be commenced on Tuesday. Liquors are to be sold only for medical purposes.

TROOPS FOR WASHINGTON.—No orders have been received by our State authorities to forward troops. This does not look as though much fear was felt in the national capital for its safety.

THE MILITIA DRAFT.—Gov. Andrew has issued an order appointing draft commissioners, surgeons, etc., in obedience to the instructions of the War Department, and the requirements of the law of Congress.

Muggins, gazing intently at a dead dog in the gutter, in a resigned tone, at last said, "Here is another shipwreck." "Shipwreck, where?" blurted out Juggins. "Where? my dear friend," quoth M., "there is a bark lost forever." Juggins growled and passed on.

It is said that when a Frenchman has to wait he smokes; a German meditates; an Italian sleeps; an Englishman takes a walk; an American invents some new contortion of his limbs, and tries to put his feet higher than ever.

You may wish to get a wife without a failing; but what if the lady, after you find her, happens to be in want of a husband of the same character?

SKEDADDLERS.—A young lady living in the Provinces, in a letter to a young man in this city, speaks most contemptuously of those very patriotic Yankees who have run away from duty and country; and expresses in most indignant terms the utter disgust with which they are viewed there. The following is an extract from the letter:

"The Yankee soldiers sometimes make a hasty trip down here—to escape the draft, I believe. A short time ago a whole ship's crew of them came down here from Boston; and then the snobs loafed about the city with their Yankee fixings on. But they have fixed that now, for the boat runs only to Portland, and the brave boys have to stay there. The folks are dead nails on them here."

☞ Hon. Francis Coggswell, it is said, will decline re-election as President of the Boston & Maine R. R. The Boston papers mention the names of J. A. Gilmore, John Howe, and Dr. Geo. W. Kittredge, for the position. It is not probable that either of these persons will be the Stockholders' choice, who will probably secure the services of I. M. Spelman, Esq., who has long been in the direction of the Road. Mr. Spelman is an educated Engineer, conversant with Railroad matters, and particularly posted in regard to the Boston & Maine R. R., and the Stockholders cannot do better than to place him in the office of President.

WAR NEWS.—As the telegraph lines are shut against all war news, not intended to be made public by the Government, the rumors contained in "special correpondence" can be readily dismissed, as worthy of hardly the slightest credence. But when a dispatch from Washington is sent on the authority of the Associated Press, it must be regarded as semi-official, as it has to pass the ordeal of the Military Supervisor of telegraphs before it can be sent north.

☞ All the wounded had been removed from the battle-field of Thursday and Friday, some to Alexandria and others to Washington. The most devoted attention is being paid to them.

au30 D. ROBBINS & CO., Proprietors.

Local.

PORTSMOUTH STEAM FACTORY.—The annual meeting of the shareholders of this corporation was held in this city on Tuesday, ex-Gov. Goodwin, President of the Company, in the chair. The report of the financial affairs of the corporation and its operations for the past year, was read by the Treasurer, and the corporation seemed to be in a very prosperous condition,—sufficiently so to warrant the payment of a dividend of 4 per cent. ($2 per share) on the 15th inst. The proceedings of the Directors for the past year, were ratified by the stockholders, who then re-elected A. R. H. Fernald, Esq., Proprietor's Clerk, and the old Board of Directors. The machinery is being put in thorough repair, and will be set in motion as soon as cotton can be obtained.

BREWERS.—Whatever may be thought of beer-drinking, (and the fact that so much of it is drank, shows that a great many people think well of it,)—and however you may regard the liquid itself, the making of it is quite an extensive business, and a large amount of capital is invested in it. There are three breweries in Portsmouth, all situated near the Creek, two of them quite large, and all we believe doing a good business. We have long desired to give an accurate statement of the manner in which beer is made here.—which differs much from the old filthy modes formerly reported as prevalent; and shall avail ourselves of the first opportunity to do so. But what reminded us of the matter now was, that being down on Messrs. Eldredge's wharf, a few days ago, we saw a schooner from which the stevedore told us had been unloaded, within about a day and a half, ten thousand bushels of malt for M. Fisher & Co's brewery. Pretty quick work, and a pretty good pile of barley too. And considerable work these breweries furnish our citizens, and no little money they circulate.

☞ The 20th Maine Regiment passed through this city about a quarter of nine o'clock, on Tuesday morning, on its way to the seat of war. It was composed of a remarkably fine looking set of men. This regiment and the 36th Massachusetts were to leave Boston on Tuesday in the steamer Merrimac, which has been chartered by the Government.

THE MENDELSSOHN QUINTETTE CLUB, the musical Schultze, Meisel, Goering, Ryan and Fries, assisted by the accomplished vocalist Miss Pearson, whose "Star Spangled Banner" and "Hail Columbia" wake to wild enthusiasm all who hear her, give a concert at the Temple this (Wednesday) evening. With what delight the audience always listens to these skilful performers! An exchange says, "when Miss Pearson sung the 'Flag of our Union forever,' the storm of applause was too furious for comfort." The sweetness of the Club's instrumental music is never exceeded. They attract large houses and a class of the most appreciative hearers.

ANOTHER RAW RECRUIT.—Messrs. Editors:—Among the new recruits in Capt. M. T. Betton's splendid company of three years' men, is Mr. John Hammond, of this city, who leaves a wife and seven children. "Jack" is a valuable acquisition to the ranks of any company, and is in favor of putting into immediate execution the late orders to "forage on the enemy." We congratulate his comrades that they have secured the services of such an experienced butcher. Confederate porkers, beware! M.

☞ The United States gunboat and transport Pioneer has recently been undergoing extensive repairs and will soon be again ready for active service. She was chartered by the Government in connection with the Burnside Expedition, and was engaged in all the important movements of that expedition against Roanoke Island, Beaufort and other places. She is under command of Lieut. Edward C. Bowers, son of Lieut. Bowers of this city. The latter, immediately after the attack on Fort Sumter, went to Washington and requested to be employed in active service. He was, we understand, promised, by the detailing officer, a gunboat in a very few weeks, and was ordered to this naval station in the mean time. It has been through no desire of his own that he was not long since engaged in more active duty in putting down the rebellion.

☞ Mr. James De Normandie is to be ordained a minister of the gospel, and installed as pastor of the Unitarian Church in this city, on the 1st of October.

VACATION OVER.—The public schools of Portsmouth and elsewhere began on Monday. Teachers and pupils will take hold refreshed, after the healthful intermission.

☞ At a town meeting in Newington, held on Monday last, it was voted to pay a bounty of $340 to three years' volunteers from that town, and $200 to nine months' men.

☞ We don't know how the public will get along without their "regular" weekly Excursion to the Lakes to-day. Probably they wouldn't, but for the camp-meeting this week, and that they are promised another Excursion next week, probably Wednesday. When the advertisement for the first was brought us, we were minded to recommend the managers to strike out the word 'grand,' but they have been "grand excursions" indeed—nobody ever heard of the like, for cheapness, variety and extent of attractions, and success. Many more tickets could have been sold for the third, but the number was inexorably limited. Look out in season, for the fourth, next week—of which, particulars hereafter, in due time.

☞ Few people improve to better advantage their opportunities for "making a garden," than the family of Mr. A. F. Nowell, on Pleasant street. Their windows, fences, house, and every available spot, are always redolent of floral beauty and good taste. That Roxbury wax-work, running to their eaves from the garden of Mr. Johnson, is a rare and beautiful vine.

The premises of Mr. Kinnear, on Water street, near the Old South Church, are also always pleasant and inviting to look upon. The neat little cottage is surrounded by the most prolific pear trees, and other fruits, shrubs and flowers; and grape-vines are trained most artistically up the eaves to the very peak of the roof. And notwithstanding his very low and open fences, no fruit thief ever enters there. Mark that, ye advocates of State Prison or Pound walls for city garden fences.

☞ A proposition has been introduced in the rebel House of Representatives for a proclamation to the inhabitants of the Northwestern States, offering to guarantee the free navigation of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers to their mouths, if they will desist from the further prosecution of the war.

☞ The body of Col. Fletcher Webster was at Fairfax, Va., on Tuesday. It is to be brought to Boston.

☞ The rebel Congress has passed a vote of thanks to Gen. Morgan, the guerrilla, for his distinguished services.

AN OLD AND FAVORITE BOSTON HOTEL IN A NEW PLACE.—Everybody knows how popular the Marlboro' was as a family hotel, under the management of Mr. J. A. PARKS. He has left it, and taken "Milliken's," in Norfolk Avenue, and nearly $10,000 has been expended in finishing, furnishing and altering the new place, which is to be called the Parks House. There is not a more convenient or commodious house in Boston. A new ladies' entrance has been made from the Province House Court, leading directly to the ladies' parlor, which is magnificently furnished. The whole house is similarly complete, and the charges are fixed at $1.50 per day. The living is superb. Merchants can dine daily from 12 1 2 to 3 o'clock, at the low charge of 38 cents. Call and look at the new Parks House, Norfolk Avenue, 187 Washington st. 1t

Steel Spring Saddle Horse,

[From the Home Journal.]

"Of all the child furniture we have ever seen, no article combines so much of those two important things—health and happiness—as the Adjustable Patent Steel Spring Saddle Horse, invented by Jesse A. Crandall. It is not dangerous, like a common rocking horse, to children's feet, cannot be upset, does not wear carpets, but stands firm on its base, and its action is so like the gallop of a live horse that the child never wearies of it. This latest of child-novelties is exceedingly elegant and artistic in design; and so substantial and durable that it will last a lifetime. It is indispensable in every family where there are children. It should be in every primary school and gymnasium in the country, as it can be made strong enough to sustain grown persons. As a pedestal for photographic pictures, nothing is more beautiful. For every Orphan Asylum and Institution where children are congregated, should be furnished with a number of these beautiful articles. They are fitted with side-saddles when required."

EYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "Thereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. Swayne's PANACEA and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

About seventeen years ago I discovered a bunch growing in my breast, attended with severe piercing pain, and when about as large as a hen's egg it broke out, and proved to be a Cancer of the most dangerous character. And from the abundant evidence I had of the good effect of Mr. Swett's Panacea in many such cases, I was encouraged to depend upon it for a cure in this case, and by keeping my stomach pure by emetics, which he prepared, and taking twelve bottles of Panacea, my Cancer was fully cured in about two months, and I have had no trouble from it since. CAROLINE B. SWETT.

This statement of my wife is correct.
STEPHEN SWETT.

Portsmouth, N. H., April 18, 1861.

I have been greatly afflicted with a Humor called by the doctors Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, causing many sores on my side. And seven bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea I believe have effected a radical cure, as I have had no sign of the complaint since. I believe this medicine to be the most sure remedy in the world for Humors.
HANNAH HOWE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dizziness at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LEWD.

Exeter, Feb. 24, 1858. Dr. Swett:—"Sir, for the benefit of those who are afflicted as I have been, with a humor, which prevented quiet rest night and day, I would say, that your PANACEA has effected a radical cure on me; and would add—that by the use of it, my health has been greatly improved; therefore, I cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other medicine I ever used for humors and consumptive complaints."
WM. P. LAVITT.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

Dear Sweet: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I recommend your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26o

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 8 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston on all diseases at a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr. D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charge for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotins, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

April 7—1y 3taw.

CAUTION

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 Endicott street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1825, having confined his whole attention to an office for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the best in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.
